11 'A Brilliant Fool Like Me', 12 All the Honours of Paris, 13 Elegy for the Dead, 14 'My Exhilarated Despair',

He disliked MacArthur for his vanity, his penchant for theatrics, and for what Eisenhower perceived as "irrational" behavior. He willingly admitted though that MacArthur was smart, decisive, and a brilliant military mind. Working under him was frustrating, but also an invaluable learning experience. Ann Whitman Diary, Dec. Portrait of the Hero, Peter Lyon, pg. Kennedy, Democratic Senator from Massachusetts , U. President Eisenhower considered John Kennedy too young and inexperienced to be a serious presidential candidate He referred to Kennedy as "the boy" and "young whippersnapper. When Kennedy won the election, Eisenhower considered it his own greatest defeat. Eisenhower the President, William Ewald, pg. He resented that Eisenhower was his superior, openly expressing disdain and privately belittling his generalship. Eisenhower displayed heroic patience in his dealings with Monty, but still came close to sacking him. Montgomery even admitted that Eisenhower was the only one who had the personality to get all the Allies to cooperate and win the war. I can not forget his readiness to belittle associates in those critical moments when the cooperation of all of us was needed. President Eisenhower and Truman got along fine until Eisenhower began his campaign for the presidency in as a Republican. By then, Eisenhower had begun to regard Truman as an inept, undignified leader who had surrounded himself with crooks and cronies. He was incensed that Eisenhower would undermine his efforts to end the Korean War by promising to go there himself. I wonder if I can stand sitting next to him. He considered the senator to be a hate-filled, power-hungry thug who would go to any lengths for publicity. He was particularly exasperated when McCarthy began to investigate the Army for communists and subpoenaed White House personnel. This guy McCarthy is going to get into trouble over this. He wants to be President. James Hagerty Diary Feb. Johnson, Democratic Senator from Texas , U. President Eisenhower considered Lyndon Johnson to be phony, unreliable, and opportunistic. When President Johnson announced he would not run again in , Eisenhower was livid. In turn, Johnson, harbored great respect for Eisenhower and sought his advice throughout his own presidency. Any floor leader of a senate majority party looks good, no matter how incompetent he may be. Johnson is superficial and opportunistic. William Robinson Diary, July ,
