Pickers combing the gold-and-green fields, warm weather with a hint of chill, the scent of both ripe and fermenting grapes the air. Harvest features fall-focused fairs, food, music, and activities to suit all tastes, budgets, and even ages wineries increasingly feature kid-friendly activities. Plus wine regions often occupy historic areas, with burgeoning arts scenes and activities aplenty for adrenaline junkies from hot-air ballooning to dirt biking. Yet the best time to visit, mid-September to late October, is also the busiest for winemakers; Napa and Sonoma are swarmed with visitors on fall weekends. Fortunately, all 50 states now produce wine pineapple sparkler from Hawaii? Remember that some wineries offer tastings or tours by appointment only. Mendocino For many, Mendocino County conjures images of rugged coast and vaulting redwoods, not neatly trellised vines. But nearly wineries craft an astonishing range of wines over 10 appellations. With a predominantly cooler climate yet higher sun-drenched elevations, grapes receive more hang time, intensifying flavor. While the "noble" varietals, especially Chardonnay and Pinot Noir thrive, adventuresome vintners experiment with everything from Riesling to Roussanne, Syrah to Sangiovese. The year-old MacCallum House mixes old-fashioned romance with modern luxe. Many rooms in the renovated barn, main house, and water tower boast stunning Pacific views. Executive Chef Alan Kantor forages for fresh local ingredients, crafting everything in the acclaimed restaurant from scratch. The unit hotel is set amid acres of greenery teeming with wildlife; most rooms feature fireplaces and ocean vistas. Indigo Eco-Spa uses locally formulated organic products, while the chef sources fresh, biodynamic ingredients for his Mediterranean cuisine. Table , the restaurant at the Shaker-inspired Boonville Hotel, elevates comfort food to an art form with seasonal local ingredients. Cafe Beaujolais serves Asian-accented French fare, from Dungeness crabcakes with scallion vinaigrette to Niman Ranch beef tartar, in a lemon-hued Victorian cottage surrounded by a garden with heirloom and exotic plants. February-June the crew takes whale-watching breaks while racking the wines, and owner Sally Ottoson claims her wines are naturally clarified without filtering by waves crashing into the sea caves under the cellar, gently rocking the barrels; salt deposits accelerate osmosis, further intensifying the juice. Walla Walla, Washington Think Washington and what comes to mind? Microbrews, Boeing, and Microsoft. Since a new winery has opened nearly every two weeks, despite the fact that conditions here are downright hostile for growing produce let alone premium grapes. Commissioned public art is everywhere and weekend events, from hot air balloon stampedes to harvest fests prove equally colorful. Abeja Inn sits seductively in the Blue Mountains foothills. The original outbuildings on the acre, century-old farmstead were restored and converted into the winery, barrel room, tasting room, and spacious accommodations with fully equipped kitchens, eclectic furnishings and antiques, and thoughtful touches like binoculars for wildlife watching. Visit the winery, a Cabernet Sauvignon specialist, by appointment. Public spaces retain original chandeliers, sconces, and crown moldings, but the handsome rooms eschew historical accoutrements for the amenities and ambiance of a contemporary luxury business hotel high-speed Internet to handcrafted Italian furnishings. The constantly changing menu, however, is strictly contemporary and is complemented by an extensive list of Washington wines. The Reserve House serves small plates, while the winery also runs the adjacent Lazy S Arrow Market with fabulous produce and gourmet goodies. The tasting room and sky-lit barrel room have brick walls and whitewashed beams, with a picture window looking into the Whitehouse-Crawford restaurant. Fall Creek planted the first vines other than 17th-century Spanish missionaries in ; there are already 32 wineries. Depending on the report, the Hill Country is the second- or third-most-visited wine region after Napa and Sonoma, thanks to its proximity to Austin and San Antonio, not to mention ruggedly lovely landscape stippled with oaks and mesquite and filigreed with streams. Epitomizing rustic chic east of Fredericksburg, Settlers Crossing comprises seven historic, restored houses and log cabins chock-a-block with country antiques. The Salt Lick lures barbecue aficionados for miles around, with lines forming whenever the Texas Longhorns play, serving heaping helpings of tender smoked brisket, tangy baby back ribs, and sausages that threaten to convert any nearby vegetarians. Richard and Bunny Becker of Becker Vineyards in Stonewall epitomize hands-on winemaking, even constructing much of the limestone barn winery while planting lavender fields and over 50 acres of Petit Verdot to Viognier. Duchman Family Winery occupies a Tuscan-style building, appropriate since it specializes in Italian grapes like Sangiovese and Pinot Grigio. From the Bambis mounted on the pine walls to the Leland River backdrop, The Cove offers an authentic Michigan northwoods experience; try the signature Chubby Mary, a bloody Mary with a smoked chub fish "standing proud. Shady Lane Cellars, set in a fieldstone century-old chicken coop, and Chateau Fontaine are among the other top wineries. Mawby made a name with Riesling, then Cabernet Franc, before focusing on sparkling wines. Lawrence is terrific value for newbies. But the savviest real estate investment may be vineyards, with high-profile honchos like Robert Entenmann and Leslie Alexander Houston Rockets owner buying or building wineries. While the South Fork where the Hamptons lie holds four wineries, the charming and less glitzy North Fork has The East End sits at the same latitude as Bordeaux, whose varietals thrive in similar soils and maritime climatic conditions; Peconic Bay slices the land as the Gironde cleaves Bordeaux. No surprise Long Island wines achieve their ultimate expression through the red Bordeaux varietals, especially Merlot and Cabernet Franc. At the Frisky Oyster, chef-owner Robert Beaver deftly juxtaposes textures and tastes with plates like braised beef short ribs with pomegranate, corn pudding, and summer asparagus, or oysters "Friskafella" with garlic-scented spinach, chipotle, and parmigiano aioli. Pastas like sweet corn agnolotti with leek-tarragon-heirloom tomato-Pecorino pan sauce are to die; wife Jennifer selects savvy pairings. Italianate Raphael impresses with thick wood beams, stone columns, zigzagging staircases, and medieval tapestries. Today, Virginia features more than wineries from six in ; Donald Trump and, reportedly Steve Case have invested. More than 25 leading wineries cluster in the Monticello American Viticultural Area AVA around historic Charlottesville, amid 18th-century plantations, thoroughbred farms, and the Blue Ridge foothills. The sophisticated mix of modern gadgetry and antiques, spa, Arnold Palmer Signature golf course, and superlative restaurants make leaving even for wine-touring a chore. Its 17 individually decorated rooms and suites swaddle guests in luxury with Molton Brown toiletries and Mascioni linens. Appropriately, the property boasts family ties to Jefferson: His daughter and son-in-law established their original home, Edgehill, on the grounds. Look for and Prince Michel and Veritas, both also offer lovely accommodations. Goldeneye Confluence Vineyard; Shenandoah Valley: Courtesy of Walla Walla Wine Categories.
