Those which are listed by us as speculative fiction are in bold. Each of these books are indicated by a "CL" catalog number. The publication series Airmont Classics includes only these titles. A few have not yet been entered into the ISFDB, because this editor is unconvinced that they are speculative fiction, even though we have some editions of such books entered specifically: I am still entering the books after We have been unable to find any copies of them via WorldCat, Google, Abebooks, bookfinder. It is not uncommon for a series, near the end of its life, to have various editions planned, and numbers assigned, but to have only some of them come to completion. Airmont also published a Science Fiction series. These consisted of paperback editions of hard cover SF books published by Avalon press which owned Airmont. The known titles in this series are: Other series by Airmont, without speculative content, include: A "teen romance" series, indicated by "C", e. As such, these books are sometimes confused with the Airmont Classics. A regular romance series, with known titles from R1 to R A mystery series, with titles known from M1 to M6. A western series, with titles known from W1 through W
