

Chapter 1 : Armed Forces Devotional Book by Concordia Publishing House

This devotional resource was developed at the request of military chaplains for active-duty military personnel as a source for strength, comfort, and inspiration.

What should I study? Who will help me? See you on the trail! The Personal Reflection Guide contains simple questions for every day of the journey that helps you move from simply reading the passage to critically considering how its truths apply to you. Faith Deployed Daily encouragement for military wives Author: Jocelyn Green with contributing authors from every branch of the U. E-mail Gene Eble at Gene. Again More daily encouragement for military wives Author: Jocelyn Green over 25 contributing authors from every branch of the U. Daily Encouragement for Military Wives. As husbands are being deployed multiple times, the women left behind desperately need encouragement and strength to maintain the home-front. Often lonely, frequently overwhelmed by the needs around her, and continually stressed by a unique lifestyle, she needs to be equipped as to how to respond biblically to the daily struggles that threaten to wear her down. Each devotional is based on the unchanging character of God and the anchor we have in Jesus Christ offering encouragement, strength, community, and hope to the heroes at home. And a free online study guide is available at FaithDeployed. Service members pledge to serve and even die so we can live our lives in freedom. Heather Gray, Copyright Just as Heather Gray and her deployed husband realized, many military couples need more than their own imaginations to keep their marriages flourishing during deployments. This is their answer to that dilemma. They envisioned a combination of scripture memorization, stories of hope and struggles, a revitalization of the lost art of letter writing, and practical ideas for keeping connected during deployment. Sadly, three months after beginning the project, David was killed in action. She knew then the value of the devotional they had been writing for military couples. But in the months that followed, she realized that we actually learn and grow the most through our pain and trials. She finished the devotional with the hope it would be as much a blessing for other military couples as it was for her and David. Chris Plekenpol, Copyright You want the flare of your faith to burn as intensely as a fire on the battlefield. These devotions are written by a man who had considered war something that someone else always did, and was then himself deployed to Iraq as a company commander. Because in war, as in contemporary America , reality involves struggle, trial, and triumph. War screams the same questions whispered in everyday life. The battlefield explodes with the same tenacity of emotions that wretch our souls. Smoke fills the air just as doubt clouds our minds. Are you on the frontlines of war overseas? Or perhaps your battle is personal, deep within. These devotions, penned by Captain Chris Plekenpol while on the battlefield in Iraq, expose the depths of inexplicable suffering as well as the heights of incredible victory in God. Stories of triumph and tragedy in the midst of battle. Finding Hope Beyond the Battle A Bible for military families Copyright This new NIV Bible, developed specifically for military families, points to our greater hope beyond all personal and political battles. For My Soldier Teaching your children to pray through separations Author: Separations from military family members can cause children stress that comes out in sleeplessness, behavioral problems, and depression. God has given us his word to guide us through these times and ease these issues. The word of the Lord has so much to offer on safety, protection, loneliness, and peace. Teaching a child to turn to the Lord and pray through hard times is the best gift we can give them as parents. I pray that you and your children will be blessed by this book! Enjoy the daily activities as they help keep your child and soldier united during separations. Sara Horn, Copyright As a military wife, caring for your home and family is a mission that never stops. You want to support your husband while he serves, but you often wonder if you have what it takes. Currently, more than one million military wives care for their families and their homes, often while their husbands are deployed out of state or overseas for months at a time. These women can experience a roller coaster of emotions including disappointment, loneliness, and fear. Sara Horn, the wife of a navy reservist, understands the challenges these women face. She knows how to talk about faith and spiritual truths through the filter of military life. In her encouraging book, Horn shares her personal stories, as well as wisdom and anecdotes of other wives from all branches of service. She reminds readers that: The good news is: God will go with you. He created the place after all—wherever it is! Women who move frequently can begin to lose hold of the roots and long-term relationships that help bring stability and support to both spiritual and family life. These women must discover unique ways to hold firm to their faith and identity in the midst of constant change. Brenda Pace for military wives. Journey online through Bible stories that shed timeless and practical truth on issues you will encounter in a life of military service. Deployment, separation, reintegration, relocation, or many other situations, these studies will point you to the Lord for direction, help, and encouragement. Written by a career military chaplain with Special Forces experience, it guides the reader to connect Biblical truth with the challenges of the military experience. The included User Guide walks the reader through the basics of inductive Bible Study Observation, Interpretation, Application, Implementation, allowing them to start at their current skill level and work to develop skill while diving into the meat of the Word of God. The first month covers Psalms The second month covers Psalms, including the well-known Psalm While the content is a change of pace from the original month Military Devotional, this study uses the same inductive Bible study format. This special New Testament with Psalms and Proverbs is designed to address your unique needs, hopes, fears, struggles, and insecurities. And since no one can speak to you as you journey through this unique situation like someone who has gone through it, this New Testament with Psalms and Proverbs includes 90 special devotions written by military wives and edited by Jocelyn Green, a former military wife who actively ministers to women in your situation. Hope, anger, fear, loneliness, marriage, sorrow, suffering, weariness. Also includes book overviews, and "The Big Picture of the Bible. Scripture promises and prayers are categorized by topic, some of which include: Peggy Joyce Ruth, Copyright You will be taken through Psalm 91 verse-by-verse, unfolding the promises of protection from God. While there are other promises of protection found throughout the Bible, Psalm 91 is the only place in the Word where all of them are brought together in one collection. Testimonies include those who survived a Nazi prison camp and have endured the turbulent times while fighting recently in Iraq, as well as a story from legendary author Corrie Ten Boom. We will remember that the Lord has not made us to fear but to have power, love, and a sound mind.
