While the interior looks a lot like a 3 Series, BMW made some big changes. First off, the entire interior is larger than an old 3 Series coupe. The front passengers are treated to plenty of room to accommodate adults well over average height, plus the front seats feature enough padding and excellent support to make them comfortable to sit in for several hours at a time. Where the extra interior space really shows up is in the backseat area. The big drawback is that BMW did not include many cubbies, pockets or bins for stashing items.
