Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow: But if God so clothes the grass of the field, which today is alive and tomorrow is thrown into the oven, will he not much more clothe you, O you of little faith? How long will you love vain words and seek after lies? To this we are witnesses. So also, when you see all these things, you know that he is near, at the very gates. The glory of Lebanon shall be given to it, the majesty of Carmel and Sharon. They shall see the glory of the Lord, the majesty of our God. Strengthen the weak hands, and make firm the feeble knees. Behold, your God will come with vengeance, with the recompense of God. He will come and save you. To know wisdom and instruction, to understand words of insight, to receive instruction in wise dealing, in righteousness, justice, and equity; to give prudence to the simple, knowledge and discretion to the youth— Let the wise hear and increase in learning, and the one who understands obtain guidance, You shall not cut yourselves or make any baldness on your foreheads for the dead. For you are a people holy to the Lord your God, and the Lord has chosen you to be a people for his treasured possession, out of all the peoples who are on the face of the earth. These are the animals you may eat: For God knows that when you eat of it your eyes will be opened, and you will be like God, knowing good and evil. Or do you not know that the saints will judge the world? And if the world is to be judged by you, are you incompetent to try trivial cases? Do you not know that we are to judge angels? How much more, then, matters pertaining to this life! So if you have such cases, why do you lay them before those who have no standing in the church? I say this to your shame. Can it be that there is no one among you wise enough to settle a dispute between the brothers, That which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. In both of them I am stirring up your sincere mind by way of reminder, that you should remember the predictions of the holy prophets and the commandment of the Lord and Savior through your apostles, knowing this first of all, that scoffers will come in the last days with scoffing, following their own sinful desires. For ever since the fathers fell asleep, all things are continuing as they were from the beginning of creation. For they all contributed out of their abundance, but she out of her poverty put in all she had to live on. Five of them were foolish, and five were wise. For when the foolish took their lamps, they took no oil with them, but the wise took flasks of oil with their lamps. As the bridegroom was delayed, they all became drowsy and slept. But for the sake of the elect those days will be cut short. And God saw that it was good. And no wonder, for even Satan disguises himself as an angel of light. So it is no surprise if his servants, also, disguise themselves as servants of righteousness. Their end will correspond to their deeds. For there is no authority except from God, and those that exist have been instituted by God. Therefore whoever resists the authorities resists what God has appointed, and those who resist will incur judgment. For rulers are not a terror to good conduct, but to bad. Would you have no fear of the one who is in authority? But if you do wrong, be afraid, for he does not bear the sword in vain. Suggest a Verse Enter a Verse Reference e. Basement family fallout shelter , circa The increased inflation rate in the s, the US monetary devaluation , the continued concern over a possible nuclear exchange between the US and the Soviet Union, and perceived increasing vulnerability of urban centers to supply shortages and other systems failures caused a number of primarily conservative and libertarian thinkers to promote individual preparations. Harry Browne began offering seminars on how to survive a monetary collapse in , with Don Stephens an architect providing input on how to build and equip a remote survival retreat. It was during this period that Robert D. For several years the newsletter included a continuing section on personal preparedness written by Stephens. It promoted expensive seminars around the US on similar cautionary topics. Stephens participated, along with James McKeever and other defensive investing, " hard money " advocates. Most of the elements of survivalism can be found there, including advice on food storage. The book championed the claim that precious metals, such as gold and silver , have an intrinsic worth that makes them more usable in the event of a socioeconomic collapse than fiat currency. Ruff later published milder variations of the same themes, such as How to Prosper During the Coming Bad Years, a best-seller in Firearms instructor and survivalist Colonel Jeff Cooper wrote on hardening retreats against small arms fire. In both his book Rawles on Retreats and Relocation and in his survivalist novel, Patriots: Rawles is a proponent of including a mantrap foyer at survival retreats, an architectural element that he calls a "crushroom". Clayton and Joel Skousen have both written extensively on integrating fallout shelters into retreat homes, but they put less emphasis on ballistic protection and exterior perimeter security than Cooper and Rawles. Kurt Saxon used the term survivalist to describe the movement, and he claims to have coined the term. For a time in the s, the terms survivalist and retreatter were used interchangeably. While the term retreatter eventually fell into disuse, many who subscribed to it saw retreating as the more rational approach to conflict-avoidance and remote "invisibility". Survivalism, on the other hand, tended to take on a more media-sensationalized, combative, "shoot-it-out-with-the-looters" image. Clayton , Nancy Mack Tappan , J. Cobb author of Bad Times Primer. The majority of the newsletter revolved around selecting, constructing, and logistically equipping survival retreats. In the early s, science fiction writer Jerry Pournelle was an editor and columnist for Survive, a survivalist magazine, and was influential in the survivalist movement. The interest peaked again in triggered by fears of the Y2K computer bug. North and others raised the alarm because they thought Y2K code fixes were not being made quickly enough. While a range of authors responded to this wave of concern, two of the most survival-focused texts to emerge were Boston on Y2K by Kenneth W. A town near the coast of Sumatra lies in ruin after the Indian Ocean earthquake and tsunami. Another wave of survivalism began after the September 11, attacks and subsequent bombings in Bali , Madrid , and London. This resurgence of interest in survivalism appears to be as strong as the s era focus on the topic. The fear of war, avian influenza , energy shortages, environmental disasters and global climate change , coupled with economic uncertainty, and the apparent vulnerability of humanity after the Indian Ocean earthquake and tsunami and Hurricane Katrina , has increased interest in survivalism topics. In addition to the s-era books, blogs and Internet forums are popular ways of disseminating survivalism information. Online survival websites and blogs discuss survival vehicles, survival retreats, emerging threats, and list survivalist groups. Economic troubles emerging from the credit collapse triggered by the US subprime mortgage lending crisis and global grain shortages [21] [22] [23] [20] have prompted a wider cross-section of the populace to prepare. He explained this phenomenon in a radio interview with Jim Puplava on December 18, This is a very different one from that: So survivalism in every way possible. Growing your own, self-sustaining, doing as much as you can to make it as best as you can on your own and it can happen in urban area, sub-urban area or the ex-urbans. This last aspect is highlighted in The Trends Research Journal: The specific problem is: Some blurbs are written as prose, others as definitions. I think we need to decide what it should to be: Please help improve this section if you can. January Survivalism is approached by its adherents in different ways, depending on their circumstances, mindsets, and particular concerns for the future.

Safety-preparedness-oriented While survivalists accept the long-term viability of Western civilization, they learn principles and techniques needed for surviving life-threatening situations that can occur at any time and place. They prepare for such calamities that could result in physical harm or requiring immediate attention or defense from threats. These disasters could be biotic or abiotic. Survivalists combat disasters by attempting to prevent and mitigate damage caused by these factors. This group stresses being able to stay alive for indefinite periods in life-threatening wilderness scenarios, including plane crashes, shipwrecks, and being lost in the woods. The rule states that a human can survive: These survivalist tactics are often firearm-oriented, in order to ensure a method of defense against attackers or home invasion.

Natural disaster, brief This group consists of people who live in tornado, hurricane, flood, wildfire, earthquake or heavy snowfall-prone areas and want to be prepared for possible emergencies. While assuming the long-term continuity of society, some may have invested in a custom-built shelter, food, water, medicine, and enough supplies to get by until contact with the rest of the world resumes following a natural emergency.

Bio-chem scenario This group is concerned with the spread of fatal diseases, biological agents, and nerve gases, including swine flu , E. Malthusian Some marketers of survivalism literature and supplies argue that an increase in human population affects available fresh water, food, health-care, environment, economics, consumerism, and spread of diseases. These marketers seek to prompt sales of items that would respond to a Malthusian population crash. Newsletters suggest hard assets of gold and silver bullion, coins, and other precious-metal-oriented investments such as mining shares. Survivalists prepare for paper money to become worthless through hyperinflation. As of late this is a popular scenario.

Biblical eschatologist These individuals study End Times prophecy and believe that one of various scenarios might occur in their lifetime. While some Christians and even people of other religions believe that the Rapture will follow a period of Tribulation , others believe that the Rapture is imminent and will precede the Tribulation "Pre-Trib Rapture [41] ". There is a wide range of beliefs and attitudes in this group. They are concerned with vehicle accidents and emergencies involving injuries. Their focus is on helping family, friends, and community survive medical emergencies.

Legal-continuity-oriented This group has a primary concern with maintaining some form of legal system and social cohesion after a breakdown in the technical infrastructure of society. The Customary Law of the American Nation. Common preparations include the creation of a clandestine or defensible retreat, haven, or bug out location BOL in addition to the stockpiling of non-perishable food, water, water-purification equipment, clothing, seed, firewood, defensive or hunting weapons, ammunition, agricultural equipment , and medical supplies. Some survivalists do not make such extensive preparations, and simply incorporate a " Be Prepared " outlook into their everyday life. A bag of gear, often referred to as a " bug out bag " BOB or "get out of dodge" G. It can be of any size, weighing as much as the user is able to carry. During the s, fears were economic collapse, hyperinflation, and famine. Preparations included food storage and survival retreats in the country which could be farmed. Some survivalists stockpiled precious metals and barterable goods such as common-caliber ammunition because they assumed that paper currency would become worthless. During the early s, nuclear war became a common fear, and some survivalists constructed fallout shelters. Instead of moving or making such preparations at home, many people also make plans to remain in their current locations until an actual breakdown occurs, when they willâ€™in survivalist parlanceâ€™"bug out" or "get out of Dodge" to a safer location. Some evangelical Christians hold to an interpretation of Bible prophecy known as the post-tribulation rapture , in which the world will have to go through a seven-year period of war and global dictatorship known as the " Great Tribulation ". Similarly, some Catholics are preppers, based on Marian apparitions which speak of a great chastisement of humanity by God, particularly those associated with Our Lady of Fatima and Our Lady of Akita which states "fire will fall from the sky and will wipe out a great part of humanity".

Mainstream emergency preparations[edit] People who are not part of survivalist groups or apolitically oriented religious groups also make preparations for emergencies. This can include depending on the location preparing for earthquakes, floods , power outages , blizzards, avalanches , wildfires , terrorist attacks, nuclear power plant accidents, hazardous material spills, tornadoes, and hurricanes. These preparations can be as simple as following Red Cross and U. Federal Emergency Management Agency FEMA recommendations by keeping a first aid kit, shovel, and extra clothes in the car, or by maintaining a small kit of emergency supplies, containing emergency food, water, a space blanket, and other essentials. Mainstream economist and financial adviser Barton Biggs is a proponent of preparedness. In his book Wealth, War and Wisdom, Biggs has a gloomy outlook for the economic future, and suggests that investors take survivalist measures. In the book, Biggs recommends that his readers should "assume the possibility of a breakdown of the civilized infrastructure. Think Swiss Family Robinson. Even in America and Europe, there could be moments of riot and rebellion when law and order temporarily completely breaks down. In such situations, alternative food is necessary, which is converting natural gas and wood fiber to human edible food.
