Colorado Peace Officer's Handbook This newest edition of the Colorado Peace Officer's Handbook and companion eBook has been completely updated to include legislative changes during the previous year that are relevant to the Colorado law enforcement community.

The collective knowledge and wisdom of these members ensures the decisions made by the Council are well considered and in the best interests of law enforcement in general. The Council is responsible for developing and evaluating the curriculum of mandatory basic training courses for municipal officers, deputy sheriffs, state police, wildlife agents and all other persons commissioned as peace officers, defined by state law. Additionally, POST prescribes firearms training standards for individuals who hold law enforcement positions at the state, parish and municipal levels of government. To develop minimum curriculum requirements for the training of peace officers. To accredit law enforcement training centers. To establish minimum law enforcement instructor qualifications and certify individuals to act as law enforcement instructors. To provide a consulting service for law enforcement education and training centers. To adopt, amend or repeal rules and regulations to interpret and implement the provisions of the Act, including, not exclusively, the powers herein enumerated. To withhold or withdraw accreditation from law enforcement training centers and instructors upon a finding that the center, institution or instructors thereby have failed or are failing to maintain minimum standards set forth in the Law or promulgated by rules or regulations of the Council. To establish and implement curricula for such advanced, in-service and specialized training courses as the Council shall deem advisable and to recognize the completion of such courses by the issuance of certificates. Reserve or part-time officers hired prior to January 1, are "grandfathered" and exempt from the requirement of this section. All reserves and part timers hired on or after January 1, , must be certified. Military police officers stationed in Louisiana are eligible for certification if they successfully complete a basic training course prescribed for peace officers and pass the POST statewide examination. Level 1 certification requires that the student meet the POST requirements for firearm certification. Level 2 - Certification for Basic Correctional Peace Officer The student will complete a training course with a minimum of hours and is limited to those peace officers whose duties are the care, custody, and control of inmates. Level 3 - Certification for Jailer Training Officers The student will complete a training course with a minimum of 92 hours and is limited to those correctional officers whose duties are the care, custody, and control of inmates. Students must adhere to all standards, rules and regulations established by the accredited training center. Certification is not awarded to students who are physically unable to complete every aspect of the basic training course. A student may not be certified for successful completion if: Students must adhere to all standards, rules and regulations formally established by the academy attended. It should be further noted that credit for basic training certification is not be awarded to individuals who are physically unable to complete every aspect of the training program i. It shall be left to the discretion of the academy director whether a person who fails to qualify on the POST Qualification Course of Fire will be given another chance. However, if a second chance is afforded, scores must be averaged in accordance with established POST standards for the basic firearms course. The averaged score must be equal to or greater than the minimum passing score. In the event a student fails the examination, one retest may be administered, if the agency head so desires. If said student fails the retest, the student shall be required to complete another academy and satisfy all POST requirements to obtain certification and continue employment as a peace officer. If the period between qualifying exceeds 13 months for any reason, the officer is required to complete a 8 hour pre academy firearms course conducted by a POST certified Firearms Instructor. Those officers who fall into this category and have not attended certified training may be granted a "registration" certificate in lieu of certification. These officers may be POST registered by completing the following requirements: A letter from the agency head shall be submitted to the POST Council indicating a desire to have the officer registered with the State. Out-of-state transfers may be eligible for certification by meeting the following requirements at an accredited academy: Present a valid out-of-state POST certificate of training. Qualify on the POST firearms qualification course, as attested to by a certified firearms instructor. If there has been an interruption of service in excess of five years, the officer is required to attend the full basic academy. Any officer hired that has obtained POST Basic or Basic Corrections Certification, who interrupts his full-time law enforcement service for a period of less than five years, shall be required to attend the Pre-Academy Firearms Training Course and successfully qualify with their firearm. Extended medical leave does not constitute an interruption of full-time employment "break in service".

Instructor Qualifications Full-time Academy Instructors: Instructors assigned full-time to a certified academy must meet the following qualifications: Any combination of above will be acceptable. Shall have completed two years of practical experience in law enforcement or corrections field. Specialized instructors for defensive tactics, firearms, and corrections shall meet the following qualifications: Shall be a full-time employee of a public criminal justice agency with at least two years full-time continuous practical law enforcement experience, and meet POST requirements pertaining to firearms, defensive tactics, and corrections instructors. Shall have recommendation of an academy director or agency head.

Pre-Academy and Basic Firearms Qualification: During a pre-academy training program, a student who fails may be given retests. Any person who fails shall be prohibited from exercising the authority of a peace officer until they have successfully completed the course. However, such persons shall not be prohibited from performing administrative duties. During a basic law enforcement training course, it shall be left to the discretion of the training center director whether a student who fails to qualify on the POST Qualification Course will be given retests. However, if retests are given, the scores will be averaged in accordance with POST rules and must be completed before the academy class graduates. On a yard range, equipped with POST approved P-1 targets, the student, given a pistol or revolver, holster and rounds of ammunition, will fire the POST firearms qualification course at least four times. Scores must be averaged and the student must: The requirements for annual requalification are the same as for basic qualification, with one exception. If the qualification course must be fired more than once, the scores shall be averaged as designated in basic firearms qualification. There is no need to fire additional courses if the officer qualifies the first time. All law enforcement agencies and correctional agencies and institutions within the State of Louisiana shall immediately report the conviction of any POST certified full-time, reserve, or part-time peace officer to the council. The council shall review each criminal conviction and conduct hearings on each reported conviction. Any peace officer whose certification has been revoked by the Council may file an appeal under the provisions of the Administrative Procedures Act under R.
