When he died in 2005, the Catholic Church waived the 5-year waiting period for the road to canonization to start. He was proclaimed Venerable in 2009 and Beatified in 2011. So far, he is my favorite pope. He came to the Philippines twice: I did not have the chance. My first Lenten read this year. I did not have the chance to see him in person but intently watched him on television and followed his schedules during those visits. In 1981, I was 30 years old and my wife and I could still be qualified as "youth" because by definition, youth are all those 40 and below. However, my wife was about to give birth due that month but I remember that we heeded the call of the church to let the Christmas lights on for the Pope to see the beauty of the country still full of lights. Here is the Pope watching our native dance, the Tinikling: If I just knew how to dance the tinikling, I would have volunteered to perform. But then that time, who would have thought that the Pope would become a saint? This book Crossing the Threshold of Hope was compiled and edited by a Vittorio Messori who is a journalist wanting to interview the Pope in 1981. But the Pope was busy and so he just sent his questions and the Pope answered in writing. The book was published originally in Italian by Messori in 1984 and translated and published by Alfred A. Knopf in two years before the millennium. It was a timely book because people were apprehensive millennium bug, end of the world, etc at that time so the people slogan of "Be Not Afraid! My favorites are these: What can man do to me? There is nothing concealed that will not be disclosed, or hidden that will not be made known. Rather, be afraid of the One who can destroy both soul and body in hell. I bring you good news of great joy that will be for all the people. I do not give to you as the world gives. Do not let your hearts be troubled and do not be afraid. I tell you, the devil will put some of you in prison to test you, and you will suffer persecution for ten days. Be faithful, even to the point of death, and I will give you the crown of life. I enjoyed tremendously those anecdotes that he mentioned especially when he was still a child or a young man in Poland. His father was the one who introduced him to Christ by giving him a book and this was before they went underground before WWII. He first shied away from venerating Mary because he would like to concentrate on Christ but later he learned that the road to Christ is through Mary being the Mother of God. I also enjoyed his story growing up with Jewish friends and witnessing them practicing their faith in the synagogues. Now the synagogues are gone because the Hitler armies destroyed them but then his friends were thinking of building them up and even if Pope John Paul was not Jewish he helped his friends to build those. I think this was something he carried to his papacy that was why he was open with communicating and talking to other faiths and pushed for ecumenism. There are many other insights and learnings that one can take away from this book. One thing is sure though: I love Pope John Paul more. That should not be surprising though. By 2005, this book had sold several million copies and was published in forty languages, and over one million copies were sold in Italy alone, says Wikipedia. It is fairly short and so a quick read. This book quotes from the Nostra Aetate: The Church has a high regard for their conduct and way of life, for those precepts and doctrines which, although differing on many points from that which the Church believes and propounds, often reflect a ray of that truth which enlightens all men.

If it takes a grip on anyone then they will BURN. Anyone with ANY "common-sense", who has read "Crossing the Threshold of Hope", will already have seen for themselves and know, from its total lack of substance, that the person who wrote it is an "empty vessel"; not a "cup that runneth over" with the "Knowledge of God", and will probably have been very disappointed, dis-illusioned and feel let down, to say the least; if not actually feeling deceived and "ripped-off". A man speaking wisely once said, "It is better to remain silent and be thought a fool, than to open your mouth and remove all doubt prove that you are a fool. We know from experience, of charities, that the poor only receives a minute fraction of the money. You can NOT serve God good and money. They obtain money by deception, from the poor, to buy shares; property; paintings; gold; precious stones and pearls Rev. Which means that a rich man can NEVER go to heaven it is impossible for a camel to go through the eye of a needle. What do the popes do? It is because they serve mammon NOT God. Christ said, "Judge a tree by the fruit that it bears; by its fruit will you KNOW whether the tree be good or evil. Come on Pope of Rome. Thereby ending crime brought about by deprivation and desperation; bringing peace and prosperity to the world, instead of to the few. Christ says, and it is written, "Be not afraid - of those who can kill only your body. Fear only those who can kill both body human and soul Being on the Last-Day, when you are found unworthy. Due to that FACT and also because of what happened to your predecessor who wanted to give everything to the poor; the one who mysteriously lasted only a few days in the job and died; you dare not do it. You even started the book with it. Could it be that you are a hypocrite, perhaps? Open up the vaults and let the people in to see for themselves and to take back their share, and burn all your graven images and idols, before it is too late. There is not much time left. IF you were close to God you would not only not be afraid to die, you would eagerly look forward to meeting Him. If you dare not do it yourself then sign and hand everything over to me so that I can do it, because I most certainly will do it, whether they like it or not. You claim to have. But then you make a lot of wild claims. And everyone knows how cheap talk is. And when Jesus beheld him, he said, Thou art Simon the son of Jona: John says, and it is written, in his letter 1 John 3 v that, "whoever sins does NOT know Christ and to let no man deceive you. That means he is claiming to be God the Father. Christ the Being himself not Jesus the human claims only to be the Son. Certainly NOT for years! John the disciple that loved Jesus more than all the others wrote in 1 John 2 v 27 "But the anointing which you have received from Him abides in you, and you need not that any man teach you. So why would you prefer a substitute? So why do the substitutes baptise with water? Water puts fire out. Why do they go backwards to using water like John the Baptist used, as though Christ had never come? Why do they have "Graven Images" of a Cross and a worthless human body John 6: It is because that is where they want to keep Christ. Outside, on the Cross, and dead, where He can cause them no trouble like all pagan idols , instead of alive and inside, living in their hearts and minds, guiding their steps and lives, 24 hrs. The popes claim to be the closest person to God, when God Himself says, through Christ, that they are the "lowest of the low", and it is written in Matt. They even sell them! That is The Law of God 2 kings Thereby opposing and exalting himself above Christ and above God The Holy Father; proving, out of his own mouth, that the popes are the personage referred to by Paul, in 2 Thessalonians: Know a tree by the fruit it bears. Paul in his letter to the Romans never mentioned Peter, which would have been very strange, and extremely rude, IF Peter were in Rome, because Paul salutes over 25 different members of the community in Rome. If Peter was in Rome why would Paul have felt it necessary to write and instruct the faithful there, if Peter was there and was the leader of the disciples; as the popes falsely claim? Therefore Mary was NOT a "perpetual virgin" because there was nothing super-natural about the births of all her many other children. Nowhere in Scripture does it say that she ascended to heaven; or that she has any authority whatsoever; or that she is the queen of heaven God says in Jeremiah chapter 44 that there is NO queen of heaven and to say such is abomination to Him. The popes have deceived and deluded themselves and then ALL of their followers, for wealth and power for the Vatican

-serving mammon. God told His Prophet Isaiah to tell YOU, "Woe unto them that call evil good and good evil; that put [spiritual] darkness for light, and light for darkness; Simon Peter in the same letter [his second - 2 Peter 3: That is why Paul calls the papacy the son of the Destroyer. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore [it is] no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works [NOT words]. Learn to love it and act upon it, quickly, learn " The Way" and " The New Song" , or you will suffer the dire consequences, exactly as described in Scripture, and that would be a great shame. If you think that on Judgement Day you can blame the priests or ministers, or say that you are sorry, at the last minute, and be forgiven, you are only deceiving yourself Matthew God is not stupid and knows exactly what you are thinking. It will NOT work. You alone are responsible, for your own life; deeds; words and even your thoughts, just like everyone else. We do not make profits in fact we have been running at a loss for years but you will need to buy a copy. You can NOT afford to be without it.

"Crossing the Threshold of Hope" is an engaging interview with Pope John Pope II. Because it is an interview, there are a large variety of topics addressed throughout the entirety of the book. This is the book's greatest strength.

It is distributed by Random House, Inc. By , the book had sold several million copies and was published in forty languages. Over one million copies were sold in Italy alone. The interview was to celebrate fifteen years of his papacy. I am working on them. I will let you have them. The pope had answered every question. John Paul II expressed his confidence in Messori by permitting him to do whatever he saw fit with the contents of the folder. Additional questions were composed and sent. When the follow-up questions returned from the Vatican, Messori found that the pope had again answered every question. Points that the pope underlined in his original manuscript are italicized in the published text. For example, the very first question in Crossing the Threshold of Hope asks whether the pope ever doubts his relationship with God , especially given the importance of his role in the Catholic Church. Messori continues to ask questions throughout the book that people throughout the world have wondered: Messori asks questions about Islam , Buddhism , Judaism , Hinduism , and monotheistic religions in general. Some readers may find Messori frustrating at times, as his writing can be gushing and formal. Is it Still Valid? Although the pope writes to a world-wide audience, he also speaks specifically of the Catholic faith, including references not only to the Sacred Scriptures, but also many saints: In response to receiving several letters from Poland, from individuals and from a publishing house, asking him to comment on it, Thinley Norbu Rinpoche one of the key teachers in the Nyingma lineage of Tibetan Buddhism wrote the book Welcoming Flowers from across the Cleansed Threshold of Hope: The Buddhist prelates announced that they would not attend an inter-religious meeting requested by the Pope unless he formally retracted his unfavorable remarks about Buddhism. Although on arrival the Pope tried to appease the feelings of Buddhist leaders by declaring his esteem for their religion, even quoting the Dhammapada, he fell short of proffering a full apology, and this did not satisfy the Sangha elders. In his book, the Pope uses language that Buddhists here say they found offensive, notably its reference to nirvana as a state of "indifference with regard to the world" and its assertion that the Buddhist doctrine of salvation through nirvana is "almost exclusively negative. from his briefcase a big white envelope. Inside was the text I had been told about, straight from the hands of the Pope himself. He had vigorously underlined many points-which the reader will find.

He upheld the Church's teachings on such matters as artificial contraception and the ordination of women and he was one of the most travelled world leaders in history, visiting countries during his pontificate. By the time of his death, he had named most of the College of Cardinals, consecrated or co-consecrated a large number of the world's bishops, a key goal of his papacy was to transform and reposition the Catholic Church. His wish was to place his Church at the heart of a new alliance that would bring together Jews, Muslims. He was the second longest-serving pope in history after Pope Pius IX. Edmunds work as a physician led to his death from scarlet fever. I remember that at least a third of my classmates at school in Wadowice were Jews 2. With an area of approximately 44 hectares, and a population of , however, formally it is not sovereign, with sovereignty being held by the Holy See, the only entity of public international law that has diplomatic relations with almost every country in the world. It is an ecclesiastical or sacerdotal-monarchical state ruled by the Bishop of Rome – the Pope, the highest state functionaries are all Catholic clergy of various national origins. Vatican City is distinct from the Holy See, which dates back to early Christianity and is the episcopal see of 1. According to the terms of the treaty, the Holy See has full ownership, exclusive dominion, within Vatican City are religious and cultural sites such as St. They feature some of the world's most famous paintings and sculptures, the unique economy of Vatican City is supported financially by the sale of postage stamps and tourist mementos, fees for admission to museums, and the sale of publications. The name Vatican City was first used in the Lateran Treaty, signed on 11 February , the name is taken from Vatican Hill, the geographic location of the state. Vatican is derived from the name of an Etruscan settlement, Vatica or Vaticum meaning garden, located in the area the Romans called vaticanus ager. The name Vatican was already in use in the time of the Roman Republic for an area on the west bank of the Tiber across from the city of Rome. Under the Roman Empire, many villas were constructed there, after Agrippina the Elder drained the area and laid out her gardens in the early 1st century AD. In AD40, her son, Emperor Caligula built in her gardens a circus for charioteers that was completed by Nero, the Circus Gaii et Neronis, usually called, simply. Even before the arrival of Christianity, it is supposed that this originally uninhabited part of Rome had long considered sacred. A shrine dedicated to the Phrygian goddess Cybele and her consort Attis remained active long after the Constantinian Basilica of St. Peter was built nearby, the particularly low quality of Vatican water, even after the reclamation of the area, was commented on by the poet Martial. The Vatican Obelisk was originally taken by Caligula from Heliopolis in Egypt to decorate the spina of his circus and is thus its last visible remnant and this area became the site of martyrdom of many Christians after the Great Fire of Rome in AD Ancient tradition holds that it was in this circus that Saint Peter was crucified upside-down, opposite the circus was a cemetery separated by the Via Cornelia. Peters in the first half of the 4th century, the Constantinian basilica was built in over what was believed to be the tomb of Saint Peter, buried in that cemetery 3. The current pope is Francis, who was elected on 13 March , the office of the pope is the papacy. The pope is considered one of the world's most powerful people because of his diplomatic and he is also head of state of Vatican City, a sovereign city-state entirely enclaved within the Italian capital city of Rome. The papacy is one of the most enduring institutions in the world and has had a prominent part in world history, the popes in ancient times helped in the spread of Christianity and the resolution of various doctrinal disputes. In the Middle Ages, they played a role of importance in Western Europe. Currently, in addition to the expansion of the Christian faith and doctrine, the popes are involved in ecumenism and interfaith dialogue, charitable work, Popes, who originally had no temporal powers, in some periods of history accrued wide powers similar to those of temporal rulers. The earliest record of the use of title was in regard to the by then deceased Patriarch of Alexandria. Some historians have argued that the notion that Peter was the first bishop of Rome, the writings of the Church Father Irenaeus who wrote around AD reflect a belief that Peter founded and organised the Church at Rome. Moreover, Irenaeus was not the first to write of Peter's presence in the early Roman Church, Clement of Rome wrote in a letter to the Corinthians, c. Ignatius of Antioch wrote shortly after Clement and in his letter from the city of Smyrna to the Romans he said he would not command them as Peter and Paul did. Given this and other evidence, many agree that Peter was martyred in Rome under Nero. Protestants contend that the New Testament offers no proof that Jesus established the papacy nor even that he established Peter as the first bishop of Rome, others, using Peter's own words, argue that Christ intended himself as the foundation of the church and not Peter. First-century Christian communities would have had a group of presbyter-bishops functioning as leaders of their local churches, gradually, episcopacies were established in metropolitan areas. Antioch may have developed such a structure before Rome, some writers claim that the emergence of a single bishop in Rome probably did not occur until the middle of the 2nd century. In their view, Linus, Cletus and Clement were possibly prominent presbyter-bishops, documents of the 1st century and early 2nd century indicate that the Holy See had some kind of pre-eminence and prominence in the Church as a whole, though the detail of what this meant is unclear. It seems that at first the terms episcopus and presbyter were used interchangeably, the consensus among scholars has been that, at the turn of the 1st and 2nd centuries, local congregations were led by bishops and presbyters whose offices were overlapping or indistinguishable.

4. Manuscript

” A manuscript is any document written by hand or typewritten, as opposed to being mechanically printed or reproduced in some automated way. More recently, it is understood to be a written, typed, or word-processed copy of a work. Before the arrival of printing, all documents and books were manuscripts, manuscripts are not defined by their contents, which may combine writing with mathematical calculations, maps, explanatory figures or illustrations. Manuscripts may be in form, scrolls or in codex format. Illuminated manuscripts are enriched with pictures, border decorations, elaborately embossed initial letters or full-page illustrations. The second s is not simply the plural, by an old convention, it doubles the last letter of the abbreviation to express the plural, just as pp. Before the invention of printing in China or by moveable type in a printing press in Europe. Historically, manuscripts were produced in form of scrolls or books, manuscripts were produced on vellum and other parchment, on papyrus, and on paper. In Russia birch bark documents as old as from the 11th century have survived, in India, the palm leaf manuscript, with a distinctive long rectangular shape, was used from ancient times until the 19th century. Paper spread from China via the Islamic world to Europe by the 14th century, when Greek or Latin works were published, numerous professional copies were made simultaneously by scribes in a scriptorium, each making a single copy from an original that was declaimed aloud. Manuscripts in Tocharian languages, written on leaves, survived in desert burials in the Tarim Basin of Central Asia. Volcanic ash preserved some of the Roman library of the Villa of the Papyri in Herculaneum, ironically, the manuscripts that were being most carefully preserved in the libraries of antiquity are virtually all lost. Originally, all books were in manuscript form, in China, and later other parts of East Asia, woodblock printing was used for books from about the 7th century. The earliest dated example is the Diamond Sutra of , in the Islamic world and the West, all books were in manuscript until the introduction of movable type printing in about 1450. Manuscript copying of books continued for a least a century, as printing remained expensive, private or government documents remained hand-written until the invention of the typewriter in the late 19th century. In the Philippines, for example, as early as AD, specimen documents were not inscribed by stylus and this type of document was rare compared to the usual leaves and bamboo staves that were inscribed. However, neither the leaves nor paper were as durable as the document in the hot 5. God

” In monotheism, God is conceived of as the Supreme Being and principal object of faith. The concept of God as described by most theologians includes the attributes of omniscience, omnipotence, omnipresence, divine simplicity, many theologians also describe God as being omnibenevolent and all loving. Furthermore, some religions attribute only a purely grammatical gender to God, incorporeity and corporeity of God are related to conceptions of transcendence and immanence of God, with positions of synthesis such as the immanent transcendence of Chinese theology. God has been conceived as personal or impersonal. In theism, God is the creator and sustainer of the universe, while in deism, God is the creator, in pantheism, God is the universe itself. In atheism, God is not believed to exist, while God is deemed unknown or unknowable within the context of agnosticism, God has also been conceived as the source of all moral obligation, and the greatest conceivable existent. Many notable philosophers have developed arguments for and against the existence of God, there are many names for God, and different names are attached to different cultural ideas about God's identity and attributes. In the ancient Egyptian era of Atenism, possibly the earliest recorded monotheistic religion, this deity was called Aten, premised on being the one true Supreme Being and creator of the universe. In Judaism, it is common to refer to God by the titular names Elohim or Adonai, in Islam, the name Allah is used, while Muslims also have a multitude of titular names for God. In Hinduism, Brahman is often considered a concept of God. The same holds for Hebrew El, but in Judaism, God is also given a proper name, in many translations of the Bible, when the word LORD is in all capitals, it signifies that the word represents the tetragrammaton.

Islam – Islam is an Abrahamic monotheistic religion which professes that there is only one and incomparable God and that Muhammad is the last messenger of God. It is the world's second-largest religion and the major religion in the world, with over 1. Islam teaches that God is merciful, all-powerful, and unique, and He has guided mankind through revealed scriptures, natural signs, and a line of prophets sealed by Muhammad. The primary scriptures of Islam are the Quran, viewed by Muslims as the word of God. Muslims believe that Islam is the original, complete and universal version of a faith that was revealed many times before through prophets including Adam, Noah, Abraham, Moses. As for the Quran, Muslims consider it to be the unaltered, certain religious rites and customs are observed by the Muslims in their family and social life, while social responsibilities to parents, relatives, and neighbors have also been defined. Besides, the Quran and the sunnah of Muhammad prescribe a comprehensive body of moral guidelines for Muslims to be followed in their personal, social, political, Islam began in the early 7th century. Originating in Mecca, it spread in the Arabian Peninsula. The expansion of the Muslim world involved various caliphates and empires, traders, most Muslims are of one of two denominations, Sunni or Shia. Converts and immigrant communities are found in almost every part of the world, Islam is a verbal noun originating from the triliteral root s-l-m which forms a large class of words mostly relating to concepts of wholeness, submission, safeness and peace. Muslim, the word for an adherent of Islam, is the active participle of the verb form. The word sometimes has connotations in its various occurrences in the Quran. In some verses, there is stress on the quality of Islam as a state, Whomsoever God desires to guide. This term has fallen out of use and is said to be offensive because it suggests that a human being rather than God is central to Muslims' religion.

7. Buddhism – Buddhism is a religion and dharma that encompasses a variety of traditions, beliefs and spiritual practices largely based on teachings attributed to the Buddha. Buddhism originated in India sometime between the 6th and 4th centuries BCE, from where it spread through much of Asia, two major extant branches of Buddhism are generally recognized by scholars, Theravada and Mahayana. In Theravada the ultimate goal is the attainment of the state of Nirvana, achieved by practicing the Noble Eightfold Path, thus escaping what is seen as a cycle of suffering. Theravada has a following in Sri Lanka and Southeast Asia. Mahayana, which includes the traditions of Pure Land, Zen, Nichiren Buddhism, Shingon, rather than Nirvana, Mahayana instead aspires to Buddhahood via the bodhisattva path, a state wherein one remains in the cycle of rebirth to help other beings reach awakening. Vajrayana, a body of teachings attributed to Indian siddhas, may be viewed as a branch or merely a part of Mahayana. Tibetan Buddhism, which preserves the Vajrayana teachings of eighth century India, is practiced in regions surrounding the Himalayas, Tibetan Buddhism aspires to Buddhahood or rainbow body. Buddhism is an Indian religion attributed to the teachings of Buddha, the details of Buddha's life are mentioned in many early Buddhist texts but are inconsistent, his social background and life details are difficult to prove, the precise dates uncertain. Some hagiographic legends state that his father was a king named Suddhodana, his mother queen Maya, and he was born in Lumbini gardens. Some of the stories about Buddha, his life, his teachings, Buddha was moved by the innate suffering of humanity. He meditated on this alone for a period of time, in various ways including asceticism, on the nature of suffering. He reached enlightenment, discovering what Buddhists call the Middle Way, as an enlightened being, he attracted followers and founded a Sangha. Now, as the Buddha, he spent the rest of his teaching the Dharma he had discovered. Dukkha is a concept of Buddhism and part of its Four Noble Truths doctrine. It can be translated as incapable of satisfying, the unsatisfactory nature, the Four Truths express the basic orientation of Buddhism, we crave and cling to impermanent states and things, which is dukkha, incapable of satisfying and painful. Judaism – Judaism encompasses the religion, philosophy, culture and way of life of the Jewish people. Judaism is an ancient monotheistic Abrahamic religion, with the Torah as its text, and supplemental oral tradition represented by later texts such as the Midrash. Judaism is considered by religious Jews to be the expression of the relationship that God established with the Children of Israel. Major sources of difference between groups are their approaches to Jewish law, the authority of the Rabbinic tradition. Orthodox Judaism maintains that the Torah and Jewish law are divine in origin, eternal and unalterable, Conservative and Reform Judaism are more liberal, with Conservative Judaism generally promoting a more traditional interpretation of Judaism's requirements than Reform Judaism.
