The last month of school! Emily Arrow and the other children in Ms. Stewart, the student teacher, is even going to take class pictures. She wants a best friend. It seems everyone has a best friend except her. At the picnic Emily feels so lonely, she wanders off into the woods with Uni, her unicorn. Is the rest of the class having fun? And even worse, will they leave her in the woods and go home without her? A girl named Emily Arrow gets lost in a forest close to the park. Her class is having a picnic without her. She is scared that they might take the class picture without her, but her friends tell the teacher that she is missing and the teacher says go find her. After a while, they see her toy that she calls Uni. They all lived happily ever after. I think this is a good book. I would read them over and over again. I no longer have the books, but plan to buy them for my kids one day! Brings back a lot of good memories! The chapters go quickly, they are fun and we all laugh! The very best of early chapter books! I love all she has written. Books like this for the early chapter reader are really hard to find. To put in perspective, Magic Tree House is much harder for early chapter book readers. So buy her books for your beginner readers! Different cover art By J. Add a Book Review Book Summary: This particular edition is in a Paperback format.
