

Chapter 1 : Free English Lessons

Adult ESL students have unique needs in their language studies. Help them learn practical, useful English with these awesome activities! Teaching adults can be a great www.nxgvision.com them know you care with outstanding, informative lesson plans! Adult students are eager to www.nxgvision.com take responsibility for their learning www.nxgvision.com often.

This post contains affiliate links. By number of speakers either native or as a second language, English is by far the most widely spoken language in the world. Speaking English opens up a world of opportunities in travel, study and work. No matter how you look at it, English is essential to most international communication. This includes business, education and tourism. Here are my top 10 free English courses, plus a few bonus courses! Free English Language Lessons Online: My Top Choices Here are my favourite websites for helping you learn English. EnglishClass has lessons for all skill levels, including lessons for beginners. Not all of the episodes are free, but all are excellent, and there are several free lessons at each level. They include a combination of video and audio lessons with energetic teachers who are experienced in developing English curriculum for adults. A premium membership lets you access the full power of the website. It has a combination of reading, listening, writing and speaking lessons. It also includes quizzes so you can check your progress. For example, one lesson covers vocabulary related to paying taxes in the US. However, even this vocabulary will be relevant to many English learners, not just those in the US. Every lesson teaches a valuable grammar point as well. The lessons go from lower beginner to intermediate. Speak in a Week Speak in a Week is a free email course from Fi3M that gets you speaking in a new language in just seven days. Find out more about Speak in a Week here. How can you find native English speakers to talk with? Find English speakers who want to learn your language, then offer a language exchange. My favourite website for finding a language exchange partner is italki. Creating an italki account and finding language partners is completely free. All you have to do is create your profile and select English as your target language. Then you can search for English speakers whose target language is your native language. Once you find some people, contact them to arrange a Skype language exchange at a time that works for both of you. Not interested in spending half of your time teaching another person about your native language? You can also search for fellow English learners on italki. This way, you can spend your entire conversation speaking in English. You can also find professional English teachers on italki to give you spoken English lessons. These lessons do cost money, but prices are often very reasonable, and are well worth the investment. Video Lessons When you use English in real life situations, you will of course be face-to-face with other English speakers. Watching English videos is a perfect way to have a similar experience but from the comfort of your own computer or smartphone. There are hundreds of videos about every aspect of the English language. They aim to teach a neutral, international English, though some lessons focus on specific dialects. Eleven English teachers have made a series of over a thousand video lessons for English learners of every level. The lessons are sorted by proficiency level, topic, and of course by teacher. Watch a few lessons by each teacher to find the one that you enjoy learning from the most. Then settle in and have fun improving your English skills. Sesame Street Long before the Internet, countless kids and adults! Sesame Street strives to appeal to viewers of all ages. Audio Lessons For English audio lessons that you can listen to anywhere, anytime, podcasts are the perfect choice. You can listen to podcasts on your computer or mobile device, and many episodes are only a few minutes long. Moments like these are the perfect time to squeeze in some studying to help you reach fluency faster. Here is a small sample of some of the better podcasts for teaching English as a foreign language. There are plenty of free episodes to get you started, and if you like what you hear, I recommend signing up for the paid version that includes flashcards, quizzes, and access to all the lessons. The lessons cover a mind-boggling variety of real-life situations. The speaking speed is nice and slow, yet the vocabulary and grammar range from beginner to advanced. Go Natural English Podcast Do you like to mix things up? The Go Natural English Podcast from my friend Gabby we made a video together here includes lessons on vocabulary and grammar, as well as super useful language study tips. There are at least three new episodes released per week. Keep checking back every week for new episodes. Reading and Writing Lessons The Internet is bursting with written English, from Wikipedia to news websites, to countless blogs around the world. These are great for intermediate and advanced learners, but not so helpful for beginners. English reading and writing lessons offer a structured approach. That way, you can learn the basics of English reading and writing, before moving onto the more complex rules of written English. So instead of drowning in the sea of English websites filling the Internet, try the following resources geared specifically to English learners. Duolingo Currently, Duolingo has English courses for speakers of the following languages:

Chapter 2 : Download English grammar lessons, for free, in the PDF format

Adults ESL Lesson Plans I've found that when it comes to teaching adults, there is a tremendous benefit to introducing vocabulary and reinforcing it with real world examples. To accommodate this teaching style, these ESL lesson plans for adults are almost all based around role play but can be amended to focus more on the vocabulary or grammar.

Although designed for adults, the lessons and activities provided at this site can be adapted for secondary school students. All materials and worksheets are provided. The site includes information concerning how your school can subscribe to the programs and what support is offered from CNN once your school has subscribed. A wide range of topics, each with a set of questions, that teachers will find useful as springboards for oral production practice or as prompts for journal writing assignments. Opportunity is also provided for teachers to add topics and questions. Although the games are meant for children, many can be adapted for all levels of English language learners. Games and other ideas for teaching about and learning ESL. ESL Ideas of the Week. Dan Joslin offers suggestions for using games, the daily newspaper and various writing activities in the ESL classroom. ESL Lessons and Games. Lessons and activities for enriching ESL classes. The site also includes links to other relevant ESL materials. For Second Language Teachers. Games for ESL Teachers. Simple touching games, phonics games, circling games, board writing, spelling games, pattern games and vocabulary games. Seventy-five handouts for ESL teachers to use in their classrooms. Manual produced by Ian Hewitt, a Japan-based English teacher. Includes 18 proven English teaching games and successful techniques and variations for ALL levels, plus much more. A monthly Web magazine of lesson plans and lesson ideas. Provides teachers with lessons and printable materials to use in class and students with over 50 interactive quizzes, 15 discussion forums, and additional links. Lesson Plan for Newcomers. Suggestions for those brand new students who have just entered school and speak little or no English. For a companion resource, click on Action Words Activity. Teachers can also find these related categories: Teaching Techniques and Teaching Tips and Ideas. Although designed for adult ESL learners, they are easily adaptable for use in grades Teaching with the Web: Using Video in Your Classroom. Teflers of the World Unite. A site for teachers, with lesson plans that include grammar presentations and vocabulary activities. Also featured are games, songs with learning objectives, an advice center and jobs offered. Included in this site are online teaching materials, discussion pages, links to hot EFL sites, other on-line information, and much more. It is designed to be a place where anyone interested in language or linguistics can ask a question and get the response of a professional. For kids and adults, the site offers crosswords, word searches, flash cards, verbs, songs, creative writing, work sheets, phonics, potion book, spell book and a chat room. A series of hand-drawn pictures illustrating verbs, adjectives, and common nouns that teachers can print out and use in the classroom. Common Errors in English. This site simply and entertainingly explains a number of common spelling and usage errors in English. Scroll down the page and select from a variety of cafe items. There are also links to other ESL information for both students and teachers, an interactive message exchange, and an ESL email connection. This is a web site for the developing language teacher. Teacher training by e-mail is also offered. Includes articles, Web resources, information on books and software, product reviews, events and conferences and more. Teachers of ESL and EFL can read weekly articles on topics of interest, gather teaching tips from the weekly articles, discuss their thoughts on anything to do with English Language Teaching in the ELT Forum, find links to other sites of interest to English teachers and learners and submit articles to for publication here in their weekly column. English as a Second Language. The site, designed by Anthony Halderman of Cuesta College, provides students and teachers with useful information, lessons, exercises, games, and other resources. Do you have a question about prepositions? Do you need to find out how to use the future tense? Do you want to practice for a grammar test? On this page, created by Karen M. Hartman, you will find links to grammar references, exercises and quizzes that can help. Send in your English grammar question and a professional teacher will answer it. Interactive practice for learners of English. The site includes tests, quizzes, crosswords, a mailing list and more. English Programs Around the World. English Second Language Resources. Among its many resources, this site includes English language newspapers and magazines, learning spoken English on-line, how to pronounce the English alphabet, grammar, pen pals, English language idioms, quizzes, on-line English classes and much more. A periodical designed for ESL and EFL teachers who wear many hats--teachers who want fresh ideas and activities for teaching conversation, reading, writing, grammar, vocabulary, and pronunciation. Subscription information is available. Practice your listening skills online, learn a new word everyday by Email, learn idioms, take an online ESL student assessment as a guide for identifying your level of English language ability, and learn how to apply to an American University. The Lounge provides lesson materials which are free and printable and include grammar, reading comprehension, worksheets, song lyrics, board games, pronunciation, flashcards, surveys, role plays for many levels of ESL. The ESL Standards are clustered by grade level pre-K-3, , and and address varying degrees of proficiency beginner, intermediate, advanced as well as the needs of ESL students with limited formal schooling. The standards use vignettes of actual instructional sequences in which teachers help students meet the standards in diverse settings e. The site provides teachers with tools which may help foster the acquisition of English through music. Features resources for ESL, bilingual and classroom teachers working with K language minority students. Includes information, staff inservicing, lesson plans, activities, bulletin boards and more. A grammar review by Robin Simmons. The site contains explanations, handouts for students and teachers, and interactive exercises. Hands-on English Current Events Activities. Current events activities appropriate for adults and high school students learning English as a second language. Teachers are given permission to print, copy and use the activities in their classrooms. Holidays Loogootee Community Schools. An index of topics is also available. There are quizzes, word games, word puzzles, proverbs, slang expressions, anagrams, a random-sentence generator and other study materials at this web site for ESL and EFL students. Teachers can find the lyrics to over 56, songs. Learning English on the Web. Includes listening, speaking, reading and writing activities. Making Hearts Sing International Fables. A collection of fables based on traditional values such as kindness, respect and friendship which teachers can print out and use in the ESL classroom. Each month new folktales will be reprinted. Useful as reading material in ESL middle and high school classrooms. The resources can be searched by topic, or browsed by category. The most popular keywords for searches are: The grade levels for performers fall mostly between grades 3 and 9. Useful for enriching the ESL reading curriculum. Among the tales and legends featured are those from the U. Copying, sharing, and performing the scripts are permitted for any educational, non-commercial purpose. Resources in Language Testing. Links to everything you always wanted to know about language testing. Features multiple choice, true or false and fill in the blanks type quizzes and provides immediaate feedback. Stories from many parts of the world suitable as reading material for intermediate and advanced ESL students. A newsgroup electronic bulletin board that deals with issues concerning teaching English as a Second Language. You can read what others have to say about teaching ESL and can even post your own messages. Teaching with the Web. Prepared by Lauren Rosen, the site is a compilation of ideas for using WWW resources as a teaching tool as well as other links to sites that have pedogogical information. The site was prepared by Kenji Kitao and S. Thanksgiving on the Internet. Thanksgiving links for kids and families. Includes registration information, contact persons, frequently asked questions, and preparation materials and practice questions. Online reading, writing, and vocabulary activities, an e-mail pen pal page TowerPals , a chat room, and links to other valuable resources.

Chapter 3 : USA Learns Homepage

ESL Lesson Plans for Adult Classes. The following resources can be used in ESL Adult classes with great results. Take advantage of several worksheets, games and ideas to make your teaching easier.

English writing classes These ESL classes are hard. The best way for me to help you study English is to challenge you. Remember you need to do more than study grammar. You need to practice using English. So after the grammar exercises, please finish the class by writing on the message board. The newest English classes on ESLgo. Describe your hobbies and study habits - Use present simple and present progressive to describe what you do in your free time. Describe your family and pets - Use comparatives and superlatives to describe your family and pets. Describe your job - Practice describing your job using infinitives gerunds, and conditionals. Level 2 English classes for low intermediate students Richie and Nash - grammar to compare my cats who are named Richie and Nash. Passive modals - passive modal verbs from Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire. Wireless - vocabulary and present perfect verbs from a news article about wireless technology. Cruise - present perfect verbs in a short conversation about a cruise. Lend and Borrow - vocabulary for a short conversation about a car loan. Business questions - grammar to ask questions about stocks. Level 3 English classes for intermediate students Insurance - When to use active verbs and when to use passive verbs. Computer games in Korea - vocabulary in an article about the popularity of computer games in Korea. How to trade stocks - vocabulary in an article about trading stocks. Quality stocks - vocabulary from a news article about stocks. How to get a site hosted - vocabulary from a web hosting ad. Teleconferencing - vocabulary from an introduction to the IMTC. Overture class - vocabulary about pay per click search engines. WiFi class - grammar describing the future of wireless internet connections. Passive modals 2 - passive modals from a White House press release. Indexing class - grammar from a news article about mutual funds. Domain name registration class - vocabulary about how to register a domain name. Arlo Guthrie - past perfect used in a story. Obong mountain - past perfect to describe my trip to Obong mountain. TV and children - vocabulary an article about how TV affects children. Diets and weight loss - common grammar mistakes regarding weight loss. Diets and exercise - common grammar mistakes in "if" conditional sentences regarding diets. Business transitions - See how transitions are used in business writing. Level 4 English classes for upper intermediate students Online colleges - a vocabulary class featuring words used in the context of a spy story. Health dangers of obesity - 5 vocabulary items presented in a health advice article. Multiple Intelligences WebQuest - study multiple intelligences to become a better learner. Credibility - future perfect and advice about getting a loan. False advertising - conditional sentences from a complaint about an advertisement. Stock Options - vocabulary from an explanation of stock options. Present perfect passive ecology - present perfect passive from a description of a charity. Computer virus - vocabulary needed to discuss computer viruses. Level 5 English classes for advanced students Vocabulary from unit 1 - Some vocabulary items from my reading textbook, unit 1. Diabetes vocabulary class - study present perfect, past perfect, and past progressive in relation to past simple. Car vocabulary - help sorting out a few vocabulary items related to driving and includes a look at some Konglish words. Essay writing grammar class based on ad copy for an essay writing service. An overview of admissions essays - a paper written for American students about how to write an admissions essay when applying to a school. English application essays - a big class designed for American students about how to write an admissions essays. Smart Writing Service - A wide range of academic writing services. High-quality custom written papers for ESL students. The essay writers from domyessays. Hire them with confidence.

Chapter 4 : Adult ESL Lessons

Youngsters are often less inhibited than adults, so when teaching English speaking lessons to adults, there are some things that we need to bear in mind. 1. Adults, from any cultural background, still like to have "fun," but their idea of what's fun may be different from yours.

See results Original Origins This is a really fun game if you have a creative class. It might not work so well for a class that hates to talk, but then again, this might just be the push they need to get going! Absolutely none, although a whiteboard is helpful. The chicken or the egg? Play in teams or individually, depending on what better suits your class. The purpose of the game is to answer the questions. The only rule is that the students can not give the actual answer to the question if they know it! They must create the most entertaining and original answer they can think of. The more outside-the-box they get, the better. Give them about 15 minutes to work on their answers. Once the time is up, bring everyone back together and have students take turns presenting answers to the class. They get points for presentation, originality, and creativity. When everyone has finished presenting, you can either pick the winner yourself or have the class vote on who they thought created the best answer for each question. Before the lesson, prepare questions of varying difficulty in at least five categories. Categories I often use are: Geography questions about the world , grammar they must correct a sentence , synonyms they must provide a synonym for a word , general knowledge I just find odd facts on the Internet for this one , and acting you give the student a word or sentence, they must act it out without making a sound for their team to guess. You can design your own categories so you can manipulate the game however you wish, depending on the language and skill level that you want to target. You will need four questions per category, ranging in difficulty from easy to hard. So once you have your questions ready, draw a jigsaw map on the board with five big pieces, and assign one of your categories to each piece. In the center of each space, write the name of the category, and surround it with the numbers 1, 2, 3, and 4. Divide the students into two teams, and give one team the ball to start with. They must throw the ball at the board to select a category. This makes it harder for them to pick the category they are comfortable with, and they have fun throwing the ball in the classroom. Once they have a category selected, ask them how many points they will play for; they get to select a number from They enjoy throwing the ball and they get to talk with each other about what the correct answer is. Of course, keep a running tally of the scores somewhere on the board, and at the end of class, you can declare who is the champion! One of my best classes from years back! Ring of Fire I saved the best for last. My students requested this game more often than any other game we ever played. A standard deck of playing cards, a whiteboard, small slips of blank paper, and a bowl. Place the bowl in the center of a table and spread the cards out, face down, in a circle around the bowl. For more on what exactly those actions are, see below. Before you start the game, hand every student two small slips of paper. Instruct them to write down two questions and to keep them secret! When they are finished, they need to fold up the papers and place them in the bowl on the table. The students will take turns pulling a card. They must perform the action associated with that card, whatever it is! Here are the actions I assign to cards and the penalties involved: The person who draws the king must pull a random question from the bowl and pose it to any of their classmates. Same as above, but the classmate must be a girl. Ditto, but a boy this time. They love it of course, but once they catch on to the game, they will start slipping dangerous questions in there, hoping to catch you, i. Everyone must make bunny ears with their fingers. The last person to do so must select and answer a question. You choose a topic: The students must go in a circle naming new vocabulary for that topic. For the topic of fruit The person who said "carrot" has to answer a question! Like bunny ears, except students must now touch their noses with both fingers to avoid answering the question. Ask the person on your left. Ask the person on your right. The person who picked this has to answer two questions in front of the class. This is just an example of a setup I use for intermediate university level classes. You can adjust the actions and penalties however you want to suit the topic or grammar point you would like to work on. Students love this game: They get to talk and act silly, and the suspense of waiting to see which card will be picked is really intense!

Chapter 5 : Study free English classes online ESL classes

Resources for ESL Teachers Everything you need to be a successful English as a Second Language teacher for students of all ages and skill levels. Includes teaching theory, information on teaching certificates and qualifications, plus detailed guidance on how to help students develop writing, reading, vocabulary, grammar, and pronunciation skills.

Chapter 6 : English Grammar lessons

Free English Language Lessons Online: Reading and Writing Lessons The Internet is bursting with written English, from Wikipedia to news websites, to countless blogs around the world. These are great for intermediate and advanced learners, but not so helpful for beginners.

Chapter 7 : 5 of My Favorite English Games for ESL Students | Owlcation

The best adult lessons use these sheets as part of the journey instead of the destination - work to incorporate them into your lesson and see if they might spur additional conversation or activities, simply handing them out wastes their full potential.

Chapter 8 : ESL Help Resources | Wyzant Resources

www.nxgvision.com offers free English lessons with English grammar and vocabulary exercises online. Hundreds of English lessons to help you learn English today!

Chapter 9 : The Best English Lessons For Adults in Doral, FL (with Free Estimates)

Learn English free and study to become a U.S. citizen at USA Learns: USA Learns is a free website to help adults learn English online and prepare to become a U.S. citizen. Online courses include fun videos and activities that teach basic and intermediate ESL to adults around the world, plus the opportunity to prepare for the naturalization.