During a hearing aid evaluation, the audiologist will discuss a variety of hearing aid styles and technologies. Lasting approximately one hour, there is no cost or obligation for this visit. This consultation appointment will allow you to spend more time with the audiology staff discussing your personal hearing healthcare needs. This appointment will require approximately one hour. We strongly encourage that you bring someone with you to your appointment. What are Digital Hearing Aids? Today, all hearing aids purchased at Alamance ENT are fully digital. Unlike the traditional analog hearing aids, digital hearing aids not only amplify but also digitally convert sound waves to produce an exact duplication of the sound in which it is picking up. Digital technology is available from economy to premium. Your audiologist will discuss all technology levels with you during your Hearing Aid Evaluation. In addition, Alamance ENT offers a day evaluation period to ensure your satisfaction. Discuss any issues or concerns you have with your audiologist to help you find the right fit for you. Both size and technology determine the price when purchasing hearing aids. Typically, the size and amount of features the device has determines the price of the hearing aid. Every hearing aid purchase includes hearing aid insurance and follow-up care provided by our audiology staff. Financial assistance programs are available to those who qualify. In general, most people experience hearing loss in both ears. If there is no medical reason that would prevent you from wearing two hearing aids, then amplification in both ears binaural amplification will likely be recommended. Your physician and audiologist will make this recommendation based on your hearing test results. If you think you are in need of a hearing aid, contact us to schedule your hearing aid evaluation appointment at our Burlington or Mebane offices. They make me look older Fact: What price are you paying for vanity? Untreated hearing loss is far more noticeable than a hearing aid. If you miss a punch line to a joke or respond inappropriately in conversation, people may have concerns about your mental acuity, your attention span, or your ability to communicate effectively. The personal consequences of vanity can be life altering. At a simplistic level, untreated hearing loss means giving up some of the pleasant sounds you used to enjoy. At a deeper level, vanity could severely reduce the quality of your life. Hearing aids are for old people Fact: People with hearing loss often seem less confident in conversations and may tend to withdraw or be slower on the uptake. Hearing better will help you feel more confident, and others will notice that you are more involved. Not only do they look great, but these high technology devices allow you to participate fully in conversations, and your life. You are never too old to receive help in hearing. As you get older, spending more time with your family and friends should be more important, not fall to the wayside. It is a proven fact that being close to loved ones is one of the main factors in how long a person lives. For many, the improved quality of life and relationships make hearing devices one of the best investments they ever made. Kochkin found that people with hearing loss that do not use hearing aids lose twice as much income as those who have a hearing loss but wear hearing aids. Rather than a burdensome expenditure, purchasing hearing instruments can be a valuable investment. There are many different models in a very wide price range. Our specialists will be happy to help you find the devices that will work the best for your need, while not burdening you financially. We want you to enjoy the improvement in your hearing, not fret about the amount you spent on doing so. We also at times work with refurbished devices that still work great. Direct-to-you mail order or online aids leave out a very critical component: The expertise and care of a trained professional. In some states this has become such a problem that selling hearing aids direct to the consumer is illegal. At Hearing Centers of the Midwest, LLC, we believe it is irresponsible and dangerous for anyone to sell you a hearing instrument without being able to provide proper care and counseling. That is also why we only distribute products from companies that have demonstrated an ongoing commitment to providing quality hearing products. Hearing aid technology has taken a quantum leap. Hearing devices deliver smooth, efficient, sound processing, virtual elimination of annoying whistling or buzzing and automatic transitions from quiet to noisy environments. Digital hearing devices have Automatic Telephone Response, which automatically adjusts for optimal telephone communication which can greatly improve telephone usage. Some technology has wireless capability which allows you to hear your phone directly through your hearing aid. All hearing aids whistle or buzz. Newer digital hearing aids virtually eliminate feedback and whistling characteristics of older hearing instruments with the use of advanced technology, using feedback cancellation systems and better processing abilities. My type of hearing loss cannot be helped FACT: In the past, many people with hearing loss in one ear, with a high frequency hearing loss, or with nerve damage have all been told they cannot be helped, often by their family practice physician. The right hearing solution can help you stay active and participate fully in the things you enjoy MYTH: Without special training in and understanding of the nature of hearing loss, it may be difficult for your doctor to even believe that you have a hearing problem. Studies show that those who wear two hearing devices understand more clearly, especially at a distance, and enjoy better overall sound quality. If you have a hearing loss in both ears, you should wear two hearing aids. For more information about our services, call or There are several reasons to take action. First, not hearing puts unnecessary strain on you and the people around you. Corrected hearing improves relationships, reduces stress, and allows you to live life to the fullest. Secondly, your hearing loss acts like a filter, only letting through sounds you can hear normally. Your brain starts to forget the sounds you are unable to hear which affects your speech understanding. Hearing aids help to preserve your current speech understanding by properly stimulating the auditory nerve. Do I get a trial period with new hearing aids? Yes, you will have a day trial period beginning the day you receive the hearing aids. This charge covers the restocking fee of the device and our services over the 60 days. We encourage our patients to try the hearing aids for the full 60 days and contact us with any concerns throughout the process. Do hearing aids come with a guarantee? All hearing aids come with a minimum of a one year warranty. The warranty includes repairs in-office and at the manufacturer, as well as a loss and damage claim. The loss and damage claim is if the hearing aid is lost or damaged beyond repair. There is a small deductible accrued when the loss and damage claim is used. Any repair sent in after the warranty has expired will incur a charge. Hearing aids sent to the manufacturer for repair generally take business days to return. How much do hearing aids cost? All individuals have different hearing needs and different hearing aids needed to address those particular needs. Hearing aids are intelligent medical devices. The cost of the hearing aid also includes warranties, office visits, repairs, counseling and annual hearing evaluations. What is the next step to getting a hearing aid? Call and make an appointment to talk to one of our skilled audiologists. During the appointment we will discuss your hearing loss and listening needs, as well as the hearing aid technology and features which will determine which hearing aids will be best for you.
