

"Flying the Stock Market is not only brilliant, but also entertaining" -- Michael Ebert, Attorney at Law "Highly recommended for all investors and for those who want to become investors."

How to Make a Killing in The Stock Market A guide to the GTAV stock markets by Crokey With some minor editing by Spuds There are a few mentions around the internet and this place on how to make your money using the assassination missions given to you by Lester, but few if any actually give a detailed step by step to make the most of it. In this guide I will give a step by step process with some hints and tips to speed things up a little. This guide may contain spoilers, nuts and ingredients that will affect those with an intolerance to dairy. In the build up to my undertaking these missions, I had already purchased a Hanger and Helipad with Michael, and a boat slip with Trevor, as well as purchasing the Taxi Business, The Dock, Los Santos Customs, The Towing Company and the Mackenzie Airstrip, with differing characters and completed the main storyline missions. Tips When you save your game at a safe house using Michael and Franklin time progresses 6 hours, when you save your game with Trevor time progresses 12 hours. However doing this guide may take you a couple of real time hours. During my run through I had left the missions till last, however I had fully modded weapons and did very little modding of vehicles, depending on when you choose to do these missions keep an eye on your current account just in case you start running a little low. Before you start Do not do the Hitch Lift 1 Mission, this is the Random Event where the guy whose car has broken down just off the highway on the west side of the map who wants a lift to the airport. This guy will give you a Stock Market tip which you can make a good return. The LCN is offline so can be done at all times. Read each mission carefully first before committing, as some require the stock to be bought before the mission, and some after. Then click Buy and Confirm. The Hotel Assassination Note: This mission is mandatory and cannot be left to the end as you have to do it in order to progress in the game. Make sure it is Monday at The Hotel Assassination Post-Mission: In The Hotel Assassination, Franklin must kill the CEO of Bilkinton Research Immediately after the mission is over perform a quick save into a new or unneeded save slot using your phone. If anything goes wrong with the following steps you can reload this and avoid having to repeat the mission. After each save quickly check your on your phone what the return percentage is. The stock moves regularly. Immediately after the mission is over perform a quick save into a new or unneeded save slot using your phone. Sleep once as Franklin 6 hours , or till about The Multi-Target Assassination Note: From now on these can be left to the end or indeed at any time during the game, depending on how much of a Wall Street Shark you are. Your monetary returns will be significantly higher if you do the assassination missions after you are paid for The Big Score one of the final story missions Pre-Mission Preparation: Wait about 8 hours, save if needed using your WIP save slot with either Michael or Franklin, however due to the short time maybe best just sit in your car and listen to some tunes and watch the sunset, or go for a drive etc. Make sure it is Monday at about The Vice Assassination Post-Mission:

Chapter 2 : Hot Stocks - Stock Market Movers - CNNMoney

Stock market bulls got some unexpected good news on Thursday. It wasn't that the Nasdaq Composite Index COMP, % is at a record level.

Fly Fishing the Stock Market: Although both authors provide a solid technical view to profitable trading, they use different approaches. Morris believes that successful trading and fly fishing both require three critical psychological traits: Persistence, passion and patience. The author stresses the importance of focusing on price as the key variable because stocks have specific behavioral price patterns that repeat over time. To interpret the price behavior, he uses technical indicators and chart patterns. The first step is to focus on the general condition of the market using several tools and time frames. Morris explains that a trader needs to first analyze the market to determine its rhythm and cycles. Then he suggests looking at sectors, industries and groups to come up with suitable buy candidates. Morris recommends that individuals trade only a few securities, rather than focusing on too many. The author uses a building block approach to explain his trading methodology. The first subject areas covered are the basic chart types, patterns and indicators. He introduces a handful of indicators including the 8-, and period exponential moving averages, MACD and histogram, Force Index and Bollinger Bands that can be used on daily and weekly charts. According to the author, when a buy or sell signal occurs simultaneously or near each other on a number of these indicators, then there is a greater chance of a profitable outcome. He introduces two unique tools – the Weather Vane and the Weather Station – that are reviewed in detail with colored charts with indicators. The stock market has various seasons when stocks behave differently, just like the weather, and they require different trading approaches. Morris illustrates chart patterns that deceive traders and how to avoid getting caught in those traps. Moreover, he shows how to trade various market patterns and technical breakouts. To be honest, he also provides the trades that he missed and the mistakes he made in another chapter. This book is highly recommended for traders who are comfortable using technical analysis with a time-tested methodology. It is laid out in a logical fashion, and the chart examples with detailed notes provide a self-paced learning experience. He provides a high-quality companion website that provides free updates to his trading tools and market outlook. About the Author Leslie N. Reach him at lesmason@yahoo.com.
