

Chapter 1 : Favorite books for 4th graders | GreatSchools

Books shelved as grade Wonder by R.J. Palacio, Bridge to Terabithia by Katherine Paterson, The One and Only Ivan by Katherine Applegate, A Wrinkle in.

Amy Zuckerman and Jim Daly, illustrated by: John Manders - Dutton, 32 pages. The breezy narrative follows one boy through a typical day, highlighting many interesting aspects of his world. Fanciful cartoon drawings show a lively and appealing world full of new and intriguing activities that correspond neatly to modern equivalents. Interaction with the natural world is not mentioned, although many of the new technologies have eco-friendly components and the food is all meatless and delicious. Gordon Korman - Scholastic, pages. As climbers are cut from the team, tensions build, personalities clash and the remaining hopefuls struggle to deal with their own fears and weaknesses. Kids who like adventure stories. Everest 1 at your local library. The Cricket in Times Square by: George Selden - Ariel Books, pages. The Cricket in Times Square has been initiating bookworms since and shows no sign of stopping. These days, fantasy-series books rule the bookshelves, yet this quiet tale of friendship endures. Chester Cricket, Tucker Mouse and Harry Cat meet at a newsstand in a New York subway station when a lonely little boy, Mario Bellini, finds the cricket in a pile of trash. He decides to keep Chester as a pet, and a series of adventures follow. Perfect for a quiet read on a long trip this summer. Find The Cricket in Times Square at your local library. The Misadventures of Maude March by: Audrey Coulombis - Random House, pages. Set within the historical context of prairie life, year-old tomboy Sallie March is a lover of dime-store novels. The pages practically turn themselves in this roller-coaster ride of a book. Find The Misadventures of Maude March at your local library. Janell Cannon - Harcourt, 48 pages. This is the story of an unfortunate cockroach named Crickwing, called this because of a twisted wing earned when fleeing a predator. Crickwing finds he has a talent for food presentation: He is a food sculptor! He builds his creations out of roots, leaves and petals, and then eats them when he can. Crickwing is constantly thwarted by lizards, ocelots and food-stealing monkeys. Crickwing harasses the ants until their Queen orders him to be captured and offered as a sacrifice to the army ants. Luckily, kind leaf-cutters set him free, and he redeems himself by using his special talents to rid the leaf-cutters of the army ants once and for all. Find Crickwing at your local library. Erin Hunter - HarperCollins, pages. Erin Hunter, author of the popular Warriors series, brings us a new series to love. This first Seekers book is a compelling read. Hunter has definitely started enough threads to weave a richly detailed, adventurous series. Find The Quest Begins: Seekers 1 at your local library. Beezus and Ramona by: Beverly Cleary, illustrated by: Arthur Dorros and Tracy Dockray - W. Morrow, pages. Nine-year-old Beezus is much too grown up to hang out with her little sister, Ramona, who does embarrassingly babyish things like wearing paper bunny ears and dragging around an imaginary pet lizard on a string. Beezus tries to be patient, but Ramona is impossible! Want to see the movie? Check out Ramona and Beezus starring Selena Gomez as Beezus, which adds elements from several books in the series to the Beezus and Ramona plot. Kids with siblings, older and younger. Find Beezus and Ramona at your local library. Chronicles of Prydain The Book of Three by: Lloyd Alexander - Henry Holt, pages. Ah, the fantasy series, how we love thee. For children today, there is no higher praise than to compare a book to the Harry Potter series. Kids who like classic stories. The Great Brain by: Mercer Mayer - Dial Press, pages. He is a shrewd and wily kid with a keen ability to earn a penny. Nevertheless, his intelligence ends up saving the day when he and his younger brother get lost in Skeleton Cave. I challenge you to try to pry this out of the hands of your fourth-grade adventure lover. Find The Great Brain at your local library. James and the Giant Peach by: Roald Dahl, illustrated by: Quentin Blake - A. Knopf, pages. James Henry Trotter leads a happy life until his parents are eaten by an escaped rhinoceros and he is thrust into the world of his nasty aunts, Sponge and Spiker. A single peach grows and keeps growing until James can climb inside and roll away from his horrible aunts to a whole new life. The adaptation combines stop-motion and live action, plus a few musical numbers. Find James and the Giant Peach at your local library. Chris Van Allsburg - Houghton Mifflin, 32 pages. They go to the park, where they find a board game and bring it home only to discover that it is not the usual run-of-the-mill game. Boredom is no longer an issue! The sculptured drawings and play between shadow and light demonstrate how a regular house can transform into a raging jungle. Check out the film starring Robin Williams, which fleshes out the short story into a full-length feature. Find Jumanji at your local library. Sadako and the Thousand Paper Cranes by: Eleanor Coerr, illustrated by: Ronald Himler - Putnam, 80 pages. This is a book to teach your child about the horrors of war and illness, but most importantly about hope. Based on a true story set in World War II Japan, Sadako attempts to carry out the legend that the crafting of 1,000 paper cranes would heal her disease. Young readers learn indelible lessons that will stay with them for life. Sadako and the Thousand Paper Cranes is a stunning portrait of life, death and the power of courage. Find Sadako and the Thousand Paper Cranes at your local library. Phyllis Reynolds Naylor - Simon and Schuster, 100 pages. Nothing is simple in this taut, unforgettable drama. Kids love this edge-of-the-seat story of a boy going up against a really scary mean man to protect an abused dog. The film changes some plot details but stays true to the spirit of the book. Find Shiloh at your local library. Out From Boneville by: Jeff Smith - Scholastic, 100 pages. The first book of this humorous full-color graphic novel series describes the misadventures of the three Bone cousins as they explore a forested valley populated with frightening creatures. As the plot unfolds, the Bones meet strange characters and forces of evil. Kids who like fantasy stories. Out From Boneville at your local library. The Boy Who Painted Dragons by: As he attempts to hide his fear, he covers every possible surface with brilliant golden dragons. He is the secret force in nature. The Gruesome Guide to World Monsters by: Judy Sierra, illustrated by: Henrik Drescher - Candlewick Press, 64 pages. How do you protect yourself from a monster?

Favorite books for 4th graders. trees and creatures in the soil. Illustrated throughout, this chapter book is for more mature fourth-grade readers, as it does not.

Fiction Some fourth graders have a reading ability well above their grade level. You know your students and their emotional maturity levels best. A few of these books may be best as read-alouds so that you and your kids can discuss important life questions together. Born with a club foot, Ada is isolated and protected by her small-minded mother. After her little brother is shipped out of London to escape the war, she sneaks out to join him, and her adventures begin. Returning from a summer spent with their mother in California, Delphine and her sisters settle back into life with their father, grandmother, and uncle. In addition to the usual family drama, Delphine has to deal with life as a sixth grader and copes by pouring her heart out in letters to her mom. Especially relevant in a time when minorities in the US are feeling victimized, this story highlights the value of diversity and the commonalities we all share. The Someday Birds by Sally J. Pla Charlie, an autistic boy who struggles to understand the world, travels across the country with his family to seek medical treatment for his injured father. His ordinary life disrupted by this family crisis, Charlie holds on to what he can to make sure everything turns out okay. There he meets Coralee, a girl with a big personality and big stories to tell. But is she keeping a secret that could put them both in danger? Love her as much as we do? Orphan Island by Laurel Snyder Nine children live on an idyllic island where life is perfect, except for the one day each year when a boat arrives. Called the Changing, this is the day when a new child arrives to join the group and another is taken away. How will Jinny cope when her best friend is taken away and she is appointed the new elder? Moo by Sharon Creech A wonderful story told in a blend of prose and poetry. When Reena moves with her family to Maine, the last thing she expects is to have to work hard on a farm and form an unlikely friendship with an ornery cow named Zora. When the army begins to recruit children, will Mathilde lose her best friend Megs? The fantastical story of a girl who finds friendship in the unlikeliest of companions – a young member of the Bigfoot clan.
