

"Whether it was eight different people hitting threes, assists, transition - we did a lot of good things." The Trail Blazers shot percent from the floor and an eye-popping percent from three-point range.

Re-signed with the Warriors on July 25, Became the second player in league history to win the Finals MVP Award while averaging at least 35 points, eight rebounds and five assists in The Finals Michael Jordan in Memphis, becoming the first player in Thunder franchise history to tally those numbers in a postseason game. Made his NBA Finals debut in that game. Denver, including 16 points in the final frame. Lakers, scoring 24 points in 42 minutes. Entering , had never registered more than one game with five or more blocks in a single season. Joined Michael Jordan , LeBron James and Dwyane Wade as the only players to tally a triple-double in the All-Star Game, finishing with 21 points, 10 rebounds and 10 assists. Joined Curry, Chris Mullin and Bernard King as the only Warriors ever to receive the monthly recognition his 14th career Player of the Month award , averaging New Orleans after missing 19 games with a left knee injury, tallying a double-double with 16 points and a game-high 10 rebounds in 31 minutes, recording his 22nd double-double of the season. Became the fourth player in NBA history to reach the point threshold in his first three games against his former team, joining John Williamson vs. Pacers , Adrian Dantley vs. Lakers and Allen Iverson vs. Oklahoma City, becoming the first Warrior to score 40 points on 16 shots or fewer in the Shot Clock Era since Dished out five-straight assists in the third quarter, achieving his triple-double with 4: Toronto, the first time a Warrior has ever tallied at least 20 points, 15 rebounds, five assists and five blocks in a game since blocks were first recorded in Appeared in his seventh Christmas game and has averaged Shot a perfect of from the free throw line, the most free throws made without a miss in a game on Christmas since Kobe Bryant hit of from the line in Minnesota, becoming the first player in Warriors history to tally at least 25 points, 10 rebounds, five assists and five blocks in a game since blocks were first recorded in , per the Elias Sports Bureau. Shot a perfect of from the free throw line. Became the 25th player in NBA history to reach the 3,000 point mark in the postseason. Hit the go-ahead three-pointer with Cleveland, becoming the first player ever to tally those figures in any postseason game since blocks and steals were first recorded in , per the Elias Sports Bureau. Scored 23 points in the first half, a postseason-high for scoring in any half. San Antonio, finishing with 34 points 20 in the second half Tallied five rebounds, four assists and four blocks in 39 minutes. Became the first Warrior with at least 25 points and 10 rebounds in back-to-back playoff games since Nate Thurmond in In that same time span, produced a double-double in a career-best seven games. Reached the point mark in all 15 December games. Recorded two double-doubles both in the Western Conference Finals. New Orleans after missing the first 17 games of the year to a right foot Jones fracture Scored 27 points with three rebounds and two assists in 30 minutes in his return. Golden State, representing an Oklahoma City-era record for most points scored in a game. Finished with a game-high tying 38 points, 10 rebounds and six assists in 35 minutes. Chicago after only accomplishing the feat once previously. Memphis, becoming the first player in franchise history to tally those numbers in a postseason game. Lakers in Game 4 of the Western Conference Semifinals. Dallas in Game 1 of the First Round. Denver in Game 5 of the First Round, including 16 points in the final frame. Denver in Game 4 of the First Round. Denver in Game 1 of the First Round. Boston, finishing that game with 36 points. Lakers in Game 1 of the First Round, scoring 24 points and grabbing six rebounds in 42 minutes. At age 19 years and days, no player in the history of the NBA had scored as many points in a game at a younger age. Shot 65 percent from the field, including 43 percent from three-point range. Born in Washington, D. Traveled to India in the summer of , where he and 3, Indian children from the Reliance Foundation Jr. Favorite food is crab legs Is a fan of the Washington Redskins Most admired Vince Carter as a child Loves to play video games and shop for clothes Favorite motto, which his mentor and coach Taras Brown recited when he was working out, is: Threw out ceremonial first pitch at a San Francisco Giants game on September 16,

Chapter 2 : Three Point Range & Shooting Slings and Swivels for sale | eBay

The 9th fairway runs adjacent to the driving range. Player, between shots of a ball in play, approaches and hits a range ball into the the driving www.nxgvision.comues to his ball in play, and finishes the hole.

DraftExpress May 24, , One point of emphasis for Green here is his ball-handling ability, which is showing some strides and looked pretty good from what we can tell. He did a good job in most of the drills, making few mistakes and showing good hand-eye coordination in the multiple ball drills. In the shooting drills, Green surprisingly out-shot Foster with the uncontested, spot-up shots from NBA three-point range, hitting of When it came to pull-up shots off the dribble in drills and all shots in scrimmages, Green instinctually reverted to his usual form. In the scrimmages, Green really impressed, getting after it on both sides of the ball, while his hot shooting extended over from the drills as well. He hit a plethora of spot-up and pull-up threes from college three-point range, with a few from NBA three-point range as well. Many of the pull-up shots came when he got some space coming around a high screen, but he also hit a few with a hand in his face and incorporated crossovers, step-backs, and fade-aways into his shots, sometimes in combination, hitting quite a few high difficulty shots off advanced moves. In the two scrimmages to 11, he took his man to the basket a handful of times at most, with limited success. Green also looked good as a passer in the two-man game, mixing it up with backdoor and alley-oop assists, making good reads throughout the scrimmages. On the defensive end, Green really stood out, blanketing Foster the whole time, contesting all of his perimeter shots, and making a few nice blocks with his length and timing in the lane. Interview with Danny Green: Danny, how did the workout go today? How long have you been here working with Jerry? Back then, me, my brother, and a few guys from our town used to work out of his backyard. How long have you been here working out since the season ended? Have you ever worked out with anyone other than Jerry? Well down at college I workout with my trainer and the managers. I feel like people have seen a little bit, but outside of the system at North Carolina I think I can do a little more. Hopefully I can show all of that, so for the future I can make a living out of it. Is there anything specific that you think you can show off in Orlando? I can block shots, rebound, you know be that all-around guard, but no one really knows if I can handle the ball. I think I can show off my athleticism, not right now because I have a bad ankle; but hopefully I can show strength, athleticism and the ability to handle to ball a little bit. What are your feelings heading into Orlando? With the team that could potentially be coming back to North Carolina next year, how much does the possibility of a championship play into your decision to declare? Have you been getting any feedback at all from any teams yet? Nothing directly to me. They talk to my coaches, my dad, and my AAU coach, so they know more about it than I do. I think Cleveland, Washington and San Antonio were the other ones. Danny thanks a lot for talking to with us today.

They are doing a good job from the three point line hitting on %. Sacramento as usual is playing poorly on defense giving up % shooting and % from three. Kings are fourth worst in the defensive efficiency ratings allowing points per possessions.

Jan 13, Lots of players would like to be able to increase their shooting range and become a good 3-point shooter. We all know of examples of players, like Robert Horry, who are recruited to join teams mostly because of their ability to make 3-point shots. Shooters with deep range have helped teams on every level win championships. Here are three incredibly simple drills and concepts that can help any player extend their shooting range and add to their scoring arsenal. Warm-Up Speed Jog but never walk through each of these shots. This will help you work up a sweat. Start around five feet from the basket, and shoot until you make a shot all-net before moving back one step. Repeat the process until you get all the way back to the 3-point line. Continue shooting until you make an all-net 3-pointer. Initially, do this from the baseline and work your way back to the 3-point line in the corner. Then do the other right or left baseline and finally go down the middle and finish with a 3-pointer from the top of the key. Finally, do your normal stretching routine. Practice Speed This next part of your practice shooting is best done with a rebounder and a passer. However, if shooting on your own, simply pass to yourself, shoot, rebound and speed dribble back to the spot. You are now repeating the process of working your way back, only this time going as fast as you think you can, then speeding up your perception of what you think is going fast, and go even faster! Obviously this is great conditioning. There are several kinds of footwork currently being used by good shooters. Ask your coach before deciding what do to. Make one all-net shot of each of the following types of shots and work your way back from three distances: Do both a catch-and-shoot and a shot off the dribble, moving left-right-center. As before, you must make an all-net shot before progressing to the next type of shot and distance. Competitive Speed This is the most important part of becoming a proficient shooter in actual games. Do this workout with defenders. Learning this way will give you transference from practice to actual games. Have defenders close out on you sometimes from closer than they will be in the game to try and steal the ball and block the shot. Want to become a fearless shooter? Have the defender foul you on purpose. Make again not just take three shots like this during every practice and you will become a more focused "in the zone" shooter. You probably will also get to the free throw line in games and have a chance to make a 4-point play! Do only as many stages as you are comfortable with. The warm-up stage alone will make anyone a better shooter and is essentially what many great shooters in the NBA do a couple hours before every game. If it takes more than 15 shots to make an all-net 3-pointer and you have to change your shot to get the basketball to reach the basket, then the 3-point shot is out of your range -- for now. Your current and realistic range is where you can make two all-net shots in 10 attempts or less. Just be patient with yourself and work on these drills and stay within your range and you will soon gradually extend that range. These shots should be from where you would shoot within the flow of your offense. I was fortunate to learn quite a bit about 3-point shooting while serving as assistant coach with Craig Hodges. Increasing range and becoming proficient at 3-point shooting will not only help you have more success now, it will also increase your chances to move to the next level. Look at what Pitino, Horry and Hodges have accomplished.

Chapter 4 : DraftExpress - Treveon Graham DraftExpress Profile: Stats, Comparisons, and Outlook

Dell hit 16 threes, including 13 of his last. Granted, 16 wasn't enough to beat Stephen, but it was more than enough to cause him to lose it as his dad starting lightning it up. Judging by the reactions from both Steph and the campers, Dell won the contest even without hitting the most threes.

Philadelphia 76ers [ edit ] Korver left with the 76ers in January. Korver was selected with the 51st overall pick in the NBA draft by the New Jersey Nets. Korver finished his rookie season averaging 4. Korver finished the 2005 season tied for the NBA league leader in three-pointers made with 183, which also marked a 76ers franchise record. Korver finished the 2010 season hitting 40.2% from three-point range. Korver played in just 52 games for the Jazz in 2010, but his spot-on shooting surged after he finally returned fully healthy after the All-Star break, having struggled with wrist and knee issues following surgeries to both in 2009. On July 13, 2010, Korver signed with the Chicago Bulls. The Bulls finished first in the Eastern Conference in 2010, and advanced to the Conference Finals where they were defeated by the Miami Heat 4-1. On March 10, 2011, Korver arguably had his best game as a Bull, recording 26 points, 7 rebounds and 6 assists in a 97-87 win over his former team, the Utah Jazz. He finished second in the NBA in three-point percentage and fourth in three-point field goals made with 183. He made at least one three-pointer in his final 73 games of the season, the longest active streak in the NBA at the time, a career-best and the fourth longest streak in league history. Dana Barros 89, Michael Adams 79, Dennis Scott 79. In addition, his made threes was the fourth-best single season total in franchise history. On December 6, 2011, Korver passed the NBA record for most consecutive games with a made three-pointer 90 originally set by Dana Barros. This gave him 49 consecutive made free-throws on the season to set a new Hawks franchise record. At 33 years and 11 months old, he became the fourth-oldest first-time All-Star. The injury ended a streak of 51 consecutive games with a three-pointer by Korver, who missed both of his shots from behind the arc. The following day, he was ruled out for the rest of the playoffs. In four games between December 23-29, Korver shot 5-of-11 from the field and a woeful 2-of-11 from three-point range. The win gave the Hawks a 13-13 record after 26 games; they began the season 9-2. On January 13, he scored 18 points off the bench to help the Cavaliers defeat the Sacramento Kings. He subsequently passed Jason Kidd 1, for seventh on the all-time three-pointers made list. There they faced the Golden State Warriors and were defeated in five games. On July 12, 2012, Korver re-signed with the Cavaliers. He made 7 of 13 from 3-point range and finished two points from matching his career high of 18. Korver went 10 games between point games, marking the longest stretch between point games in NBA history. On October 30, 2012, in a 107-97 win over the Atlanta Hawks, Korver reached 11,000 career points.

Chapter 5 : Free NBA Picks For Today 10/24/ - Free Sports Pick - Tony's Picks

Hitting at a higher rate from three-point range is a major focus for Coleman moving forward, but after one season, he's on track to become a really good point guard next season.

Has appeared in NBA regular season games starts during his nine-year career and has averaged 8. Walter Kennedy Citizenship Awardâ€¦has scored in double figures on occasions, including 23 games with at least 20 points and one point effortâ€¦his career high for consecutive double-figure scoring games is seven Jan. Appeared in 77 games two starts for the HEAT and averaged Atlanta to tie the franchise record for threes in a quarter and matched it with six treys in the fourth quarter of the season finale vs. Milwaukeeâ€¦grabbed a career-high eight defensive rebounds on Jan. Appeared in 62 games 13 starts for the HEAT and averaged Golden State on Jan. Milwaukeeâ€¦handed out his th career assist on Dec. Started 41 of the 76 games in which he appeared for the Brooklyn Nets and averaged 7. Boston due to a migraine and one game Mar. Milwaukee due to an upper respiratory issueâ€¦was the recipient of the J. Appeared in 65 games 36 starts for the Los Angeles Lakers and averaged Saw action in 45 games one start for the Dallas Mavericks and averaged 3. Split the season between the Memphis Grizzlies and Cleveland Cavaliers and averaged 7. Appeared in 51 games four starts for the Minnesota Timberwolves and averaged 6. Saw action in 62 games eight starts with the Timberwolves and averaged 6. Appeared in 76 games one start for Minnesota and averaged 6. Golden State with an upper respiratory infectionâ€¦was a healthy scratch on the inactive list three times and was a DNP-CD twiceâ€¦set a single-season career high in offensive reboundsâ€¦was fourth on the team in both three-point field goals made and attemptedâ€¦led the team in scoring and assists two times eachâ€¦scored in double figures 17 timesâ€¦made his first career start on Nov. Philadelphia and averaged 7. Came off the bench in both postseason games in which he appeared for the Mavericks in their Opening Round series vs. Was the recipient of the J. Walter Kennedy Citizenship Award. Ferguson High School in Miami on Sept.

DOWNLOAD PDF HITTING FROM THREE-POINT RANGE

Chapter 6 : DraftExpress - Danny Green DraftExpress Profile: Stats, Comparisons, and Outlook

Free Shipping on many items across the worlds largest range of Three Point Range & Shooting Slings and Swivels. Find the perfect Christmas gift ideas with eBay.

Mavericks enter play on a two game win streak. They are an efficient offensive team averaging points per possessions which is better than Atlanta. Hawks are to start the season and are playing poor defensively allowing Hawks are giving big minutes to young players and that results to poor defensive play. Play Dallas Mavericks Knicks have been competitive to start the season with three point spread covers and a push. They do hold opponents to Miami is on the year. Heat is a poor shooting team hitting on Knicks are more efficient offense than Miami as the team is averaging points per possessions. Toronto is off to a good start with a mark of They have been solid at home with double digit victories in all home games with an notable 12 point victory to Boston. Raptors playing well on both ends of the court. Team is shooting They are limiting opponents to Raptors are number three in the efficiency ratings and are averaging points per possessions. Play Toronto Raptors Rockets return home after splitting a two game series in LA at the Clippers and Lakers. They lost on the back end of a back to back to the Clippers. Rockets are connecting on Utah hits the road after dropping back to back home games to the Warriors and then with two days rest lose to the Grizzlies. Play Houston Rockets Spurs are off to a record. In their lone home game it was the Spurs beating Minnesota. Pacers are overall but on the road with losses at Milwaukee and Minnesota. On the road the Pacers are shooting only Spurs are number two in the NBA in offensive efficiency and the Pacers struggle shooting on the road. Play San Antonio Spurs Tough spot for the 76ers as they are on the back end of a back to back after an overtime defeat at Milwaukee. Have to be concerned about the minutes distributed to Embiid in a back to back. Philadelphia is on the road. Bucks are on the season and play with rest. Bucks are seventh in the NBA in offensive efficiency and will push a fast pace in this spot. Play Milwaukee Bucks Lakers are after a home overtime defeat to San Antonio. Lakers are defending poorly to start the season allowing LA is fifth worse in the NBA in the defensive efficiency ratings allowing Devin Booker will be a difficult defend for the Lakers as the speedy point guard will penetrate the Lakers defense. Memphis is healthy and not the tanking team we saw last year. Grizzlies are on a two game win streak after an 8 point win at Utah. They are doing a good job from the three point line hitting on Sacramento as usual is playing poorly on defense giving up Kings are fourth worst in the defensive efficiency ratings allowing points per possessions. Memphis is fifth best in defensive efficiency. Play Memphis Grizzlies Washington has been competitive with all three games decided by four points or fewer. Golden St is but because their point spreads are inflated has failed to cover the spread in three of those four games. Warriors regular season motivation to blowout teams is going to be a concern all year. Wizards are playing at a faster pace averaging 2. Included are Best Bets, Parlays and Halftime winners for this week free of charge. To unsubscribe, text STOP to For help text HELP anytime. Your privacy is always protected and your information will not be shared.

Chapter 7 : Kyle Korver - Wikipedia

Lots of players would like to be able to increase their shooting range and become a good 3-point shooter. We all know of examples of players, like Robert Horry, who are recruited to join teams mostly because of their ability to make 3-point shots.

Chapter 8 : How to Shoot a Three Pointer: 12 Steps (with Pictures) - wikiHow

Proving he was more than your average shooter he would also place in the top ten in three point percentage 7 times, hitting a personal best % in the season and leading the league in the with a %.

Chapter 9 : Los Angeles Times - We are currently unavailable in your region

DOWNLOAD PDF HITTING FROM THREE-POINT RANGE

Villanova made 18 of its 40 attempts from long range, led by Eric Paschall and Jalen Brunson, to dispatch Kansas and set up a chance for its second national title in three seasons.