

Chapter 1 : From Priestess to Shakti Queen | Kundalini Dance

This book does well at examining the role of priestesses throughout the ages, from the beginning of recorded human history. The author compares ancient times to present times' rise of feminine roles in religion.

I invite you to honor your own Inner Priestess and allow magic and miracles to show up in your life! Coloring this with the colors that called to me helped me connect to her even more! This is the part of me that is wise and powerful, yet also loving and compassionate. She has a good balance of the Sacred Feminine and the Sacred Masculine: She is very connected to Spirit and to all of nature. She knows the importance of joy and of self-care. This part of me has been growing stronger and more present in my day-to-day life. Life is so rich and wonderful when I live as my authentic soul-self; my Priestess-self. I then can trust in my deep knowings. I see the beauty in all things. I have faith in Spirit and the Divine plan, and believe in magic and miracles. I have had so many amazing experiences that some people might think are just coincidences. Or they might rationalize the experience with some logical explanation. I choose to see the everyday magic and miracles happening around me. The more I do this, the more that shows up. Some show up as lovely, simple things: Other magical experiences have been: I called to the angels, asking my boys to do the same, and when I looked at the gas gauge, there was now enough to get us to a gas station. I feel that whales and dolphins are such beautiful and amazing beings, and I was so excited! I sent love from my heart to the whales, letting them know that I would be so honored to see them. I sensed that we would indeed find some whales, so I sent more love and thanks to the whales. We finally saw some quite a bit away, spraying water from their spouts. My heart was so excited! One of the whales started swimming in our direction, coming closer and closer to our boat. When it was directly in front of us, it jumped up and out of the water! The whale swam back and forth in front of our little boat, and a couple times turned and waved a fin at us. It was so amazing to look into his eye as he did this; we were definitely connecting to each other. My Priestess self tuned in to my whale friend and heard that he was honoring me back. Soon, he left to join the other whales. Oh, what an amazing, heart-bursting experience! I found some fears were coming up around stepping out in a bigger way with my work, so I started doing some clearing and releasing work on myself that I do with clients. Soon, Spirit, my angels and nature stepped in to assist. A line of birds started flying across the ocean, more and more and more of them. As I tapped and watched them, I sensed that they were helping me: These birds started landing upon the water and there were now hundreds of birds sitting in a group in front of me, letting me know that there are so many people out there just waiting for me. I was guided through a visualization process of letting my Inner Priestess expand out through my entire being: I put my physical feet into these etheric shoes and walked around my hotel room in them. They felt a little big and I was a little wobbly, but all I needed was some time to get used to them. Such a powerful message about stepping more into my Priestess self and a bigger aspect of my work! Soon, the huge group of birds started flying in a line again, but this time going the opposite direction in front of me; feeling like they were now bringing gifts to me: When the visualization and process felt complete, I physically felt taller and stronger. It was such a gift! And I knew in that moment that I was to take other women through this same process for embodying their Inner Priestess. I feel it is important to keep some of our childlike wonder alive, trust that Spirit showers us with gifts, honor the sacred in every moment, and acknowledge and show gratitude for the magical experiences that are part of our everyday lives. Wishful thinking is the gateway to magic and miracles! However, there are those times when life brings challenges and I get pulled out of my Priestess state. I worry, get stressed, and get overwhelmed. And soon my Priestess self comes forward again and helps me through the rough times. She helps me see the humor in the situation, or to trust the deeper healing in the situation, or to access my inner wisdom about steps to take or how to view the situation. I have visualized my Inner Priestess standing tall on a hill, with me standing right next to her. We have not become one yet, but I trust in the process and know that we are close to it. So, I invite you to allow your Inner Priestess to come forward more and more in your everyday life. Trust her; honor her. And you will be on your way to becoming one with her, living a life filled with magic and miracles.

Chapter 2 : Card Meaning of The High Priestess @ Lotus Tarot

The High Priestess is the embodiment of the Feminine Energy. She represents balance and the ability to embrace the law of duality. She is the veil that stands between you and the deeper depths of your psyche. Only those who understand this and have been in practice of embracing the shadow aspects of.

I was a very expressive little girl who connected with various Disney princesses from my youth. It was the biggest compliment I could have ever received. That person failed me in so many ways however I loved them because, despite their flaws, I saw a strong person who was approaching the world in an unorthodox manner. Their struggle was how they dealt with their ego and expressed who they truly were despite everything they were ever told. It was the moment when I truly faced my abyss. From that moment on, I had to prove only to myself whether I was a princess or not and what the definition of that meant to me. So, I went back to a time when it did. Let me take you on a journey of my life through a Disney cartoon named Moana. Once, I was an innocent warrior. The natural world spoke to me. Long ago, I had a very clear vision of the Gods and Goddesses and spirituality. I saw everything in nature and loved it so much. I was a Pagan from my birth, and more than that, I was a spiritualist. Then came the relationship with my father. He was a mathematician, a talented business man, an engineer and a leader. He taught me everything he knew to help me become a leader. He did that very well. He always encouraged me to make my own decisions. There were many things he did wrong. One of them was substituted true love and compassion for food. It was his undoing and eventually led to him dying of complications of diabetes. After he passed away, I was so angry and sad. I spent my entire life telling my dad that eating sugar and junk food would kill him and watched the entire process unfold. My father died in my arms. I always felt I could have done more. I kept that guilt inside of me my entire life. There was an antidote, however. Something to believe in that I could challenge my moral compass against to test myself. Prove myself as a warrior. I pursued Paganism much the way Moana did in the movie. I went to a place called Siesta Key Drum Circle and it challenged my entire belief system. I learned how to dance there as if no one was watching “ however, some one was watching and it was a Goddess. Her name was Kali Ma. And thus began the dance against my ego. I told the Goddess I wanted the strongest connection possible with Her. I started having dreams about trees for some strange reason. Much like Grandmother leading Moana into the cave to discover the origins of Her people, I had a guide who pulled me into the forest to discover what I had lost during my adolescence and death of my father. A vision of what was, what is and what could be filled me every time I walked through a stream, down a rock road, picking crystals and laughing in the sunlight and slogging through the muddiest places to find the biggest bullfrog and name him the King of the Frog tribe. The experience not only profoundly changed me on the inside, it was also my altar that changed and thus my connection to the Gods and the spiritual plane. This guide was powerful and the path with her led me to another beautiful place. My first words to him were how I was a student of the Goddess Kali. He accepted that challenge and became my teacher because I was listening to the lesson. A teacher who showed me my ego by challenging everything I said. I fought him every step of the way until I realized what he was saying was true. I recognized it, accepted it whoever I had no way of expressing it. I taught myself based on a working model of truth because I had no working model of this from childhood. I continued to study. I had many teachers on this path. I may not have always understood the lessons however the truth is that they were there. It was my ego that showed me a distorted image. I responded to that distorted image. One day, everything began to crumble. The earth shook and quaked and the teachers I had were suddenly gone. I isolated myself and went to the spiritual plane to look for answers. Like Moana, I went to the realm of Tamatoa with Maui, the lessons of my spiritual teachers and faced a mirror image of myself. It caused me to reevaluate my entire life. At the core level, my connections to this world and the spiritual plane began to reform like roots from a tree. In fact, I even had a Grandmother to guide me. I doubted if I was able to do it at first. She was an old lady, a true soul in the form of a timeless Apple tree. A tree that stood for love “ the one thing I had been substituting my entire life with so many other things. She taught me that love, emotions, in general, are tools to use, not weapons to destroy us as long as we made the conscious choice to use them for the right reasons. I went back to the limitless childhood of my past and found that the rainbows, glitter, sparkles, unicorns, and nature were all right there. I had the right ideas from birth and conditioning had prevented me from seeing that truth. So I shared with everyone else a way for them to connect with Gods to see something in themselves. The positive, the negative, all of it reflects our connection and view of the Gods and the divinity that exists within ourselves. Once we acknowledge that, we truly become students of the Gods we serve and that serve us. Now I had a way to unite my Tribe. Some one called me a princess and it hurt my feelings. They did not do that to hurt me personally. They called me out and saw that I was a princess and I got upset by something that once brought me great joy and pride. That was the real issue, my outlook on princess made me take a statement and turn it into an attack. She is not a monster. She fights monsters and that leaves a mark on a person. If I am true to Kali, should I not be true to another Sister in that same battle? The issue began with me so it ends with me. It does not define me if I chose it not to define it. My heart was stolen and the only monster I was facing was myself. Once I learned that I walked right up to the people I once saw as monsters, in memory or in life, and I confronted them and acknowledged their divine connection. Just like people dismiss cartoons as fantasy, they can choose to acknowledge the lessons wherein and apply them to their own lives. I made the choice and I know I can convince more people. I just need to sit, reflect on these lessons and the answer will be clear. I return to my Tribe with a message and the tools to help anyone who asks for it. I have my answer now. The Gods are everywhere and I know the way. Most people usually think that Disney movies have a good message but they sometimes lack the understanding of why those tales have the profound impact that they do. What we allow our children to watch without context to can speak volumes of our character. Children do not have context so to them, everything is true or false. If something makes some one happy or is a substitute for happiness, then it becomes true or good. If something makes us sad or is a substitute for expressing our sadness, it becomes truth. Substituting one emotion for another is one of the personality traits of some one with mental illness. As a person who has never allowed herself to be defined as mentally ill, this is my journey through the path of Moana – a girl, a princess I could finally relate with and use as a working model to cure myself of my illness. Now that I am fully aware of my pain and not ignoring it by substituting other things, I am cured because now the only path is forward. I am a Princess and a Priestess and I am proud to be both. At the time of my writing this, I am currently watching Moana with my own children. Teaching them that the biggest battle you have to fight is with yourself. Share this how you see fit, comment with your battle and be at peace with your decisions.

Chapter 3 : Honoring My Inner Priestess – A Journey of Trust

Journey of the Priestess has 5 ratings and 1 review. Araminta said: I appreciate books that attempt to validate research, and this book certainly referen.

Shakti Shop Anywhere, in your own time, at your own pace Do you have the sense that there is a greatness inside you waiting to be realised? Do you have creative ideas longing to become manifest? Are you ready to get out of your own way, come out of hiding and come into your evolutionary offering? Who are the priestesses? The priestesses are the leaders, the creatives, the way-showers, those who have stepped outside the status quo. We are the messengers from outside the matrix showing a new way, for the dawning of this new day. The priestess is the artist who has lost herself in her art, she is the writer who has let go and allows the words flow through her like they are coming from somewhere else, she is the mindless dancer, the singer-songwriter who shifts consciousness through the embodiment of her pure emotions and conscious lyrics, and she is a leader and a voice for change. She is a voice for the Sacred Feminine, a voice for Shakti who has no voice. So she offers her voice, her skills, her body to her. She is of service to the awakening for humanity, she co-creates with The Divine Mother. The priestess is living in her greatness and in her greatness she is truly humble, she has died to all the illusions of self-importance, the need to be seen. The achievement of fame or recognition is not what moves her. Her desire to serve love, create and inspire others to awaken and connect to Divine Mother is what fuels her passion as she knows in the deepest part of herself that is the only thing that will save humanity and this earth at this time. What has it cost us to be disconnected from the Mother? Mourning Due – Autumn Skye We are living in a time of imminent global crisis. We all feel it. The disconnection from ourselves, our humanity, nature and the pure love of the Divine Mother. We have been creating without the Divine Mother for over five thousand years and it has led us on the path of planetary destruction, war, mental health issues, broken families and communities, isolation, poverty and an education system that breeds sheep and work slaves for the matrix. The changes that need to come about to sustain and create the new earth will only happen when enough of us remember and actualise our higher calling and begin to co-create with the Divine Mother again. Who and what are you serving by staying small and dimming your light? The Prodigal Daughter – Autumn Skye This is not the time to hide or stay small, it is our time to rise and shine as women. It once cost us our lives to live in embodiment of our sacred feminine life force, and so we did what we needed to do to survive. It is time for the Sacred Feminine to rise now. Our planet and our people need us. We are living in incredible times, where life is constantly inviting us to reclaim the magnificence of our souls and live our greatest life. We are being asked to step up to create the new myth of humanity, to embody the awakened feminine and live a life guided by our passion and soul presence. The Awakening – Autumn Skye Morrison Books, courses, strategies for the mind or transcendental strategies to leave your body. Anything to avoid the human experience and deny your role on this planet. The return to The Divine Mother is the return to life. She is the ecstatic bliss that resides inside of all of us, beckoning us to surrender and open to the love that we are. A time when you have to get yourself down on to your knees and declare defeat. All that has come before has just been a bunch of strategies, techniques, bypasses or escape routes. Who you really are. Any less is no longer acceptable. Developing a relationship with the Divine Mother is the foundation for any authentic spiritual practice and real transformation. It is a connection, a bond, and a deep soul contract that supports you to live as love in the world, to act as love, and to relate as love. But in order to do her work, you have to ready yourself. Drop all ego and let her shine through you because she will burn away any obstacles in her way. Your stories, your excuses, your limiting beliefs and unhealthy habits. All of these stop her, and you, from doing the work. She is a force that comes down into our bodies and out into our lives. She a ferocious love and total devotion, supporting us to create a new future for humanity, and birth the New Earth! What is the 21 day Priestess Practice? The path! The path of the Priestess is a path of devotion to the Mother in all her forms, she has always served the Goddess and knows that her body is sacred, the body is her temple for the Divine, she claims her womb as a gateway to embodying the Shakti power of the Divine Mother Goddess within her. We are calling out to the priestesses to remember their way.

By practicing with Divine Mother we will come to the deep inner silence to listen to our deep feminine wisdom voices again. Our practice with the Divine Mother takes us into our wombs where lies the seed of our creative genius. The invitation! You are invited to enter into a sacred alchemical crucible, an incubation chamber of remembrance. Where you will be inspired and held to sprout your dream seeds, to activate your soul codes and to come into your greatness. We will commit to daily prayer to embody shakti as the Divine Mother to lift our vibration and come to deep stillness and inner peace. The Divine Mother is a holding power of love she is calling us to our larger life. She is calling us to rise and stand in our power, fearlessly, unashamedly. She nurtures our exhausted bodies tired from living a life that is not truly ours and gently nudges us back onto the path of our soul. She calls us to return to the deep silence in our wombs so we can truly listen to the subtle voice and call of our soul. She will support us to remove the masks that we put on to survive to reveal our true soul. What will I get out of the 21 day practice? This practice is about dropping the search outside of ourselves and coming in, coming home. Through this practice you may experience: Deep inner stillness, peace and trust in the nuances of life. Deep inner connection and the capacity to listen and act upon your feminine intuitive knowing. Self love, self compassion and self acceptance. Ecstatically lifting your vibration taking you from mundane fear based thoughts to positive thoughts anchored in the highest possibilities for your life. Inner transformation of false ego identities and wounded patterns that have shrouded your authentic soul essence, that have been holding you back from stepping into your power and offering your gifts. Inspiration and deep inner permission to share your creative visions and dreams. Return to grace of living in alignment as you co create with the Divine Mother aspect of the Sacred Feminine. It is known in many traditions that 21 days is needed to embody a new practice and open new evolutionary pathways of being. We will journey together with hundreds of women all over the planet with daily content, prayer and practices.

The Priestess Path The priestess path is not an exclusionary spiritual practice, it is the embodied feminine way that embraces all aspects of our lives. Everything is sacred and relevant on our return to the love of the Divine Mother. If you hear the call you can walk this path whoever you are, wherever you are, whatever your circumstance.

The Priestess Circle The priestess circle is an evolutionary sisterhood. Together we are co-creating a new earth founded on feminine principles and calling each other into our highest authentic embodiment of truth. We support each other wholeheartedly. We celebrate our many expressions of the sacred feminine and release jealousy, judgement and competition. We rise by lifting each other up. Welcome, please come and take your place in our ever-growing circle of women and participate in a sacred feminine path that leads you back home to your true self.

How does it work? The Priestess Practice 21 Day Immersion that starts immediately as soon as you register. That day you will receive your first email, and you will be invited to join our closed Priestess Practice online group. Once a day you will receive a short email with a new practice, sometimes written, sometimes an audio recording or a video or an inspirational poem to keep you inspired and on track. There will be three main guided course sessions with Leyolah throughout the 21 days. These are recordings of teachings, transmissions and practices with Leyolah to deepen your embodiment as an Evolutionary Priestess to deepen your exploration of the transformation and higher guidance available when you connect to the Divine Mother. In between the main course sessions you will practice on your own. Leyolah will be available to answer questions and be available for guidance.

How much time do you need to dedicate to the immersion? You can dedicate as much time as you desire. To do a little practice is better than nothing and many of the practices can be integrated into your daily life. In the path of the priestess we learn to respond to our worldly active lives in a sacred ways. By committing to the field you enter into a shakti field, an alchemical crucible, a container for activation and transformation that does not depend on how much you do or do not do, your willingness to connect and participate is everything. Is this for you? The priestess is the mother, the wife and the lover, the office worker, the artist in her studio the dancer on the dance floor, the teacher in the schools, the healer, the counsellor, the friend and the carer. She is a visionary bringing the sacred back to her work place, her family, her home and her community.

Evolutionary Sisterhood We meet in a shared dedication to evolutionary sisterhood to calling each other out to rise. Praise for Leyolah What women are saying from previous courses with Leyolah. Her course is cutting edge, and will support you to move through all the areas you have been stuck, or experiencing un-serving patterns on your spiritual path. At moments, the work was very radical for myself, yet Leyolah was able to lovingly guide me through these unchartered waters, and out of my comfort zone. She is calling like the Bride in the Song of Solomon, wooing us to return to love, to the beautiful verdure of the Garden. Leyolah Antara is one of the voices for this awakening and healing. My deep respect to Leyolah and others who are doing this work. She is a teacher and practitioner with great integrity, commitment and longing for wholeness in our world. With so much love and appreciation and the wish to cross paths again.

Chapter 4 : Awakening Avalon The Priestess Path

For as long as I can remember I have always connected and resonated with Mary Magdalene. My mother having a huge bible with beautiful gold encrusted pictures of many of the biblical characters.

The High Priestess introduces you to the next path on the seventy-eight passageways of growth, this continuous cycle of change which will lead you to new opportunities that are just waiting to be explored. She brings you into the journey of intuition to connect with your higher-self the whisperer. This journey is related to the time when you need to stop what you are doing and remain still so you can learn how to trust your instincts. You need to quiet the chatter in your mind to hear a message from the whisperer to understand a mystery, learn the direction you need to take, or to make a decision. A message will be revealed to you from your higher-self the keeper of secrets, hidden wisdom and intuitive powers to help you make the right decision. The higher-self holds secret knowledge that is stored in the subconscious waiting to be revealed to you through your intuition, dreams, hunches, gut feelings, prayers and meditations, but the higher-self absolutely needs your unflinching trust to be able to protect you on your journey. Your intuitive guide will help you fulfill your potential when you learn how to wait patiently to connect with your intuitive powers. You will begin to trust your intuition and resolve your confusion. Waiting is not easy, but making the right decision is sometimes more difficult than waiting. Your subconscious where the higher-self resides will reveal a secret message to you and bring you into a "Divine Moment! The High Priestess is enumerated 2. Her path is associated with the time of waiting for the divine moment when a secret will be revealed to you. This number is related to making a choice. Making the right choice is not easy, but making the wrong choice could result in a karmic situation or troubled times. The number 2 is also related to the time when your intuition is pulled in two different directions. You are asked to wait for the divine moment when you get a thumbs up from your higher-self to make the right decision! The Element of Water: The High Priestess is associated with the Moon the keeper of secrets, hidden wisdom and intuitive powers. During the changing phases of the Moon, you may receive mixed messages between your heart and your head - The Red Flag alerting you that something is wrong! You trust your intuitive guide and will wait patiently until you receive a message from your intuition, hunches, visions, dreams, meditations and prayers. You will not take a risk or put your plans into action. Rather, you will lay low and wait until you get a thumbs up from your higher-self. You do not want to be alone and wait patiently because you feel restless and are unable to wait for a message from your higher-self. The High Priestess predicts an important event may occur within the next 30 days.

My accompaniments, my projects, my works in progress. Its a page more about me. A homepage section This is an example of a homepage section. Homepage sections can be any page other than the homepage itself, including the page that shows your latest blog posts. About me Who am I – I have searched and sought the answer to this for years – I am a daughter of the sublime darkness. I am one who is at home with demons and who finds solace as the sun sets and as the dawn rises. I am home in the twisted nether of the dark spiritual world and I find joy out of opposing views and challenges to my knowledge. I love to learn new things and I am passionate about learning about new ideas and ways of thinking. I have a passion for perspective and understanding the unique and various perspectives that are out there. I call myself a Demonosopher because it fits my path. Many would classify me as a Theistic Satanist. It is not a title I am opposed to, though unlike many Satanists I do not hate Christians and enjoy debating with them when the opportunity presents itself. I believe that the spiritual world is big enough for all faiths and paths and that the individual much honour the self and find where their heart calls to them. I also believe that ones spiritual path must not dominate and take away from their experience in the physical plane. It must compliment it and assist the individual with embracing their physical life here. It is a lesson I had to learn and it is one of the most important lessons I had to learn. I am a mother, a sister, a daughter, a granddaughter. I am a wife and lover of the darkness. I am a demonosopher which means I walk with and learn from Demons. I am High Priestess of a Coven of amazing women who I am so honoured to walk with. I am an author, an artist, one who loves to bend and mould my body. This is my journey and my story. I am a women who my whole life fought with the balance of the spiritual and the physical world. I was born with psychic abilities and also an ability to leave this plane and explore and travel other realms and dimensions. This often left me ungrounded and incapable of fully functioning in this world. I was a happy child who enjoyed life with spirit companions and friends. My teenage years were challenging as was forced to find a balance between living in this physical plane and embracing my spiritual abilities. It was a battle I am proud to say I won. I am the mother to two beautiful and amazing boys and the wife of an amazing and supportive husband. I love my path and I love what I do. I walk with demons and learn from them. I live a very spiritual life perfectly balanced with my physical existence. I have walked with demons my whole life, even before I knew what a demon was I worked with them. I are up beside them and it is through those experiences in may youth that I cultivated a lifelong passion for demoness and the spiritual darkness. It is where my heart finds home. I have spent my life walking with then, learning about them and now sharing them with those who are interesting to learn. I have had challenges in my life but it is there demons who have always pulled me through and walked with me through the darkness time. They inspired me to create Satan and Sons and walked with me every step of the way building it and crafting it.

Chapter 7 : The High Priestess – FreeBird Journeys

A Priestess is the embodiment of Infinite Love, Strength and Wisdom. She has the ability to heal others, to find personal happiness and inner strength and to be a lantern to illuminate the possibilities of the future.

What is a Priestess? She is a woman awake in her femininity and the power of the Goddess in her body temple. She is a spiritual activist doing the work of the Divine in the world. A seeker, a mystic, a poetess, a dancer, a lover, a warrior, a mother, a sorceress, a crone, the Priestess allows all of the ways of the Lady to live in her. She is a revolutionary force of kindness and compassion and strength and fortitude. Dancing with the elements, she practices self-love as a devotion to the Goddess. She is still and moving at the same time. From her connection to Source, she is a beacon of spirit and soul, radiating blessings around her and enlivening any being who comes into contact with her. Everyone is the artist of their lives, and the Priestess is trained to become a devotional artist of service and healing. She is rooted in her internal relationship with spirit and from there she can do inspired work in the world. A priestess can be a healer, a stay-at-home mother, a teacher, a CEO, a hermit; the particular expression of her service is as unique as each woman on the Path. When a woman reclaims this archetype, she enters into seriously playful intimacy with the powers that create our lives. She frees herself from the domesticated mind and roams purposefully in the wilds of her heart, letting her authentic nature guide her. She cultivates her life as a practical mystic, being a leader by her radical choice to fully inhabit her feminine nature. The Priestess is a pillar of support and a chalice of guidance as humanity writes this next chapter of the Great Story. It will open the portal of your heart, deepen your knowing of your purpose, and expand your reality. The program is designed as an experiential mystery school, with all studies based in the Western Mystery Tradition and indigenous shamanic practices of Europe and the Americas. This is education that develops your direct intuitive knowledge of Source – it is an answer to the wild invitation of the imaginal landscapes where reality is sung into being. We can develop relationship with self and nature to such a degree that we can fully realize our embodiment of this realm and live it in our communities. This is where true magic happens. Metamorphosis The first year is about a radical reorientation in your life. A year of unbecoming, of healing, and of letting go of paradigms that limit perception and possibility. It is a year of developing kinship with the natural world and intimacy with yourself. It will dismantle the structures of self that are ready to die so that your soul can be liberated and shine in all its glory. It is about softening and receptivity. Learning the wheel of the year through rituals that honor and celebrate the 8 High Holy Days Connecting with guides, plant, animal and spiritual allies Introduction into the Magical Arts Meditations to open perception a balance of active guided journeys and receptive Sacred Silence meditations Movement classes to free consciousness in the body Solitary and group exercises to increase psychic sensitivity and develop intuition Establishing relationships with the elements: Mastery This second spiral around the seasons takes you further into the dance of co-creation. Chapter 8 : The Journey of the Priestess

The Priestess Path Program The Priestess Path is an incomparable journey of personal growth and spiritual evolution. It will open the portal of your heart, deepen your knowing of your purpose, and expand your reality.

My mother having a huge bible with beautiful gold encrusted pictures of many of the biblical characters. I sat for hours and read and gazed at the beautiful pictures depicted of each saint. My connection to Jesus was a very strong one as well and would prove even stronger as I had my adult spiritual encounter at 20 with invoking the name of Jesus. I am not surprised that both Jesus and Mary Magdalene served as my direct representation of the Divine Masculine and Divine Feminine and have proved to be my strongest guides in this lifetime. To really understand who Mary is I ask you to open your mind and allow information to flow to you. I understand that many of you who will read this have preconceived notions and also family of origin teachings and also religious teachings handed down to you which you hang on to. It is quite alright if you do I have had to do a lot of sitting with information that I was taught and become open and ask myself. Is this a belief I was taught and does this resonate with me? I have come to many a new understanding and belief in allowing myself to be open and see what resonates with me and sits well within in my being. With this being said.. I have come to understand that I am part of the lineage of Mary Magdalene. Mary Magdalene was Mary of Magdala her hometown, a village on the shore of the Sea of Galilee She is also confused and lumped into several of the biblical stories of Mary, such as Mary the sister of Martha and the brother of Lazarus. The title of Virgin was often bestowed upon sexually active Goddesses. Perhaps Mother Mary was a temple priestess, thus making Jesus or Yeshua a divine child. There is even stronger evidence that Mary Magdalene was a temple priestess, so perhaps this is the true connection between Mother Mary and Mary Magdalene. This divine marriage rite practiced was called the hieros gamos and as you can see here it is representative of the alchemic elements and signifies the Star of David. Four pieces of Gospel evidence strongly point to Mary Magdalene as a temple priestess of the Goddess. In either case, two threads of strong symbolism link the name Magdalene to contemporary Goddess worship. It is a sacred ceremony allowing us to see that we are connected to Cosmic Creation and of course Mother Earth. We learned that our creation power and menstrual flow have powerful and medicinal medicine and healing power. I am so honored and blessed to be a Priestess and a teacher and a keeper of the Holy Grail and the sacred teachings of the Goddess. This is the work of a Holy Priestess. The Divine work of Mary Magdalene. The Divine work of the Goddess. As we exited the age of Pisces, which was the age of the unhealthy male, The age of unhealthy Patriarchal rule. We now entered into the age of Aquarius, which is represented by the woman holding the cisterns of water. This is the age of washing. It is the age of the Goddess a time for The Matriarchal. It is a time for us to bring back the age of balance. Women restore and create so it is no wonder why this time has come. The time has come not for women to hurt and dominate and discourage men. The time has come for women to love, and empower and encourage men to make the journey for balance. The men and women to come together in balance. A balance of the Masculine and Feminine Divine within. What an exciting time to be living! Mary Magdalene is a Divine Master, pertaining to the Priestess initiations into the sacred teachings of the Goddess. Her diverse heritage and true spiritual purpose is what makes Mary Magdalene so unique. A temple priestess who bestowed the power of the Goddess on those she initiated, Mary was also an apostle and consort of Jesus, and the Judean mission in the heart of the land where the Jerusalem Temple lay. Mary Magdalene works with the grid changes of the Earth that support our etheric reconnection to Lemuria and Atlantis. In doing this she supports the Earth and the rapid ascension process of our corresponding body and consciousness back into the 5th dimension. Her other main endeavour is to support the healing process currently occurring the East, specifically working to ease the pain arising from conflict issues within and between the Middle East and the West. In this unique template, the following symbols provide significant information in fully understanding the role of Mary Magdalene: The Crystal Skull holds the sacred key to the mysteries of St John and the Lemurian teachings of alchemy and etheric healing. The Cave symbolises going into the Earth or womb of the Goddess, as well as retreating into oneself, seeking a place of introversion. The Candle represents Mary Magdalene as holding the Light for others. The darkness of her skin â€” reflects her ethnic and spiritual background as well as personification of the Black Madonna. The Snake and Chalice â€” represent the sacred practices and teachings of the kundalini and its alchemical healing and enlightenment powers, bestowed within the body and consciousness to enable one to evolve, awaken, ascend and embody the cosmic or celestial lightbody system; the Christ Body. Sacred Symbol of Activation of the sacred lineage I hope you enjoyed your time here reading and celebrating this sacred time of clarity and understanding. If this information resonates with you perhaps you would love to come and be a part of our Goddess Community and take part in some of our Goddess Workshops.

Chapter 9 : Priestess Rising – A 21 Day Online Practice | Kundalini Dance

"The Inner Priestess Awakening program is a journey all woman should take. You will see life with new eyes and it's beautiful. Each day I was greeted with a visually stunning email that guided me home.

The archetypes are central to our lives, how we mother, how we partner with those we are intimate with and how we partner with life. Their aliveness within us determines how sexually magnetic and open we are and the depths of how much we can give and receive love. They are the essence of our creativity and vision. I have seen how I have gone through different phases of initiation over my life time. Different phases of life, being marked by empowerments through the different archetypes. Each archetype moving through my life giving me access to different aspects of feminine power. The Tantric Priestess The initiation of the tantric priestess took primary stage for me, over the course of about two decades, exploring divine union and receiving her gifts of ecstatic tantric empowerment, the priestess gave me the template of being a guide to others to reach divine. In her shadow I faced her aloneness, her connection with Divine so deep yet her connection with others remaining aloof. The Priestess can be put on a pedestal and then become untouchable. She, like all women, aches for love, to be loved and cared for and to love and care for. She was my gateway through the valley of death that took me through the initiation into the Wild Woman, the woman who needed to break down the structures of who she thought she was in order to become more fully herself. The Priestess becomes the Queen when she has come out of hiding. She has released her fear of being tortured or killed for embodying Shakti as a sacred force. Her inner wild woman has supported her to move through all the places she has stayed small or held onto sexual shame. She has taken off her cloak of invisibility and allows her mystical self to be seen in her community embodying her full radiant, Sacred Shakti presence. The Shakti Queen has embodied all the archetypes and she does not lead from a need to be revered, or looked up to. She knows to have a balanced culture everyone needs to take their unique place in the circle. She guides others to find their unique gifts so that they can take their place in the circle. She has come into her own inner authority, she knows because she knows and is a womb centred woman, guided by her instinctual, primal feminine knowing. So many women have become over masculinised and emotionally armoured in order to survive and to make it in the world. Embodying Shakti Queen is an initiation into the Great Softening, where we learn to claim, celebrate, and most importantly learn how to use our soft feminine power to bring grace and joy into our relationships, families and careers. I have spent the last nine months teaching this work, three rounds of the cycle online, live in a seven day retreat in Bali having just completed a six week series with an incredible group of priestesses in Melbourne. It has been an incredible journey and I am feeling so passionate about this exploration embodying and unleashing these six main erotic archetypes is so empowering to say the least. I will continue to deepen into and share this exploration throughout this year. Both live and online. I am calling this work Embodying Erotic Divinity, and am so excited to share this dance retreat this year in Salt Spring Island, Canada in early July and in Melbourne, Australia in late July and in London, UK and Slovenia in September the year as well as offering another round of the work online.
