

Chapter 1 : Museum Ludwig: Plan a visit to Cologne | Cologne Tourism

Museum of the City of Cologne for the 20th Century and contemporary art. The collection of the Museum Ludwig includes a high-level cross-section of classical modernism to contemporary art production.

Museums Museums One of the most famous museums of Cologne is the Museum Ludwig, which is one of the ten municipal ones. But there are also many ecclesiastical and private museums in this cathedral city. Once a year in autumn the "Long night of the museums" November 3rd, takes place. The museums then open until late at night. The Museum Ludwig is devoted to modern art from the beginning of the 20th century. There usually are two or more temporary exhibitions. Fondation Corboud is one of the greatest traditional picture galleries in Germany. There you can see altar pieces and crosses from the Middle Age as well as portraits from the 18th and 19th century. Highlight is the old Dionysos mosaic, which stretches over the lower floor. The art museum of the Archdiocese of Cologne, originally founded in 1824, since 1987, the museum has borne the name of its new location amidst the ruins of the late Gothic parish church of St Kolumba, thus providing a spiritual home to the collection. A triad of place, collection, and architecture, it allows the visitor to experience two millennia of western culture in a single building. In there the visitor can discover the history of Carnival from its beginnings to the present day. It also looks at stage entertainers, carnival music and alternative forms of carnival and thus reflects the different aspects of carnival culture in Cologne. The exhibition is set in a former prison of the Third Reich. On around 2, square metres of exhibition and event area on two floors various aspects of all kinds of national, international and olympic sports are shown in a permanent exhibition and several changing exhibitions. Visitors can themselves be active at numerous points throughout the museum. The exhibition pieces include furniture, ceramics, glass, jewellery and textiles. The founders of the museum contributed outstanding works of Buddhist painting and wooden sculpture, Japanese standing screen painting, colour woodcuts and lacquer art as well as Chinese and Korean ceramics to the original permanent collection. In the Medieval sacristan crypt, the Cathedral treasury is home to a rich find of church treasures dating as far back as the 4th century. The treasury works of art are made of gold, silver, bronze and ivory, and include holy relics, liturgical items, textiles, insignias of Archbishops, sculptures from the Middle Ages and Franconian grave finds. It is not only used as a point of orientation but is the pride of the people in Cologne. It can be seen from nearly every point in the city centre and from many places elsewhere.

Even going outside on the roof terrace is a nice city-view bonus. They have some of my favourite artists and works I like No dejan meter bol It has a temporary exhibition and other permanent; the two very curious. Comes in very handy to take shelter from the cold. Coming into the lobby this placed looked like it was going to be empty. Once inside you really can admire the architecture of the building. The art is modern so some of it may not be enjoyable or appreciated by all but art is art. A definite must visit if in Cologne. Huge collection of fantastic pieces on four floors. Architecturally interesting and a very pleasant space. Helpful and friendly staff. Must see if in Cologne and perhaps fit for more than one visit. The museum also has great windows and platforms for viewing Cologne from different angles. The temporary exhibitions are also exciting and the permanent collection is worth seeing at least once in your life as it is really unique. There was also a Salvador Dali on display! Staff was friendly and helpful, but they definitely shoo you out right at closing time! Loved the gallery and surrounding architecture. Close walk to a connected film museum, the riverside, and several bier gardens and cafes. The Chanterelle mushrooms in the risotto were like something out of a dream! The salads are to die for. The blueberry--lavender lemonade was unbelievable. Their own farm to table menu is extremely creative. A must go visit to the restaurant then go to the museum to walk it off.
