The More Milly Molly Mandy with the blue cover has coarser, thinner paper so the text and pictures from one side of the page can be partially seen through on the other side of the page. My daughter has given the Milly Molly Mandy book with the yellow cover as a gift.

She always wears a pink and white striped frock and sometimes a yellow hat. Milly-Molly-Mandy helps by running errands for the family. Milly-Molly-Mandy lives in a nice white cottage with a thatched roof with her large family. Father does all the gardening and grows vegetables for the whole family to eat and sell. Mother makes all the meals for the family and does all the washing. Grandpa Grandpa takes the vegetables to market using his pony Twinkletoes and cart. Grandma Grandma knits socks, mittens and nice warm woollies for them all. Uncle keeps cows to give them all milk and chickens to give them all eggs. Auntie Auntie sews frocks and shirts for them all and does the sweeping and dusting. Duckling In the story Milly-Molly-Mandy spends a penny she saves up three pennies and buys a duckling. Milly-Molly-Mandy gets locked in her bedroom by accident and spends the whole day crocheting Doris a bonnet. Milly-Molly-Mandy, Susan, and Billy often go around playing together. Billy Blunt lives with his mother and father who own a corn shop in the village. She lives with her Auntie, Miss Muggins, who owns a shop that sells sweets and material and other useful things that everybody in the village needs. This is where they meet Bunchy also buying material for a new dress. Unfortunately, there are only two types of suitable dressmaking material: Both girls want it but there is only enough for one dress, so Milly-Molly-Mandy decides Bunchy should have it because of her name and the two become friends. In one of the stories Miss Sheppard the headmistress went away and Miss Edwards becomes the headteacher. She moves into the school cottage. Mother agrees to this so Milly-Molly-Mandy is worried that she will have to be on her best behavior. In fact, teacher turns out to be completely a different person away from school; Billy Blunt and Little Friend Susan wish that she had come to their houses. Beyond the interaction of people with people, there is an interaction of people and animals with nature. She grew up in the countryside, and her experiences reflect this. She and her cat acknowledge the summer solstice , she acknowledges Mayday , and there are numerous references to nature in the context of a people who relied on the seasons.
