This complex boasts a whopping stores, including two that seem more appropriate where the climate is colder. Zumiez and Burton specialize in snowboarding shoes, clothes and other equipment. Zumiez has skateboarding clothes, too. Another interesting store is Kipling , a popular store for casual bags, purses and totes. Born in Antwerp, Belgium, in , Kipling is the place to snag luggage, too. An extra suitcase might come in handy to stash your new bounty for the trip home. The Orlando Outlet Marketplace is just a few miles from International Premium Outlets and has a manageable 40 shops to peruse. This is the place to shop for those running shoes because so many models hit the floor at clearance prices at Nike. Another Florida outlet mall that offers plenty of stores and a break from the thrill rides of area theme parks is the Orlando Vineland Premium Outlets. Close as it is to the Disney World complex, no one will bat an eye if you are shopping in your Mickey ears. In fact, it might just be expected. There are stores in this Mediterranean-inspired shopping village. Eagled-eyed bargain hunters can hit pay dirt by being persistent. Even closer to Disney is Lake Buena Vista Factory Stores , a complex of 43 shops that sells anything you might have forgotten at home: All of these items are part of the necessary uniform for theme park and beach excursions. It must be sheer coincidence that St. Augustine Premium Outlets is home to some pretty old stores, too - not the physical storefronts themselves but the retail roots, which go back as far as when Brooks Brothers got its start in New York City. Daytona Like a snowbird seeking warm weather, head south on I to find more outlets malls. Tanger opened in late and its complex of 75 stores definitely has a sparkly vibe. The complex and its stores pay homage to the s mall that once stood in its place. Also included in the complex is Marketplace at the Outlets and another 20 stores, including Whole Foods. Sawgrass Mills has everything from fashion and jewelry to electronics, sporting equipment, beauty products, home accessories, toys and more. There is something for everyone in this enclosed, air conditioned, and climate-controlled mall located just 30 minutes from Miami International Airport and 15 minutes from Fort Lauderdale-Hollywood International Airport. Florida Keys Continuing the southerly outlet exploration, you hit Florida Keys Outlet Marketplace , a busy open-air mall of Spanish-style architecture. Despite its name, the mall is on the mainland in Florida City , but Key Largo is just a straight-shot south 40 miles on Highway 1, also called the Dixie Highway. There are 50 stores here, among them designer shops and shoe emporiums such as Rack Room Shoes.

They are a great escape. The shortest little cruises available. Aruba cruises venture deep into the Caribbean. There are many departures throughout the year. Bahamas cruises go to Nassau, Freeport and sometimes to a private island. The islands are close to Florida and are often the destination of the shortest cruises. Cuba cruises out of Ft Lauderdale are available on three cruise lines. All itineraries include Havana. Others are on the variety of itineraries too. All are small, beautiful and utterly relaxed. An advantage of an Eastern Caribbean cruise is that the islands are relatively nearby, so you usually avoid long days at sea. Hawaii cruises are one-way to Honolulu. These long and adventurous trips are rare. Either way you get to experience one of the man-made marvels of the world, and visit island paradises along the way. South America cruises may go to the Amazon, down to Antarctica or all the way around the continent. The itineraries include a wide variety of ports of call. Southern Caribbean islands are farther from Florida so be ready to spend a day at sea to get there. Itineraries include stops at places like Barbados, Curacao or Bonaire. The Southern Caribbean is generally less overrun with tourists and a bit classier. Transatlantic cruises to Europe are available out of Ft Lauderdale every spring. Ships move to the Mediterranean or northern Europe for the summer and you can go along for the ride. Cozumel is a resort party island from which you can take an excursion to an ancient Mayan city. Grand Cayman is good for snorkeling and swimming with stingrays or turtles. Jamaica is just plain fun.

Chapter 6 : Great Florida Waterfront Hotels | VISIT FLORIDA

From the Florida Panhandle down the East Coast and back up the West Coast, there are enough Florida outlet malls to fill a rented RV with reduced-price finds. The middle of the state is not to be left out, and the Orlando area might just be the state's outlet mall capital with four complexes to explore.
