

Chapter 1 : Pisces - Gemini Love Horoscope & Compatibility on Tuesday, November 13,

Pisces is able to understand Gemini's frequent new ideas on a deeply intuitive level. Gemini is an Air Sign and Pisces is a Water Sign. The combination of an intellectual focus with an emotional, intuitive grasp of the world makes decisions much more solid; if these two can work together, they can achieve much.

The flowing water mingles with the gushing winds: Pisces and Gemini Personality Traits: Pisces is the twelfth and final zodiac sign. Individuals ruled by this sign are extremely sensitive, caring, and gentle. They are emotional beings who will go above and beyond their limits to help those around them, while expecting nothing in return. Pisces man and woman are also known for their patience and empathy towards other beings. Gemini is the third sign of the zodiac chart. These individuals have a certain charm about them and it sprouts from the innate unpredictability of their personalities. The Gemini symbol is of the Twins, Castor and Pullox. Gemini male and female are energetic and love to engage in exhilarating adventures. Pisces and Gemini Love Compatibility When Pisces and Gemini come together in love, it is a unique experience for both of them. The fish, on the other hand, appeals to the former due to its nurturing and gentle nature. Pisces man and Gemini woman and vice-versa are both different individuals and need some effort to get to know each other, but definitely have enough adaptability in their respective personalities to make their relationship work for the long haul. Pros and Cons of Pisces and Gemini Compatibility: Pros of the Pisces Gemini relationship: Both the Fish and the Twins are mutable signs, which is why it is not difficult for them to adjust to the whims and fancies of each other. Gemini zodiac sign, on the other hand, inspires the Piscean with its sharp intellect and strong ambition. If the two signs find a way to build strong mutual understanding, they can learn a lot from each other and grow significantly in the entire process. Cons of the Pisces Gemini relationship: This is difficult to handle for the Piscean, who cannot understand the sudden mood swings that the Twins goes through, for no apparent reason. Gemini prefers to be emotionally aloof and standoffish, which is a big area of concern for the relationship. Pisces is a sign that feels and expresses immensely and the emotional unavailability of the third sign of the zodiac might put them off on more occasions than one. The latter, on the other hand, is driven by the idea of freedom and cannot stand being caged down to anything or anyone. Hence, the neediness and emotional dependence of the fish might make the Twins turn bitter towards their partner and ultimately, towards the relationship they share. Pisces-Gemini is not a naturally compatible match on paper, but if the Piscean as well as the Gemini take up the responsibility of building mutual trust through clear communication in the relationship. Gemini and Pisces must take the time to understand each other thoroughly and if they do manage to stick together, their bond will be unbreakable over time. Pisces - Gemini Compatibility Meter.

Chapter 2 : Pisces and Gemini Compatibility: The Dreamer and the Communicator â†† Astromatcha

Gemini is one of the most rational signs in the zodiac and Pisces is the cureless romantic and one of the most emotional signs. When they do fall in love, they are rarely on the same frequency and often only one of them has true emotions for the other.

We will continue this series thinking about and commenting on Gemini and Pisces. Pisces is a Mutable Water Sign. Gemini is Mutable Air. Pisces is a fish going in two different directions. Gemini is at least two people waking up each morning. It should give you a sense of comfort, while you whistle in the dark. Plainly, the biggest difference is that one of these abides in the stratosphere, and the other can be comfy in the deepest oceanic depths. Willingness becomes then, the key word. How much do they care for each other? If Gemini demands selfishly to insist on not entering emotional quandaries, Neptunian insights, psychic discussions and topics about the subconscious, then maybe the Twin is not ready for the Fish. Conversely, the Fish would have to let the water stream from its gills and agree to go on an all-things-are possible trip soaring through the clouds. Piscean mystery has to do with the fact that they are both super wise, and somewhat out of it. Like a camera man who forgets he is a camera man and over identifies with the film, the Fish can forget. There is potential beauty here though. Framed positively, both the Fish and the Twin have to look at their harmonics. The Pisces can add humor and wisdom to an individual who can often be accused of being way too cool and easily disengaged. Gemini can lift the Fish from introspective moodiness and make it not so hard to figure. Gemini having to slow down and care, is not such a bad thing. Pisces might have to stop moping and gear itself for the magician of communication, just to stay with the program and enjoy a partner who can spread some joy. Pisces would want to avoid conflict. If they are forced into conflict, or to defend themselves, they can present a strongly felt, oceanic kind of suasion. They can get as nasty as they need to be, but what Gemini needs to watch out for is the fight that Pisces might keep waging, day after day after day, in other more quiet, but painful ways. The Twin is a debater extraordinaire, sarcasm personified. They are still always afraid that they might hurt too deeply. They often go too far and win the battle, but lose the war. This could be a very negative scenario. Life in the end is repetitive and mundane, and so is Romance itself. This factor asks the question: Pisces boring lazy evenings could be quite appealing to the emotionally overwrought Gemini. Keep Up The Interest Graph: The Fish can be SO internal, that it lives on the inside and becomes a reluctant participant. They can keep up the interest and also develop adaptability for each other. There are some signs that by their nature are more stable in their love interests and family concerns, as time goes on. A Fish can lose touch with itself sometimes, and then swim into the murky depths of a nightclub. It might be in the 7th year, or not. Gemini is very fluid and easily contemplates any possibility. The care that they have shown each other would be their protection. Mutual attraction can definitely happen right off the bat. If these two do not implode with a lack of tolerance, patience and the miasma of emotionalism, they could be a sweet couple. View this Video and check out www.

Chapter 3 : Gemini and Pisces: Love & Life Compatibility

Gemini and Pisces is often a bittersweet match, with equal parts harmony and frustration. The low scores represent the initial compatibility of this match. However, if you can both adapt to the others style this is a relationship which will improve steadily over time, and eventually rival any other match.

The Pisces woman is the kind of person that maps the world in terms of emotions. She will put you in that safe, warm, and welcoming place where you need to be so you can emotionally regroup and heal. Make no mistake about it. A Pisces woman can be very motherly, nurturing and cultivating. However, they can also feel so abused, so hurt, and so betrayed that they can become formidable enemies. However, I am talking about a very angry and very emotionally driven enemy. The reason I bring this up when talking about Pisces woman and Capricorn man love compatibility is because there is a Gemini involved. The Gemini personality, among all the horoscope signs, is the most easy to misunderstand. Nine times out of ten, the guilty party is not the Gemini, especially in the coming months of this year. The Gemini was just being himself. The problem is the other sign in the relationship. Keep reading below to get a clear understanding of Pisces woman and Capricorn man love compatibility. Pisces woman and Capricorn man love compatibility can lead to a very happy and fulfilling relationship. Pisces Lucky Numbers However, by being clear regarding the signs and potential pitfalls and traps in the relationship, you are in a better position at steering clear of these issues and making sure that your relationship is as happy and fulfilling as it can be. The Gemini Personality The Gemini personality has two sides. The horoscope sign of the twin is all about one singular looking person having two totally different personalities. The big misunderstanding about Gemini throughout history is that they turn on you, they stab you on the back. They wait until you can least afford it and they give to you. I would argue that this is an unjust depiction of the Gemini personality. The reality behind the Gemini is they are who they are. They act the way they act based on certain circumstances. The secret is you have to take the time effort and energy to truly know them. They neglect to look at the Gemini as a whole person. They fail to ask themselves: Do I really know him? In fact, it would be completely predictable and you would be fine with it. Pisces Love Forecast for In many cases, the partners pretty much set themselves up because they are looking at this idealistic version or this charming side of the Gemini. The secret to Pisces woman and Gemini man love compatibility is to truly know him. A key part of this is your emotional authenticity. Pisces women tend to be very nurturing. They tend to be very emotional and they know how emotion works. They know how to respond to emotional cues and they also know how to give out emotional signals. Use this to your advantage. By sending out emotional signals to your Gemini male partner you can fully map out the different aspects of his personality. One key thing to remember about Pisces woman and Gemini man love compatibility is that the Gemini is not intentionally trying to hide from you. What you see is what you get. The question is "are you looking in the right place? Another key factor to understand regarding Pisces woman and Gemini man love compatibility is the question of expectation. In many cases, they might end on the same place as you just need to give them time. You have to be at peace with this. This is how you prevent misunderstanding regarding the Gemini personality. The Gemini is your life give the right circumstances might present a totally different side of himself to you. This is a core fact of Pisces woman and Gemini man love compatibility. A lot of the compatibility of these two signs is riding on the Pisces woman. She has to be open-minded. She has to be patient and she also has to basically lead the relationship in terms of emotional authenticity and discovery. You have to truly know each other. You have to truly explore each other so you can understand each other more fully. Once you get to that level of understanding, a Pisces woman and Gemini man love compatibility often leads to a mutually rewarding and emotionally enriching relationship.

Chapter 4 : Pisces & Gemini « Profound Astrology

Gemini is an air sign and even though it earns them the rep of being flighty, they lightly touch down here and there. Pisces is just as changeable and is known to take on the traits of whoever they are with.

Due their self-sacrificing nature, most of them refuse to take a stand and opt to be submissive, all for the sake of love. Being a Mutable-Water sign, the emotions of Pisceans run deep. They are highly empathic or sympathetic and get hurt easily when others do not reciprocate. What do the stars have in store for Gemini and Pisces? Read on to find out more. Gemini Man And Pisces Woman Compatibility Pisces woman is content in getting to know others by quietly listening to them while a Gemini man is at his best when everyone in the room listens to his stories. From the onset, these two may not seem right for each other because one processes the world through his thoughts and the other through her feelings. She has this unique ability to understand people from all walks of life and to know instinctively what they need emotionally. This lady is looking for a romantic partner who will be sensitive to her needs while he seeks someone who is as intellectual and adventurous as he is. Gemini Woman and Pisces Man Compatibility Gemini woman is intelligent and has an infinite source of energy. She views life like a little child inside a huge candy store. Being a Mutable sign, this lady can blend well with different kinds of personalities and adapt well to any given situation. A good match will be someone who loves to travel, converses well and leaves her enough room for independence. It is not easy to figure out a Pisces man. He keeps his thoughts to himself and feelings at bay. This man thinks twice before he speaks and comes off as a snob, which he is not. For a woman to get him interested, he would test her by picking a topic and gauge how well she can converse. Gemini woman is well versed on various subjects and would definitely pass his test with flying colors. Both are Mutable signs so their love for variety and change are in sync. Travel is particularly uplifting to them. Both value their independence and so they will give each other enough room to do their own thing. However, emotional instability runs high for mutable sign people, so these two must draw strength from each other to keep their emotions grounded. On the other hand, Gemini, being an Air sign, finds displays of sentimentality and emotional attachment hard to handle. Pisceans get easily hurt when they feel they are not appreciated, so the Twins should learn to be more expressive to make things work.

Chapter 5 : Gemini with Pisces love compatibility horoscope

For Pisces and Gemini, compatibility can be as elusive as these two characters themselves. There is an instant physical attraction, and this couple can be good friends, but the path to romantic bliss is rather more complicated than that.

A love match between Gemini and Pisces will be an exciting experience for both. Let us look at this combination and discuss it further: Gemini and Pisces Personality Traits: The third sign on the chart, Gemini, is represented by the Twins, Castor and Pullox. This symbol, in itself, is the very crux of the Gemini personality, which has two very different heads. You can never know which head will rear in what situation. These charming, witty and highly versatile individuals form the most vibrant and vivacious lot of the zodiac. Pisces is the last zodiac sign and is the most emotional of the twelve. The fish believes in treating everyone with compassion and respect. A sensitive, shy and warm personality is characteristic of this zodiac sign. Gemini and Pisces Love Compatibility Pisces is a sign that is easily bored in stable and unchanging scenarios, and thus, is attracted to the unpredictability of a Gemini like a moth to a flame. Gemini always keeps Pisces on their toes, which is an extremely satisfying situation for the fish to be in. It loves to swim through changing waters and ever-flipping circumstances. It is worthy to note that both these signs have dual symbols. It shows that though they have different drives and outlooks on life, there is certainly enough similarity between them. This likeness can act as a cornerstone for them to build special and unique for themselves. Pros and Cons of Gemini and Pisces Compatibility: Pros of the Gemini Pisces relationship: Gemini and Pisces are both extremely creative and their highly imaginative minds blend well together. They are both mutable signs and thus, do not mind change and adapt to it with efficiency. Gemini man and Pisces woman and vice-versa give each other the time and space to change their behavior if necessary and do not hold that against their partner. Pisces, on the other hand, will feel strengthened due to the mental fortitude and resilience of the Gemini. The signs have mutual respect for each other and tend to move on from arguments rather quickly. They both have immense powers of forgiveness and do not let past hurt come in the way of their present equation with each other. Cons of the Gemini Pisces relationship: The Pisces couple is an emotionally dependent and sensitive individual, a fact that is lost many times on the erratic Gemini. The brashness of the latter can hurt the delicate sensibilities of the fish and creates constant friction between the two. However, if Pisces continues to rely heavily on the Gemini and carries emotional baggage at all times, it will drive the air sign away. Maintaining trust in the relationship can be quite handful for the compatibility of Gemini and Pisces signs. The sharpness of the Gemini and the intuition of the Pisces native can sometimes have a negative effect on their equation, as both of them will try to read between the lines, even when there is nothing more to the story being told. To make this relationship work, both Pisces and Gemini have to invest their effort into its development. On most occasions, building a strong, long-term relationship will not be a walk in the park for these signs. Gemini must understand the vulnerability that the Pisces holds on the emotional front, learn to protect their sensitivity and avoid exploiting it under any circumstances. If both parties are ready to work on their bond with doggedness, their relationship has a real and substantive chance. Gemini - Pisces Compatibility Meter.

Chapter 6 : 5 Brilliant Tips to Make a Gemini and Pisces Relationship Work

Pisces Man with Gemini Woman The relationship between Pisces men and Gemini women can be very difficult as they both have very different needs in a relationship. But both Pisces men and Gemini women are ready to communicate with one another and are very peaceful.

They can be attracted to each other due to the fact that they are ruled by Mercury and Jupiter, the same planets that rule their opposing signs. If they meet after these numerous disappointments, Gemini will not find Pisces very attractive, for they will no longer have any childish energy or charm. If their sex life is supposed to be functional, both of them will have to find a way to be a bit more grounded than they normally are. Gemini will have to realize the truth behind their own emotional nature and give in to true intimacy, while Pisces will have to accept the differences of their partner instead of searching for a soulmate with predefined qualities. They have completely different ways of dealing with their emotional relationships and their issues with self-image, and they will think of many different ways to bend the truth when they are together. They will laugh together, but this is a strange connection with a lack of real communication. Gemini can decide to make a joke and Pisces will laugh without really thinking about it. Pisces will then say something to poke their Gemini and Gemini will laugh without thinking about it. It is as if they never really listen to each other and sink into a strange pool of superficial relationships and small talk. If they start discussing their deep thoughts and feelings, they might end up in a conflict that none of them anticipated. We could say that they idealize each other, but only to a point of recognition. The only possible way for them to have a conversation with depth is in a situation in which they have absolute emotional intimacy, such as family members usually have. When they do fall in love, they are rarely on the same frequency and often only one of them has true emotions for the other. They represent ideal candidates for an unreturned love scenario and can be a nuisance to everyone around them if they end up in a relationship with no emotional balance. Even though this comes out of different views on creation, it can bond them in the act of creativity. Pisces would provide talent and inspiration and Gemini their resourcefulness and practicality. Although their interests might differ greatly, they could find activities to share due to their mutual need for movement of any kind. Pisces will normally dream about movement rather than actually move and this is exactly what their Gemini could teach them – how to make the first step. They are both usually positive enough to have a superficial enjoyable relationship and go well together at large social gatherings. As a strongly mental and a strongly emotional sign, their lack of understanding can be hurtful for Pisces and sometimes for both of them. If they do fall in love and start a romantic relationship, chances are they will not last very long. However, there is a beauty in the creative side of this relationship and if Gemini decides to truly listen to Pisces, they could help them use their talent in a constructive way. In most situations Pisces will just drain the energy out of their Gemini partner, especially if they end up in their fragile, needy mode that some other signs could understand much better than Gemini. If they are to succeed in their persistence to be together, they should work together and socialize a lot. The most important thing for both of them in this relationship is to reach for their emotional cores and give in to true intimacy, or they will never manage to communicate.

Chapter 7 : Gemini and Pisces Love Compatibility - www.nxgvision.com

The sign of Pisces exalts Venus, the goddess of love in the zodiac. The sign of Gemini is human and turned to practical, mental issues, often unaware of feelings and satisfaction they are in search for.

Pisces Compatibility with Gemini Over all Score: Their emotions are confusing. You may find the fact that the Pisces seems to live in a dream world pretty annoying especially since you live for today and the here and now. The Pisces moodiness and intensity will most likely keep you at bay. To make this one work the key is to concentrate on shared goals. Communication will have to flow and even though the two of you are in for a bumpy ride together, the experience will prove to be worth it. This will be a hard relationship to keep going, as things can get out of hand and quite emotional far too quickly for both of your likings. You cannot turn off how you feel, as Pisces will soon realise, being the one to take everything personally and to heart. Gemini will have to work out what exactly makes their partner tick to prevent any emotional or jealous outbursts from Pisces and often these things will stem right back over time. Once a Pisces is able to go with their feelings, you can create a magnificent bond, with neither of you straying and being happy to tell each other how good you are looking! Compliments and love can milk both of your emotions into something really positive and healthy and this is the area that will carry your emotions on a high note for time to come. Ensure above all you are compassionate and understanding to each other and you will be laughing for a long time to come. Gemini can easily captivate Pisces, but will have to tread easy on those delicate emotions for it to work. This ability to be different from day to day can be addicting for Gemini. Pisces intellect will also give Gemini a good run for his money. A Gemini and Pisces relationship may experience problems as both can possess dual natures which creates an uncertain match. Yet as both may forgive and forget easily a satisfying union is possible.

Pisces Man with Gemini Woman The relationship between Pisces men and Gemini women can be very difficult as they both have very different needs in a relationship. But both Pisces men and Gemini women are ready to communicate with one another and are very peaceful. Hence they give a tolerant and flexible advantage to their relationships. The Pisces men are very clever and are very intuitive. They are very tolerant in nature and they never judge people in any type of situation. Pisces men have amazing human and spiritual qualities and they try to find themselves in the difficulties of life. And they like to go with the flow of things.

Gemini Man and Pisces Woman This zodiac combination turns out to nothing good. The Pisces women are introverts and shy. They keep to themselves and want some special time of their own. Gemini men on the other hand socialize a lot and want to be given much attention. They do not consider one to have any personal time. This ideology of life does not strike instead clashes and goes separate ways. A great mix for friendship. Gemini and Pisces Relationship.

Chapter 8 : Gemini Pisces Compatibility – Gemini and Pisces

When Gemini and Pisces come together for love or any kind of relationship, it's surreal and also moody! But these two commitment-phobes actually find common ground together, and this relationship could really withstand the test of time.

This Water Sign has emotions to spare, so prepare yourself for long evenings of heart-to-heart talks with your Pisces pal. What they need is for you, as their friend, to reassure them and help them past their insecurities. They will always be open with their emotions, so the biggest favor you can do for them is return that trust by revealing yourself. Aries is a strong Sign who follows impulses without worrying about the consequences. Pisces is quieter, one of the dreamers of the Zodiac. In many ways, they contrast and on the surface may seem an unlikely alliance. When they combine in a close, friendly way, though, they are each able to balance each other. Aries is a leader and initiator, and in a friendship with Pisces often becomes the protector of their more gentle comrade. Pisces is also ruled by Neptune. Mars brings action and energy to the Aries-Pisces friendship. Aries can help Pisces bring dreams into reality. Even though these two elements are opposite, they can combine to make a great team by using emotion and physical impetus to get things done. Pisces can help Aries relax a little and learn to be more passive in approach, while Aries teaches Pisces to go out into the world and begin to take the kinds of risks that make life more exciting. Conversely, too much Fire can boil the Water away and leave Pisces stressed-out. Aries and Pisces must cooperate to ensure their balance is maintained. Pisces receive their greatest joy from helping others. Aries, on the other hand, is the one who comes up with the ideas in the first place and assigns the roles to everyone else. Different aptitudes and interests help Aries and Pisces work toward a shared goal and achieve a positive end. The best aspect of the Aries-Pisces friendship is that they really have a lot to learn from each other. Pisces shows Aries how to empathize; Aries teaches Pisces how to make dreams happen rather than just thinking about them! The ability to each provide what the other needs makes theirs a truly reciprocal friendship. They are two positions apart within the Zodiac, and such signs tend to have karmic ties and empathy for each other. Taurus is more practical, prefers the facts and a clear direction, while Pisces is idealistic and looks for the feeling of a situation. Both signs work toward a harmonious relationship and are basically tolerant and sympathetic people. Taurus can help Pisces fulfill dreams and ambitions – to turn ideas into reality. On the other hand, Pisces offers gentleness, kindness and sympathy which Taurus admires and appreciates. Taurus is interested in material comforts and at times cannot understand the simplistic attitude of Pisces. Once they can understand and overcome this difference, theirs will be a very rewarding friendship. Taurus is ruled by Venus, and Pisces is ruled by Jupiter and Neptune. When Venus and Neptune meet, a beautiful spiritual connection is made. Both of these celestial bodies vibrate with feminine energy. Together, they represent an idealistic friendship that borders on the divine. Pisces is also ruled by Jupiter. This adds a masculine energy to the combination and represents philosophy, expansion and excesses. The nature of this planetary combination offers a dream-come-true friendship with harp players and white fluffy clouds. The downside is that this can be called an illusion. Pisces, as a Water Sign, is born to connect mankind, and when it blends with Taurean Earth there is no stronger natural bond. In turn, Taurus may have a more rational view of life, less prone to the emotional ambiguity of Pisces. Taurus can help Pisces stabilize their sensitivity. It will be easy for them to find a way to overcome their differences. Taurus is practical and focused, but Pisces likes to move from project to project as feeling dictates. Pisces will be very supportive of the things that interest their Taurean friend. In turn, Taurus needs to give Pisces the freedom to enjoy other things. Pisces can show Taurus that mutability is sometimes better than a fixed determination to do things one way. The best aspect of the Taurus-Pisces friendship is that they have different emotional natures that complement and harmonize very well with one another. The overall empathy and commitment these two signs value in friendships is what will keep the ties strong and long-lasting between the Bull and Fish. Pisces and Gemini When Gemini and Pisces form a friendship, it can be a mutually empathetic relationship as both Signs are dual natured. Both Signs are very open-minded and adaptable and, at times, inconsistent. The keyword to this relationship is flexibility. Gemini and Pisces make very good friends, as they understand the duality in each other. Pisces is more intuitive and sensitive; Gemini must be careful to think before they speak and say something that might offend the emotional Pisces. Even when they do have problems, these friends can forgive and forget easily. Both can get over their arguments quickly, and neither bear grudges. Gemini is ruled by Mercury, and Pisces is ruled by Jupiter and Neptune. Jupiter is about teaching and understanding, which provides the empathy and ideals associated with the Piscean nature. Mercury is all about quick wit, innovation and invention. Whenever Gemini comes up with a new idea "as happens all the time" Pisces is eager to go along with their friend and understand the concept from an intuitive level. This partnership operates via intellectual and emotional channels. There is always a lot going on, and this tends to be a very flexible and progressive friendship. Gemini and Pisces are both Mutable Signs, thus compatible. Both Signs are adaptable, flexible and changeable. When these two spend time together, it will be a true team effort without one taking the lead. Although, if Gemini gets bored with something through lack of intellectual stimulation, Pisces will soon follow suit and move on. The best aspect of the Gemini-Pisces friendship is their mutual interest in cultivating their knowledge and utilizing their intellect. They are well-matched in their flexibility. Their shared interests and similar personalities makes theirs a very companionable friendship. Both Signs are basically tolerant and sympathetic. Pisces can teach Cancer to appreciate and instill creativity and spirituality into their choices. In turn, Cancer can help Pisces put their utopian theories into practice. This friendship can enjoy an amazingly strong and multifaceted bond. Cancer admires and appreciates. Cancer is interested in material comforts and a rich home, and at times cannot understand the simplistic, spartan attitude of Pisces. Once they can understand and overcome this difference, theirs will be a very warm friendship. Cancer is ruled by the Moon, and Pisces is ruled by Jupiter and Neptune. When the Moon and Neptune come together, an almost spiritual connection can be made. The nature of this planetary combination offers a utopian connection, one that is heavy with emotion. However, Cancer must be careful not to cramp the floating Fish, as Pisces will suffocate under too many demands on their time and attentions. Cancer and Pisces are both Water Signs. Pisces is born to connect mankind, and when they come together with Cancerian intuition and nurturing, there is no stronger bond. Things they do together could be substantial and beneficial, imbued with a sympathy for the Earth and for humanity. In turn, Cancer has a stable view of life but still understands the emotional ambiguity of Pisces. Cancer can help Pisces stabilize their ephemeral nature. It will be easy for these friends to find a compromise, though, and to move forward when they share a goal. Cancer wants to get things started, while Pisces likes to float from idea to idea as the feeling takes them. Cancer needs to give Pisces some degree of freedom and not get too clingy. Pisces can show Cancer that completion is sometimes better than initiation, and that compromise without struggle can pay off. The best aspect of the meeting of Cancer and Pisces minds is the similar emotional nature the two Signs share. Both have a great capacity as teacher and student, and they complement and harmonize with one another very well. The overall empathy and commitment these two signs value in all their friendships is what will keep the ties durable between the Crab and Fish. Pisces and Leo When Leo and Pisces form a friendship, each friend will enjoy the new dimension that the other brings to life in general. Leo is a strong and outgoing Sign, doing what they want and taking command of the surrounding world. Pisces is quieter and more introspective. In many ways the two are contrasts, yet both are dreamers at heart. Leo is a leader and, in a friendship with Pisces, often becomes the protector of their more gentle partner. Pisces, in turn, gives Leo the audience they require for their ambitions and social performances. Pisces is a Sign that, like water, fills whatever container it is poured into. Leo is ruled by the Sun, and Pisces is ruled by the Planet Jupiter. The Sun emanates life and a focus on the Self to the Leo-Pisces friendship. Neptune is about big pictures, ideas, and illusions.

Chapter 9 : Pisces Man and Gemini Woman â† Astromatcha

Love for Gemini woman and Pisces man is a thing of calm and beauty. As they both melt away in the warmth of their love, Pisces teaches his little Gemini butterfly to see joyful dreams and she teaches her Pisces dreamer to put some adventure in those dreams and bring them to life.

Imelda Last Updated April 14, , 5: Just like with certain match ups in the horoscope, Gemini and Pisces on paper can get along quite well in a relationship match. Gemini is famous for being open-minded, curious and liberal. Pisces on the other hand, is known for being emotionally authentic and emotionally aware. Pisces can also be very artistic. Put these two together and you might have the potential for really great friendship and great relationship compatibility. In my experience when it comes to Gemini and Pisces compatibility there is usually a situation where both partners fully support each other and nurture and encourage each other. These are the best relationships between these two signs. This is the exact same problem that wrecks most Gemini Capricorn relationships. When it comes to Gemini and Pisces reality has its own rules. This is definitely true when it comes to Gemini and Pisces compatibility. If you are considering a romantic relationship that involves a Gemini Pisces partnership you should find this report extremely useful. Read it carefully and keep the following factors and trends in mind in the coming months. Just how well matched are Gemini and Pisces in a non-romantic friendship? Well, in a stress free or relatively no stress environment, Gemini and Pisces as friends can get along really well. Pisces can be very emotionally engaging. Gemini can be emotionally supportive and this does wonders for the friendship compatibility between the two. When you put these two together, you can have a very emotionally nurturing relationship. The problem is when Pisces becomes too emotional and this can have negative effects on the Gemini Pisces friendship. The problem with Pisces personality types is they can get quite clingy. They can get quite emotionally dependent. When matched with the Gemini personality traits and characteristics there can be real problems. The problem with Gemini in a friendship with Pisces is that they continuously change. It only takes certain triggers and you see a different aspect of Gemini personality. Although we are not talking about bipolar person here the reality is that this aspect of their personality can make a Pisces question whether they know the person at all. Gemini and Gemini Compatibility Pisces can get so focused on the main aspect of the Gemini personality that they lose sight of that other side to them. This is where Pisces and Gemini friendships can fall apart. If you both Gemini and Pisces know how to draw these boundaries properly and you setup these rules, your friendship can sustain you for life. You have a lot to work with. Pisces is very emotional. Gemini can be very nurturing. Pisces can be emotionally nurturing and honest. If all these traits and characteristics are put together, and both people have enough depth, then you can expect to have a very meaningful and enriching friendship for a long time to come. The problem is these emotional triggers. The key to making a Gemini Pisces friendship last for the long term is managing these emotional triggers and for Gemini that means reducing stress in the friendship. Let me be extremely frank for a moment. Pisces expresses himself or herself through lovemaking because there is an emotional release involved. Pisces are very big on emotional connections. They are very big on emotional expression. Not only can they affirm and comfort you with their words, but they back it up with action. Gemini, on the other hand, can be a lot of fun. With that said, Gemini can change. So if things kind of fall into a pattern, Gemini would be the first to go. So keep that in mind especially if you are trying to seduce a Gemini man for a romantic relationship. Gemini Zodiac Signs and Pisces Compatibility As you should understand by now, Gemini can change quite a bit when it comes to their compatibility with Pisces signs. Understanding the Gemini Man in Love It only takes few triggers and Gemini will be off on what seems like completely different direction. Pisces can get depressed when this happens. Pisces can feel really emotionally let down with the Gemini in their lives. Although Pisces is not as bad of a drama king or queen as Virgo, Pisces can get a really bad case of the blues when they feel they are being messed about by their Gemini partner. This person is really emotionally giving and most importantly, draws a close emotional connection that can sustain you and help you mature. The saddest part of it is once you lose the Pisces, they are gone for good. They are all about emotional intensity. Gemini on the other hand, tend to be emotional chameleons. They like to have emotional map of the people around them and this allows them to be at ease. Gemini's are also very open-minded and openhearted. Put these two together, they make great art together. Art is all about empathy. Art is all about emotional intensity. Art is definitely about emotional authenticity. Put all these together and you make great art. Gemini Creativity and Pisces Passion Pisces can be very passionate. What do you expect from a water sign that is really big on emotion? Pisces can get all-in to business and produce really good results. In fact, they can even produce better results than Taurus or Capricorn and these are quite formidable earth signs when it comes to business and careers. Pisces are all about passion. Pair these together with Gemini creativity and curiosity and you might have an unbeatable team.