Renewing your subscription after logging in is just a click away. Your renewal order will be added to the end of your current subscription and your mailing label will reflect your new expiration date. We will contact you well in advance of your subscription expiration date by mail or email so that you will not miss any future issues. If you feel that you have missed renewal notices or have recently moved, be sure to change your address. You may request to renew your subscription by mailing your order to: RC Car Action PO Box Palm Coast, FL Renewal orders should be received at least eight weeks prior to subscription expiration to ensure your magazine is delivered without interruption in service. Return to Top Temporary delivery suspension If you would like to temporarily stop your subscription for any reason, you can provide email us the dates you want your service to be suspended and resumed. Note that your request must be received at least eight weeks prior to the issue cover date you want your suspension to start. For example, if you want to suspend delivery starting with the June issue, your request must be received by early April. Return to Top Switch to digital edition Remaining issues in your paid print subscription may be transferred to the digital edition at no additional cost. Please email us to make your request, the remainder of your issues will be in digital format. You will receive an email notification from RC Car Action requesting your preferred device and also providing instructions to access your first digital issue. Please disregard any bills you may receive after cancelling your subscription, and accept any issues already in the mail with our compliments. If you purchased your subscription via an agency, direct your refund request to the agent. Your first issue will arrive 6 to 9 weeks after receipt of your subscription order. See schedule for delivery of subsequent issues below. Delivery to mailing addresses outside of the United States may take an additional two weeks for arrival. Log into your account to verify if your name and address are correct before contacting us. Other factors that may cause a missed issue are: A recent change of address Your subscription has expired or has not yet started Your payment has not yet been received Postal delivery delays due to severe weather If none of the above applies, report the missed issue online after logging in. We will extend your subscription to compensate for the missed issue. Damaged issues If your issue frequently arrives damaged and your mailbox is sufficiently sized, check with the post office to determine that your magazine arrives there in good condition. You may file a complaint with your post office by requesting a postal tracking or Electronic Publication Watch. If this is an isolated event, report a damaged issue online after logging in. We will extend your subscription to compensate for the damaged issue. Return to Top Duplicate issues If you are receiving duplicate copies it is possible you have two active accounts. Please locate the account number on each issue mailing label and email us your request, including both account numbers and indicating which one you would like to retain. We will combine both subscriptions into one and extend service accordingly. Your new expiration date will appear on your magazine mailing label. Return to Top Continuous Service Guarantee Our Continuous Service program takes all the hassle out of renewing your magazine subscription. It avoids service interruption by automatically renewing your subscription at the best available rate. The program terms were stated in your original order offer. You will receive a clearly marked annual reminder about 60 days before your credit card is charged or a bill is sent. Otherwise, your automatic renewal order will be entered and your credit card will be charged, or a bill will be issued. Your payment will guarantee uninterrupted service until the new expiration date of your renewed subscription, which will be printed on your magazine mailing label. If you received a bill for your continuous service renewal, pay now after logging in to continue to enjoy your magazine without interruption. If you prefer to receive traditional renewal notices instead of being enrolled in our Continuous Service program, you can change your Continuous Service option after logging in at any time.
