This is the first book I have read by this author. It takes thousands of years to complete the structures. Much more time must pass before the reasons for the mission become known to the intended visitors. Chapter 1 begins on Edgeworld where the My Review Number Chapter 1 begins on Edgeworld where the main character, Krison Carmarch, is imprisoned in a small cell. He is accused of murdering a shipmate on a starship. Krison is a Tel who is an enhanced human. He has special telepathic powers called mindshield, physically very strong and can operate a warp drive on space freighters. Krison needs to break out of prison in order to avoid a death penalty. Krison ends up running for his life on Edgeworld being chased by an unknown alien who either wants to kill him or get information out of his mind. People who enter the city never come out for unknown reasons. It was built long ago and seems to have an unusual effect on the mind. The reasons for the unusual mission are not clear and where they are going is dangerous. The story continues to evolve as the starship nears its destination. Krison finally learns the true purpose of the mission and the threat that looms over all alien life forms from another dark and mysterious alien species called Crixons who want to destroy all life forms different from themselves. I give this book Four Stars because the story is original, unique and interesting. The writing and dialogue are good. The plots unfold to explain the mysteries surrounding the mission. The characters are memorable and different. Krison is full of faults brought on by past events, but in the end he does the right things for the right reasons and fights to save all life forms in this universe from the dark and shadowy Crixons. Keep reading good science fiction and let me know when you find an interesting novel or author.

Laser Books, No. 57, This is the final book in the "Laser" series of science fiction adventure novels. This title is very rare, as it was never distributed to bookstores, only to mail subscribers to the series.

First Edition, Paperback Original. This is a review copy, with review slip. Light corner crease, light wear, otherwise nice.. Uncommon paperback with Dust jacket. Uncommon with Dust Jacket. The cover art on the dustjacket is different than the book. Wear, sunning to spine, spine split on DJ. Pocket Book , first printing. This is an incredibly nice copy, almost as new. It would be difficult to get a nicer copy than this. None of the puzzles are worked. Few of these books survived as they were tossed after the puzzles were completed. Light wear, chips on spine ends of dust jacket.. No one knows who he is. Doc, his crew, and a blonde war correspondt risk everything to find out. But to get the answers, they must face the death-dealing powers of a madman on the nighttime streets of a city known for its blloodthirty killers - Yokohama! First, they must escape from the enemy. Second, they must risk their lives to thwart the horrifying year-old evil of Peterpence-before it destroys the entire world! This is one of the last three of the series that was not widely distributed except by subscription. Some page disturbances, light wear, no major creases on covers.. The 11th Pocket Book, this is the first printing as number 11 states 2nd printing but the first printing is the unnumbered Pocket Book which is rare. The book is nice and square. Very minor wear, minor spine rub. This is a nice copy of this book, better than normally found. The front cover has no major creases, a few pages have some disturbances.. Classic novel of the characters who inhabit Cannery Row by the sardine fisheries. Light wear on Dust Jacket, still uncommonly nice.. Ron Ace s 66, This is a nice copy..
