While the Yankees had two strong candidates in Miguel Andujar and Gleyber Torres, Ohtani was two players in one for the Angels, something not seen in nearly years, since the early pitching and hitting days of Babe Ruth. That is too much in my book, even though Ohtani did not play as many games as Andujar. This is about sudden impact. That is what Ohtani presented as a pitcher and a hitter over games. He is a baseball freak, a diamond wonder. Ohtani was with a 3. His pitching was limited by a torn right elbow ligament that required surgery Oct. As a DH, the lefty-hitting Ohtani batted. Andujar produced plate appearances over games but no appearances on the mound. How special was all this for Ohtani? He became the first player with 15 homers as a hitter and 50 strikeouts as a pitcher in the same major league season. Ruth struck out just 30 that season. He blasted 29 home runs and drove in runs. Ruth was 24 when he accomplished that two-way success. Ohtani turned 24 this past season. He was a slugger who was going to carry baseball on his broad shoulders, a legend in every way. That is something truly unique. Ohtani said he is making excellent progress from Tommy John surgery and that offers much hope for the future as he will continue to be a two-way star. He also said he wants to play more in the future. That is something I need to work on and that is one of my goals to stay healthy for a full season and help the team from Day 1. He could become a pitching force more than once a week, a spot starter on the mound. Or if they continue to let him start and let him excel in that fashion, either way Ohtani will be in a class by himself as a pitcher and hitter, something the writers recognized. For all the numbers, for all the analytics in the world, when you are mentioned in the same breath as the iconic Babe Ruth, not only as a hitter but as a pitcher, you stand out among the talented crowd. Shohei Ohtani Getty Images Ohtani received of first-place votes. Andujar got the other five. Shohei was a show every time he came to the plate or threw a pitch. Ohtani becomes the fourth Japanese player to win rookie of the year honors and the first since Ichiro Suzuki in Give Ohtani credit too for making key adjustments he had to make as he came over from Japan. The biggest was he got rid of his leg kick to be quicker with his swing against major league pitchers. Keeping his front foot down allowed him to drive the ball out of the park with his Darryl Strawberry-like swing.

Click Here for detail. Teams are typically boys and girls and this is our largest division typically year to year. There is a Tee that is used all year, and the players work base to base on offense. Defensively players are rotated through each game over the entire field. For in season playing rules, Click Here. Players must be 6 years old to play. Any player that is 7, will be placed at the rookie level if they do not assess high enough to be placed in farm baseball. Rookie Baseball is machine pitch. To see an example of pitching, see our Rookie FAQ section. The first half of the season players that do not get a hit off the machine in game, will use a Tee. For a complete set of rules and description, Click Here. There is no mechanical pitching machine like rookie, however there is a combination of player with pitch counts and coach pitching. The final two weeks of the season there is purely player pitching. Typical age for this division is 8 year olds. There are some advanced 7 year olds in this division, as well as any 9 year olds that do not assess to the Minors Baseball Division. Click Here for a list of rules for Season Play. Typical age for this division is 9 and 10 year olds. Some 11 year olds that assess may play in this division as well. Pitching distance is 46 feet. Bases are 60 feet. For in season rules, Click Here. There are some 10 year olds that will play in this division, based on advanced Assessment Scores. The pitching distance is 46 feet in this division and bases are 60 feet. As with each division of player pitch, pitch counts will apply. Click Here for in season playing rules. Pitching distance in this division is 50 feet, while bases are 90 feet. Leading off is allowed in this division as well. Final decisions on player placement are determined by the Player Agent and Board. Pitching distance is set to 60 feet 6 inches, with a local league option to shorten to 54 feet for regular season play. Bases are set at 90 feet. More often 15 and All placements are determined by prior season play and current year assessments.

Our league, Poughkeepsie Babe Ruth, is affiliated with Cal Ripken for the twelve and under divisions and Babe Ruth for thirteen and up. Also, our Majors players play on our field which is larger than the Minors but not quite as big as a big league field. The pitchers mound is 50 feet away and the bases are 70 feet apart. A big league field is 60 feet from the pitchers mound and 90 feet between the bases. What are your league boundaries? The official boundaries for the league are Fishkill to Hyde Park. My child participates in another sport also. When are the games usually played? Tee ball games are played twice during the week. Rookie, Minor and Major games are played one day during the week and one game on Saturday. We have been in contact with Soccer to coordinate scheduling for our younger divisions. How long is the season? Opening day is usually the third Saturday in April and play continues through early June with playoffs for our Minor divisions on up. Are there other opportunities to play besides the regular season? We have a Fall Ball program aimed at ages 8 to 12. Emphasis is on fun and instruction. Practices begin mid-August and play continues until the end of October. My child has no equipment. What will they need to start? At the very least your child should have their own baseball mitt. Of course, each child loves to have their own unique bat, so to find out how to choose the right bat please check our website for our guidelines from Babe Ruth International. A bag to carry all of their gear is recommended for Rookies on up. We provide shirts at every level but not baseball pants. Two pair of gray pants are recommended, but white or black can work as well. Belts and socks are provided to players in the Minors on up. For cleats, be sure they are made for baseball, not soccer. Baseball cleats allow the player to pivot on their front toe for batting, while soccer cleats do not. Is there anything they can do to fulfill this requirement? As a not-for-profit organization we rely on volunteers. Our biggest need is help in the concession stands at Red Oaks Mill field, but we have a number of committees that may be able to use their assistance as well. My child is 6 but has been playing baseball with his big brothers for a while now. Does he have to start in tee ball? It was felt that T-Ball was not appropriate for most 6 year olds. My child is 8 but seems ready to play with 9 and 10 year olds in the Minors Division. How would that work for registration? Can you give me more information on the Rookie Division? There will be two divisions for Rookie. Some of the details are still being worked out but the current plan is: As the season progresses, the players will begin to pitch as well. Rookie AA Player Pitch will play games with umpires and have playoffs like the older divisions. We believe this will be more interesting and exciting for the players and better prepare them for Minors. This division will play under the Cal Ripken 8 year old All-Star rules which are similar to Minors rules. See 8U Rules for more information. There will be an evaluation day for all 7 and 8 year olds to determine which division is best for the 7 year olds and also to allow us to make balanced teams for the Rookie AA Division. For more details see our Rookie Division page. My child is 10 and had a huge growth spurt. Should he stay in the Minors or can he move up to the Majors? Our league is all about allowing players to challenge themselves. Do you allow players to "Play Up" into the next division or in a younger division? Every season there are players that would like to play at the older age division and the younger age division. Please contact us info@pokbaberuth.com. My son is 12 and pretty good. Are there tournament opportunities? Our All-Star teams have captured the 8U, 10U and 11U Division championships in the last couple of years and have advanced to state tournaments. In addition, our leagues are incorporating more travel-team style games in the regular season to expose players to other area leagues. If my child has a problem with another player who do I talk to? Where do I sign up? Check out the website registration page at <http://www.pokbaberuth.com>. Yes, of course we encourage children to play on both. What happens if there is a conflict between practices and games? Let your coach know your schedule. Will my child be penalized for missing practices or games? No, we all have a busy schedule. Just you keep your coach informed. Remember your coaches volunteer their time. We are a non-profit c 3 organization. All donations are tax deductible.
