

Chapter 1 : Sign in - PAWS - University of Saskatchewan

About the University of Saskatchewan. At the heart of Saskatoon, on Treaty 6 territory and the homeland of the Mā̃tis, is the University of Saskatchewan, one of Canada's top research universities.

After you have applied Visiting Research Students VRS , who are students wishing to come for a period of supervised research only stays of up to 12 months , follow a different application and admission procedure. If you are applying as a VRS, please follow the link below. Deadlines - Academic units set their own deadlines for applications. Keep in mind that academic units make decisions on scholarship and fellowships at set times during the year. These vary from unit to unit and may be different from application deadlines. Admission requirements - Requirements for graduate programs will vary. Application process - Some departments require you to identify a potential supervisor or research area before applying and some require additional documentation. Applying What to expect once you begin: The online application takes about 20 minutes to complete. You may start an application, save it, and return to it any time before the application deadline. Instructions on how to do this are provided on that page. You will need to have ready: The names and email addresses of your referees Your educational history from all post-secondary institutions you have attended. Transcripts from all post-secondary institutions a student has attended will be required. This payment is non-refundable and processing on an application will not be done prior to the payment being received. First, you will be asked to choose the application type. Not all academic units offer admission to all terms. Refer to the application process of your program. Read this section carefully and complete all parts of the application. The blue icon on the Application Checklist will turn into a check mark when you have completed a section. It will take you to the application fee payment screen. We recommend that you pay your application fee online at the time of application to avoid any delays in the processing of your application. You may pay online with a credit card or you may click on Alternate Payment to use one of the other options.

Chapter 2 : Research - University of Saskatchewan

The University of Saskatchewan is an outstanding institution of research, learning, knowledge-keeping, reconciliation and inclusion. It's is a place where you can learn, grow and be part of a community that recognizes how beautiful knowledge can be.

Rhodes Scholars[ edit ] In all, 69 graduates of the University of Saskatchewan have gone on to receive the Rhodes Scholarship. These include Wilbur Jackett and Mark Abley Wikinews has related news: Canada pursues new nuclear research reactor to produce medical isotopes Over the years, some of the most prominent projects at the University have been associated with the Department of Physics. In , the university built the first betatron facility in Canada. The success of these facilities led to the construction of a linear accelerator as part of the Saskatchewan Accelerator Laboratory in and placed university scientists at the forefront of nuclear physics in Canada. The Plasma Physics Laboratory operates a tokamak on campus. The university owns the Vaccine and Infectious Disease Organization. Many faculty members have national and international scholarly reputations second to none. Consequently, they are magnets to Canadian and overseas graduate students and researchers. Crown in Saskatoon The University of Saskatchewan has numerous royal and vice-regal connections. A handful of University alumni were invited to a reception for Canadians at Buckingham Palace ahead of that visit to Saskatoon. The Diefenbaker Canada Centre, also on campus, houses original correspondence between the Queen and Prime Minister John Diefenbaker , and has staged such exhibits as Happy and Glorious: Four senior members of the Board of Governors had been dismissed after three among them abstained from a vote of confidence in university president Walter Murray. Murray was under scrutiny for his maintenance of University finances. Before becoming Lieutenant Governor, Gordon Barnhart was university secretary and professor in Canadian politics. Sylvia Fedoruk was university chancellor, professor in oncology and associate member in physics. Grant MacEwan , before becoming Lieutenant Governor of Alberta, was director of the School of Agriculture and professor of animal husbandry at the University of Saskatchewan. Honorary Doctor of Laws degrees have been conferred by the university on vice-regal representatives. Gordon Barnhart , who served as Lieutenant Governor of Saskatchewan from to , was appointed acting president of the university. Financial, management, as well as administration affairs are handled by the Board of Governors, which comprises 11 members. The University of Saskatchewan liaison between the public and professional sector is dealt with by the university Senate, a body of representatives. Finally, University Council is made up of a combination of faculty and students. As of , faculty and staff total 7,, and student enrolment comprised 15, full-time students as well as 3, part-time students. In other words, to make a University where no University existed. His term spanned the final years of the Great Depression, the Second World War, and the hectic, early post-war years. Walter Murray said to him "Do not be appalled at the absence of all you have been accustomed to find in other Universities. We have all had to start with nothing.. You have virgin soil to break. Thompson leadership brought innovation, insight and research to new areas beginning with rust resistant varieties of wheat which curtailed the catastrophic outbreak of rust. He also was instrumental in developing in Saskatchewan a comprehensive medicare program. His popularity and qualities of administrator and teacher served the U of S well during his presidency. Diefenbaker Centre, and the groundwork was laid for the new agriculture building. George Ivany Internationalization Award, to be presented annually, was established in to acknowledge Dr. She was the first female appointed to the position. She was removed from office by the Board of Governors on May 21, , in the aftermath of the temporary firing of a tenured professor. Gordon Barnhart â€” Barnhart served as Lieutenant-Governor of Saskatchewan from to and is the first former holder of that office to serve as president of the U of S. He was appointed in an acting capacity by the Board of Governors on May 21, Professor Stoicheff joined the University in as a faculty member of the English department. University chancellors[ edit ] The University of Saskatchewan chancellor would have the duties to preside over convocation ceremonies whereupon they would confer degrees, they chair the Senate and become members of the Board of Governors. Haultain, Chief Justice of Saskatchewan, was instrumental in the establishment of the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta from the North West Territories , also Commissioner of Education, he also spent time and energy developing the early school system on the rugged frontier. Next, in line was Justice P. B and was a valued contributor to the University of Saskatchewan, and was awarded an honorary bachelor of law as well as appointed fourth chancellor. Francis Hedley received great recognition as Deputy Minister of Agriculture in Saskatchewan for his improvements. Culliton CC , S. He served Saskatchewan in many fields and was regarded as the cornerstone of a sound Saskatchewan judiciary. He served country as Prime Minister and province as Member of Parliament well, and strived toward the ultimate balance for free enterprise, profit-making and economic growth on the one hand, and social justice and respect for the interests of the common man on the other. D served as next chancellor for two terms between 1907-1911. Hall was chairman of several committees that helped to shape Saskatchewan. Saskatchewan agriculture benefited from the life work of E. Turner both internationally and nationally. Peggy McKercher has been always involved in civic growth and development. She has been honoured and gain tremendous recognition for her involvement in the fields of heritage, culture, and municipal development. He received the Order of Canada for his integrity, commitment to a just settlement and personable rapport. Vera Pezer has served the university for a number of years as student counsellor, faculty member and dean. She has achieved success as a champion curler, author, and member of several civic steering committees. He was officially installed at the June 5, convocation ceremony.

Chapter 3 : Pediatrics - College of Medicine - University of Saskatchewan

Colleges and Schools A listing of colleges and schools at the University of Saskatchewan, including federated and affiliated colleges.

Chapter 4 : How to apply - Future graduate students - University of Saskatchewan

The University of Saskatchewan (U of S) is a Canadian public research university, founded on March 19, 1907, and located on the east side of the South Saskatchewan River in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada.

Chapter 5 : Find a Program - Admissions - University of Saskatchewan

The University of Saskatchewan (uSask) is one of the top research universities in Canada. Our main campus, well known for its beauty, is located in the heart of Saskatoon, Saskatchewan and is home to a wide variety of programs.

Chapter 6 : Research chairs - Research - University of Saskatchewan

Why study at the U of S College of Engineering? You will become a well-rounded professional with the knowledge, skills, and mindset needed to thrive in your engineering career.

Chapter 7 : University of Saskatchewan - University of Saskatchewan

The University of Saskatchewan is a research-lead university situated in the picturesque city of Saskatoon, Canada. Founded in 1907, the university is especially renowned for its contributions to medical research.

Chapter 8 : Find a program - Future graduate students - University of Saskatchewan

Part of the university experience is trying out new things. Your first year is a great opportunity to take a class in something that interests you. It's hard to decide what to take in university before you arrive.

Chapter 9 : Students - University of Saskatchewan

Please log out of PAWS or close your browser to completely end your CPAS session.