It uses the best technologies and expects excellent performance from its people. Yes, there are many things that could go wrong with the military, but in many cases I find it inspiring. The story itself was interesting, but the important thing for me was that it inspired me to think and act like a winner. From the stories in the book, I learned about how the members of such a unit think and act. Here are 13 lessons I learned on how to think and act like a winner: But winners are different. Instead, they focus on what they can do to get the most out of it. Be comfortable being uncomfortable Like it or not, growing in life often means moving out of your comfort zone. Because in order to grow you need to expand your personal capacity and that requires you to take on new challenges. For that reason, you need to be comfortable being uncomfortable. Only then can you do the things that are necessary for your personal growth. Have a strong desire to perform and excel For the winners, simply meeting the standard is not enough. Their goal is exceptional performance. Whatever it is you are doing, strive to become the best that you can be. Focus; one step at a time To get things done, you need focus. So you should instead focus on just the current small step that you are in. By focusing on doing that, he eventually overcame the big challenge. Instead, they learn their lessons, block the negative thoughts, and move on. Know your window of opportunity Whatever it is you are trying to accomplish, you should be aware of its window of opportunity. Something that looks promising today might become worthless a few months from now. By knowing the window of opportunity, you can use your resources wisely. Adapt The world is changing and changing fast. So if you want to thrive, you must be able to adapt. Some people insist on doing things the old way, but winners know that they need to change. They are willing to adopt a new way of doing things. Make simple plans Related to the point before, there is no point in making complicated plans. Because they may become obsolete before you can execute them. So just create simple plans and go from there. This way you can react more quickly to new developments. They also realize that there are others out there who can do what they do. So instead of bragging about their achievements, they stay humble. Master throttle control Winners know when to wait and when to act. When they need to wait, they wait patiently. When they need to act, they act decisively. They know how to read the situation. Prepare for contingencies Winners prepare themselves for bad situations. They know that things could go wrong so they prepare themselves beforehand. Do you have a plan B for your career? Have you built an emergency fund? Good preparation helps you recover quickly when things go wrong. Be a team player Winners know that they work best by being in a solid team, so they become good team players. They work with teammates with whom trust and responsibility are the norm. Working in a solid team will multiply your effectiveness. Stack the odds in your favor Though they work hard to improve their skills, winners know that luck still plays a role. Sometimes it means waiting until the time is right before taking action. Sometimes it means building a support system. Whatever it is, you need to learn how to maximize your chances. It will take time to learn to apply them, but I believe we can all think and act like winners.

Do you want to know what it feels like to taste success in every area of your life? Inside these pages, you are about to discover yourself. Making up your mind How to think like a winner Developing your character Forming good habits And more! Many self-help books go into great detail about how you can attain success. Without wasting more of your precious time and without expending vast amounts of effort, you can now be the success you always wanted to be. What can you give up to become who you were meant to be? How can you embrace the change needed to live your fullest life? Is there a secret path, a roadmap that will make your life easier? With this revelatory guide from Carl Mathis you will be both empowered and equipped to fulfill your destiny, achieve lasting happiness, and to the make the contribution to the world that only you can make. From that first, air-splitting cry until the day we lay our physical bodies down, we march a path, winding our way through uncertainty, unforeseen challenges, and all that life has to throw at us. It is not an easy task, but it can be as rewarding as you want it to be. There are few gifts bestowed to man at infancy, and none greater than the right to choose. It governs our day to day existence: Is there a plan for each of us, a journey laid out by our Creator that we should walk? The answer to that oft posed question is " yes! God may not care what you wear or even the job you choose for yourself, but He is concerned about how you nurture your soul with the decisions that you make. There are lessons to be learned through this mortal sojourn; some through hardships and others through life experiences. However, you are not alone. It is a conscience, a moral guide to bless your life with direction. Through the inspiring words of writer Carl Mathis discover how to hear, and then recognize that divine direction. Such attitudes have led to problems for both men and women: Should there be more to intercourse than sexual attraction, the need for release, and a sense of being needed? Writer Carl Mathis examines intimate relationships through the eyes of someone who knows and understands God and his desire to nurture our souls. Giving oneself to a higher power " mentally, spiritually and physically " is akin to intercourse. Being totally invested in a relationship, whether with a lover or God, builds trust, love, and perpetuates happiness. In this timely guide, Carl is asking us to consider our relationships. Who do you give yourself to freely!and why? Are you selling yourself short? Your body and soul are precious gifts, and as such, should be shared with only those who are deserving, caring, and able to return your love. Remember, beauty is far more than sinewy muscle, tight curves, and sexual appeal. It is strength of character derived from sincere concern and care for another human being. It is deeper than any orgasm and more far reaching than any promise made in the heat of the moment. Download this book and take some time to examine your relationships and determine to live true to yourself, your principles, and a commitment to God. He soon found himself grieving, struggling to make ends meet, and trying to raise his sons, who were also dealing with personal turmoil from the loss of their mother. After months of waiting for someone to rescue him, Carl had to face the inevitable truth"no one was coming. He realized that if he wanted out of the mess his life was becoming, he was going to have to do it himself. Life Is What You Make It will teach you how to overcome any crippling situation you find yourself in and stimulate personal and spiritual growth by accepting the situation, taking responsibility, conditioning your mind, choosing to make right decisions, building a team, believing, and defining the new normal. It is akin to a rollercoaster ride that takes us to the peak of excitement, the thrill of achieved success and happiness, only to be rushed into the depths of doubt, uncertainty, and perceived failure. Overcoming adversity does not come without the sacrifice of time, energy, and a will to actively take part in pushing towards success. Weight loss, depression, anger, and so much more can be resolved and set aside when body, mind, and soul work together to put off the fiery darts of the adversary. Mind and spirit working in unison are a powerful team to achieve true joy and happiness. Put your feet on the path to healing, both body and mind, by purchasing this unique soul-freeing manual. Things can be done to improve your life and to move you forward out of your grief. Almost anyone who is a mother desires nothing but the best kind of life for her children and family. Oftentimes, you will find mothers raising their children alone, struggling to balance from one to three jobs, to spending enough time with the children. And one of the reasons for such situations is the death of a spouse.

While networking and personal development are important, the thing that is often missing from the conversation is mindset. You have probably heard many times that successful people think differently. However, the bigger question is this: What challenges do you have to overcome to think at the next level? If you want to live the life of your dreams, it starts with a decision. You have to decide that what you desire to achieve is greater than your desire to stay where you are. When you make a decision, it will create discomfort. No matter how discomfoting it may feel you must remain dedicated to your choice. Accept that letting go of old habits is necessary. The moment I made a decision to live a greater life, I immediately experienced psychological challenges, and you likely will, too. Conformity is the greatest threat to change in life. Humans are creatures of habit. Many have always done things a certain way and never question their habits. When you question your habits, you are empowered to create new habits and propel change in every area of your life. To think like a winner, you have to detach from the old way of doing things to discover new opportunities. Develop a new way of thinking. Your belief system is the foundation to your success or failure in life. For every negative thought, you will have to plant new positive thoughts within your mind. While this will be a great challenge, this is the key to creating new paradigms in your life. Often times, the greatest hindrance to developing a new way of thinking is fear. The fear of the unknown is what fights change in our lives. Force yourself to think positively. New ideas cannot be planted in poisonous soil. When we think about maintenance, we always think about our homes or vehicles. However, the one thing that we forget to maintain is the mind. A mind that is neglected is a mind that will remain negative. Your thought process is how you think, while your thought pattern is what you think. Your thought pattern and process create your paradigm. Your paradigm creates your worldview. Do not accommodate anything in your mind without first assessing it. Place requirements on everything that is allowed to take up residence in your mind. When you become more careful about what you plant in your mind, you will be more conscious about what you produce. The Takeaway Your mind can be your greatest weapon or your greatest war. The time you devote to the development of the mind will determine the extent of victory in your life.
