by Rickard Jorgensen, FCII, ARM, ACI Arb. Although not directly connected to the practice of accounting it is useful to know what is happening in other industries.

Yet children go to court every day, for all sorts of reasons. We want to make the experience of going to court easier to understand for all children. This book will tell you what Chief Justice Ronald M. George happens in court: Remember that you can always ask questions if you are in court and feel afraid or confused. I hope you will enjoy this book, learn from it, and have fun with it. You can keep this book to help you remember what you want to know about going to court. Chief Justice Ronald M. The project was made possible by the generous support of the U. For additional copies or more information about the book, please call the Center for Children and the Courts at or write to the address below. An interactive version of this book is available online at www. Judicial Council of California Attn: Welcome From the Chief. Use coins, paperclips, or erasers as game pieces. Count the number of heads and move ahead that number. If there are 1 head and 2 tails, move forward 1 space. If there are 2 heads and 1 tail, move forward 2 spaces. If there are 3 heads and no tails, move forward 3 spaces. If there are no heads and 3 tails, do not move. When you land on a space, follow the instructions on that space. At the end of the game, make sure everyone gets their game pieces back. If object court to y to le your wa hen circ horse, t a you saw you saw If what se. Check the box that tells why you are at court today, then color the pictures. I do not know why I am at court. Many people work in a court. Everyone has a job to do. First, there is the judge. In many courts, the judge will be wearing a black robe. The judge usually sits at the front of the courtroom on the bench. The judge does many things. First, the judge is like a referee at a ball game. The judge makes sure that everyone plays by the rules. Sometimes the judge is also the person who decides the argument that people came to court about. Other times, a group of people decides who wins the argument. These people are called jurors. Jurors are people who come to court to listen to each side of a disagreement. Then the jurors decide how the disagreement will be settled. A group of jurors is called a jury. Lawyers are also called attorneys. Lawyers give advice to people on their disagreements in court. Each lawyer represents only one person in court. So, if many people are involved in a disagreement, there might be more than one lawyer in court. All kinds of people have lawyers, even children! Lawyers usually sit next to the person they represent in the court. You can probably spot the bailiff very easily. The bailiff is the person who makes sure the people who go to court obey the rules. Can you imagine writing down all the words people say? The court reporter usually sits near the judge and types on a small machine. Court reporters type very fast, and everyone in court has to speak slowly and clearly so the court reporter can hear what they say. All courts have clerks as well. A court clerk keeps all the papers about the cases in the court and organizes them. Witnesses are people who come to court to tell what they have seen or heard. For example, if someone is accused of stealing something, a witness might come to court to say what they saw happen. When witnesses come to court, they have to raise their hand and make a special promise, called an oath, to tell the truth. They take a special seat and the lawyers ask them questions. Cases that last a long time may have lots of witnesses. Draw a line to connect the name of the person with the job they do. Lawyers q or attorneys q These people come to court to tell the truth and talk about what they have seen or heard. Jurors q q This person translates what is said in court. Witnesses q q These people give advice and talk in court for the people who have disagreements. Court reporter q q This person keeps order in the courtroom and usually wears a uniform. Interpreter q q These people listen to both sides of a disagreement in court and then decide who wins. Answers on page Make sure there is an adult with you. Show respect to the people who are there. There may be other cases before yours. You have to be quiet and wait. You can read a book or play quietly with this book while you wait. Someone will explain it again for you. Circle the things in the picture that are wrong or that should not be happening in court. Or you can write them here: Children can go to court and sometimes they can be witnesses, too. The most important thing for every witness to do is to tell the truth. Sometimes it hurts to say what really happened, but if you are a witness you still have to tell the truth. Sometimes a lawyer can ask you a question and you do not remember the answer. Lawyers sometimes ask questions in a funny way. If they do, you may not understand what they mean. Just let the judge or the lawyer know that you do not understand the question, and the judge will take care of the situation. Sometimes children are scared to go to court. Adults get scared about court, too. Just remember the judge is there to make sure everything is fair. Children usually go to court because of cases involving their family. It could be a criminal case, where someone is charged with a crime. Or it could be a family law case if a mother and father need the judge to decide something. Sometimes it is a case where someone in the family hurt someone else in the family. These cases are hard for everyone. When children come to court because a parent has hurt them or not taken care of them, this is a juvenile dependency case. Until a child grows up, he or she is dependent on adults and needs their protection. When this happens, the child may have to live with relatives or another family for awhile. This temporary family is called a foster care family. Usually, parents want to have their child live with them. The judge and social workers will work with parents to make their home healthy and safe. If they succeed, then the child can move back home with the parents. They make a permanent plan for a child. A social worker is a person who tries to protect children and keep them safe. A social worker may help children who are being hit or touched in bad ways this is called abuse. Then the family and the social worker may have to go to court so that a judge can decide how to help the child and the family. You read about judges on page 6 of this book. Judges in dependency court do all the jobs judges usually do, except that there is no jury in dependency court.

Google Plus Email When it comes to providing accountability to the public in regard to government finances, the importance of net debt as an indicator cannot be ignored. A google search on net debt of Canadian governments delivers hundreds of thousands of results. What is net debt? Net debt provides a measure of the future revenues required to pay for past transactions and events. The net debt debate There are concerns with the net debt indicator. The net debt to GDP ratio is a critical sustainability indicator for governments. They reference it in explaining their finances to the public and public understanding of this ratio has grown. Net debt provides information about future revenues required to meet past spending. Being in a net debt position will have an impact on the setting of future tax rates and other funding decisions. Such future revenue requirements need not be fulfilled through taxation or government transfers. Future revenues might also come from donors. The nature and extent of future revenue raising is a policy decision. Net debt is a number that results from spending. It arises when a public sector entity spends more than the amount of revenues it raises in the year, or over the years. So, net debt has a direct relationship to the economy when it is reported by governments. Net debt is an indicator that reflects accountability for spending decisions in the period they are made. The proposals PSAB feels that all feedback it has received on this topic has validity. Trying to improve the calculation of net debt on the statement of financial position made the statement of financial position difficult to understand and reduced its accountability value. The relocation of net debt to its own statement is not meant to lessen the importance of the indicator. Revising the net debt calculation PSAB is proposing the following formula:

Are you looking for a great accountant? Read on to learn about what great accountants can do for you and learn how you can find one to help you with all of your financial needs in the future. What is an Accountant? An accountant has a variety of financial responsibilities to his or her clients, including: Examining and preparing financial documents often in cases of preparing individual and company tax returns. Calculating taxes owed to the state and federal governments. Paying taxes on behalf of the client. Analyzing financial documents to catch errors. At the end of the day, an accountant wants to make sure the business does not go into the red. What Does an Accountant Do? Those are the kinds of top-level characteristics you are looking for in your new accountant. Those characteristics then translate to specific duties your accountant can do for you such as examining your financial records, overseeing your tax returns and advising individuals and companies on the ways they can reduce costs and increase profits. There are several types within the field including a public accountant, who perform a more broad range of financial duties for both companies and the clients of their own firms; a government accountant, a management accountant and more. Your personal and business needs will determine what kind of accountant you need, as the different types focus on slightly different duties. To find a good accountant, you can take several routes. You can ask for advice from your financially-attuned friends, family members and colleagues. So ask around and get some advice. You can make a short list and compare what each has to offer. Keep in mind your most pressing needs as well. Knowing your priorities also helps you decide which accountant can best meet your needs. You also can find out if your accountant of choice has an updated license by visiting the American Institute of CPAs. You can search for the name of your accountant on this website to determine if he or she still has the official credentials to take on your financial portfolio. In addition, many states have their own websites for looking up an accountant to verify his or her licenses are active in the states in which they are lawfully able to practice their jobs. Ask your trusted friends and colleagues if their CPA or CPA firm has ever made any major blunders on their tax returns. Raj is an intelligent, well-mannered young man who sports large black horn-rimmed glasses and aspires to be a writer. Many episodes involve Raj taking steps to pursue his dream, from saving up for a screenwriting course or a typewriter to trying to impress a TV producer. Eventually, he graduates from high school, moves out, and attends college ostensibly the University of Southern California. Raj is known for his trademark high-pitched laugh. Frederick Freddy "Rerun" Stubbs Fred Berry is an overweight, bumbling, comedic young man, commonly seen wearing a red beret and matching suspenders. He is often teased by his friends for being overweight and unintelligent. However, Rerun is a very skilled dancer and is commonly seen entering dance contests or trying to get on TV commercials. He is nicknamed "Rerun" because, due to his failing grades in school, "every summer he has to go to school to rerun the stuff he did all winter. Dwayne has an unassuming, good-natured demeanor and suffers from debilitating shyness and acute fear of the dark. His other trademark catchphrase is when he utters "Uh-Uhn" when he denies or refuses something. She is typically the voice of wisdom, and the parental authority over not only Raj and Dee, but Dwayne and Rerun as well. Her role became less important in later episodes until eventually, she disappeared from the show, though her character was never really written out and still mentioned off-screen. Her trademark phrase is "This is true" when agreeing with something said. She personifies the typical "annoying little sister. As the series progressed and Dee grew older, her caustic personality mellowed into a sly sense of sarcasm. While Dee still enjoyed scamming Raj out of a quarter every so often, she became more likable and got along better with him. After Raj moved into an apartment in the third season, Dee remained in the Thomas house with waitress Shirley moving in to help out. Her favorite food is peanut butter. Her birthday is September She is a brash person who likes to take shots at the boys and most often clashes with Rerun with both Shirley and Rerun being overweight, they exchange "fat jokes". Some episodes turn the spotlight briefly on Shirley and her joys and sorrows. Shirley moves into the Thomas residence in the last season to be a guardian to Dee after Raj moves out and Mrs. Thomas leaves to tend to a sick relative. He divorced Mabel, ran out on his family, and became a shady character. When he first appears, he tries to con Mabel out of money. Later episodes in which he appears to depict him in a more positive light and culminates with his marriage to Lee Henderson Lee Chamberlin. After his marriage, Bill was never seen again on the show, although he is mentioned. In his first appearance, he is referred to as "Dean" which is even written on the end credits. Gene took a liking to Dee, giving her the nickname "Small Portion". In another episode, his character is mentioned as being away although his name was not given so Mrs. Detective "Big Earl" Barnett John Welsh is a police detective who lives in the apartment building Raj and Rerun move into in the third and final season. He has a huge crush on Dee, who is about 5 years his senior. He eventually became a friend of Roger, Dwayne, and Rerun. Miss Collins Fritzi Burr is a high-school teacher. She admired Roger but had trouble with Rerun. In the pilot episode, she was referred to as "Diane Stewart". Fred Berry was an original member of the Lockers. Wolfman Jack also made an appearance in this episode. Actor Tim Reid appeared as Dr. In addition, Mabel King had a much-reduced role in the series during the second season, largely due to creative differences with the producers she wanted the Roger and Dee characters to have married parents, rather than divorced. Her character, Mama, was not written out of the show, but rather limited to brief appearances on set where she would say she was "leaving for work" or "going to the store", or mentioned in passing by other characters as being "at work. Also, several new recurring characters were introduced. Also, during the third season, Berry again threatened to strike, not appearing in the third-season episode "Dee, the Cheerleader.

Since we have worked to secure high quality, competitively priced professional liability coverage for the best CPA firms. In simplest terms, it is a risk purchasing group formed under the auspices of the Federal Liability Risk Retention Act of This type of bulk purchase arrangement permits firms with similar exposures to form a type of purchasing cooperative to achieve savings in the commercial insurance market. Since inception, the program has grown to serve more than 25, CPAs and is represented by some of the most skilled specialist insurance agents. Risk Purchasing Group is a legal entity that allows a group of unassociated businesses with similar exposures to join together to take advantage of a joint insurance purchase. Is a Risk Purchasing Group an insurance company? No, a Risk Purchasing Group is not an insurance company; it is a pool of like professionals that buy insurance as a group from an insurance company. There is no additional risk assumed. Further, it allows the group to gather purchasing strength to buy insurance at a significant cost savings with broadened coverage. Immediate premium cost savings; Broad coverage at no additional cost; Additional Risk Management services which are free of charge. Will I have separate limits or do all members share one aggregate limit? Each member has their own limits of liability for their risk, separate and distinct from the other members. Our goal has always been to provide a better product with lower premiums. Who is the insurance company? Why is the financial strength of an insurance company important? It has insured this class for many years. How long will it take to get a quote? Once we receive your completed application and all of the other necessary information, you will get a quote within 48 hours. We are compensated through commission paid by the insurance company. No additional fees are charged. Your rates are based on your experience. There is no pooling of limits or losses. Each member stands alone. Will my rates be guaranteed for more than a year? Similar to how standard insurance works, your account will be reviewed each year on its own merits unless you qualify for a two-year policy. I have contracts that require an insurance company that is admitted and A rated. Greenwich Insurance Company is admitted in all states and has an A. Best rating of A [Excellent]. Can I get certificates of insurance quickly? We issue certificates of insurance the day the request is received, whenever possible. There would be a short-rate penalty on the earned premium similar to other insurance policies. See the policy for full details. We are also working on new enhancements to keep pace with the risks faced by the profession. Can I ask my broker or agent to set up an RPG? Anyone can form an RPG. It requires considerable research, expertise and time. If your agent does not have a lot of CPA clients, it would be very difficult to start one. If I complete the application, am I guaranteed a quote? Certain underwriting criteria must be met in order to qualify for the program, such as good loss history, firm size, and areas of practice. Can you provide higher limits of liability? Are there any other costs in addition to the premium? Loss control, certificate issuance, claims handling, pre-claims assistance and other services are included in the premium. Can I keep my same renewal date or is there a common date for all members? You can get a quote now and maintain your existing renewal date or choose any date you prefer. Membership is free and you can get a quote without joining, but if you want to take the coverage offered, your membership is automatic.
